Longhorn Cattle For Love Of History, Minimal Care

EVERETT NEWSWANGER
Managing Editor

ASPERS (Adams Co.) — Christopher Columbus gets a lot of credit for America's oldest cattle breed—Texas Longhorn. These Spanish "long-horns" came along to the New World on the explorer's second trip in 1494.

From this beginning, 500 years of descendants can be traced. They pulled thousands of wagons over the Oregon Trail, set the stage for the creation of the legendary American cowboy, fed the armies in the Civil War, and today can claim a prominent role in producing lean, nutritious food.

"If you like history and cattle, you'll like Texas Longhorns," said Tim Cline at his 40-acre Point of View Farm, located northwest of Bendersville. "That's why my wife Mary Sue and I started our herd in 1990. We didn't just want to mow the ground. We have a real interest in conservation, and after looking at several breeds decided that with Texas Longhorns we could combine all of our interests into a profitable operation."

While there are some large herds scattered across the nation, these cattle fit well into farms with a few acres and primitive facilities. At Point of View, the herd gets pasture in summer with supplemental hay over hot dry periods until the pastures can recover. In winter, the weanlings, bulls, and fattening animals get a protein supplement with their hay. But the mother cows get only hay. They have a shelter for the coldest weather but spend the winter outside.

This hardy constitution comes from the Longhorn's wild west genetics. In earlier times, these cattle roamed the pairies in all kinds of harsh weather and were driven 3,000 miles to the railroad heads to be shipped East to market.

The cows have their calves with ease. Of the 95 calves born on his farm, Cline has seen only two births. "The calves come unassisted and unnoticed until we get home and say 'Oh, we have a new calf today,'" Cline said. "When I sell a bull to a Holstein breeder to use on his heifers, I guarantee that I will pay the vet bill if my Longhorn bull breeds his heifer and she has calving problems. I have never been called to pay."

PDA Offers Seed Potato Testing For Late Blight

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Agriculture Secretary Charles C. Brosius is offering the services of the department's plant disease diagnostic laboratory to help potato growers combat the fungal disease late blight.

"One of the primary couriers of late blight fungus is infected seed potatoes," Brosius said. "We're offering this new service to help potato farmers prevent economic losses."

Late blight fungus (Phytophthora infestans) affects tomatoes and potatoes. Brownish to purplish-black spots apear on leaves or stems of plants. The disease can occur at any time during the growing season when humid, rainy conditions occur.

Seed potato testing is being offered to commercial potato growers and home gardeners free of charge on a first come, first served basis. Protocols for sampling and submission to the department's plant disease diagnostic laboratory in Harrisburg are available through the department's regional offices, county extension offices, and the laboratory (717-787-5609).

In addition to the seed potato testing service, other departmental activities to control late blight include:

- Environmental monitoring and field scouting.
- Seeking approval from the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) to apply several new fungicides on potato and tomato plants.
- Laboratory testing of infected plants and seed for disease confirmation and genotyping.
- Regular dissemination of information via newsletters and the statewide integrated pest management (IPM) hotline (1-800-PENN-IPM)

At the conference, the new Lancaster County officer team was announced. They are, front to back, Justine Hill, vice president, Solanco; Sara Strickler, secretary, Solanco; Keith Bollinger, president, Cloister FFA; Ken Martin, treasurer, Grassland; and Dale Zimmerman, reporter, Cloister. Not available for photo was Walter Langley, Manheim, chaplain.

Lancaster FFA'ers 'Go The Distance' At Leadership Conference

ANDY ANDREWS
Lancaster Farming Staff

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — State FFA Reporter Josh Troxell often finds himself between a rock and a hard place.

As state reporter, he is charged with documenting and distributing news of county and state FFA events. As an officer, he is responsible for coordinating meetings and performing numerous other duties as an officer.

In short, he not only reports the news, he participates in it.

And every time he wears the blue corduroy jacket, a staunch symbol of FFA membership, he said he has "new experiences" that help him develop as a professional.

Both reporting the news and participating in it formed the core of the experiences of all the county officers, old and new, on Wednesday evening at the annual Red Rose Leadership Conference at Lancaster Mennonite High School.

"Go the Distance" was the theme of the conference, a training institute for professional leadership for all Lancaster County officers.

At the conference, the new Lancaster County officer team was announced. They are Keith Bollinger, president, Cloister FFA; Justine Hill, vice president, Solanco; Sara Strickler, secretary, Solanco; Ken Martin, treasurer, Grassland; Dale Zimmerman, reporter, Cloister; and Walter Langley, Manheim, chaplain.

Also serving as a special guest with some of the night's activities was Shannon Horst, Grassland FFA, state chaplain. Nearly 100 FFAers were in attendance.

Troxell, Grassland FFA member who is pursuing a career in ag education with a minor in journalism at Delaware Valley College, participated in a workshop with Lisa Witmer, Manheim FFA, and Justine Hill, Solanco, about the duties of chapter officers as historians and reporters.

At the workshop, members reviewed some of the work involved in news gathering, including the importance of story timeliness and how to submit articles for publication.

Also, the workshop reviewed how to put together a chapter newsletter.

Troxell is editor of the newsletter of the state FFA, The FFA I.C.E. (acronym for Involvement,

Delmarva Broiler

MAY 8, 1996

Movement of ready-to-cook whole birds was good. Seller offerings of 3 pound and smaller sizes were closely cleared to short; larger sizes were adequate and clearing well at most plants. Live supplies were moderate with weights ranging desirable to heavy. Processing schedules were moderate to heavy. Less than trucklot asking prices were unchanged at 61 to 73 cents. Trade sentiment was fully steady to firm. In the parts complex, boneless skinless breast were adequate. Bone-in breast were in good balance to short. Other items were noted as well balanced and clearing.

NEW

CORN PROCESSING AT PENNFIELD

Beginning Monday, May 13, all Flaked Dairy Feeds will contain Pennfield's new flat rolled steam flaked corn.

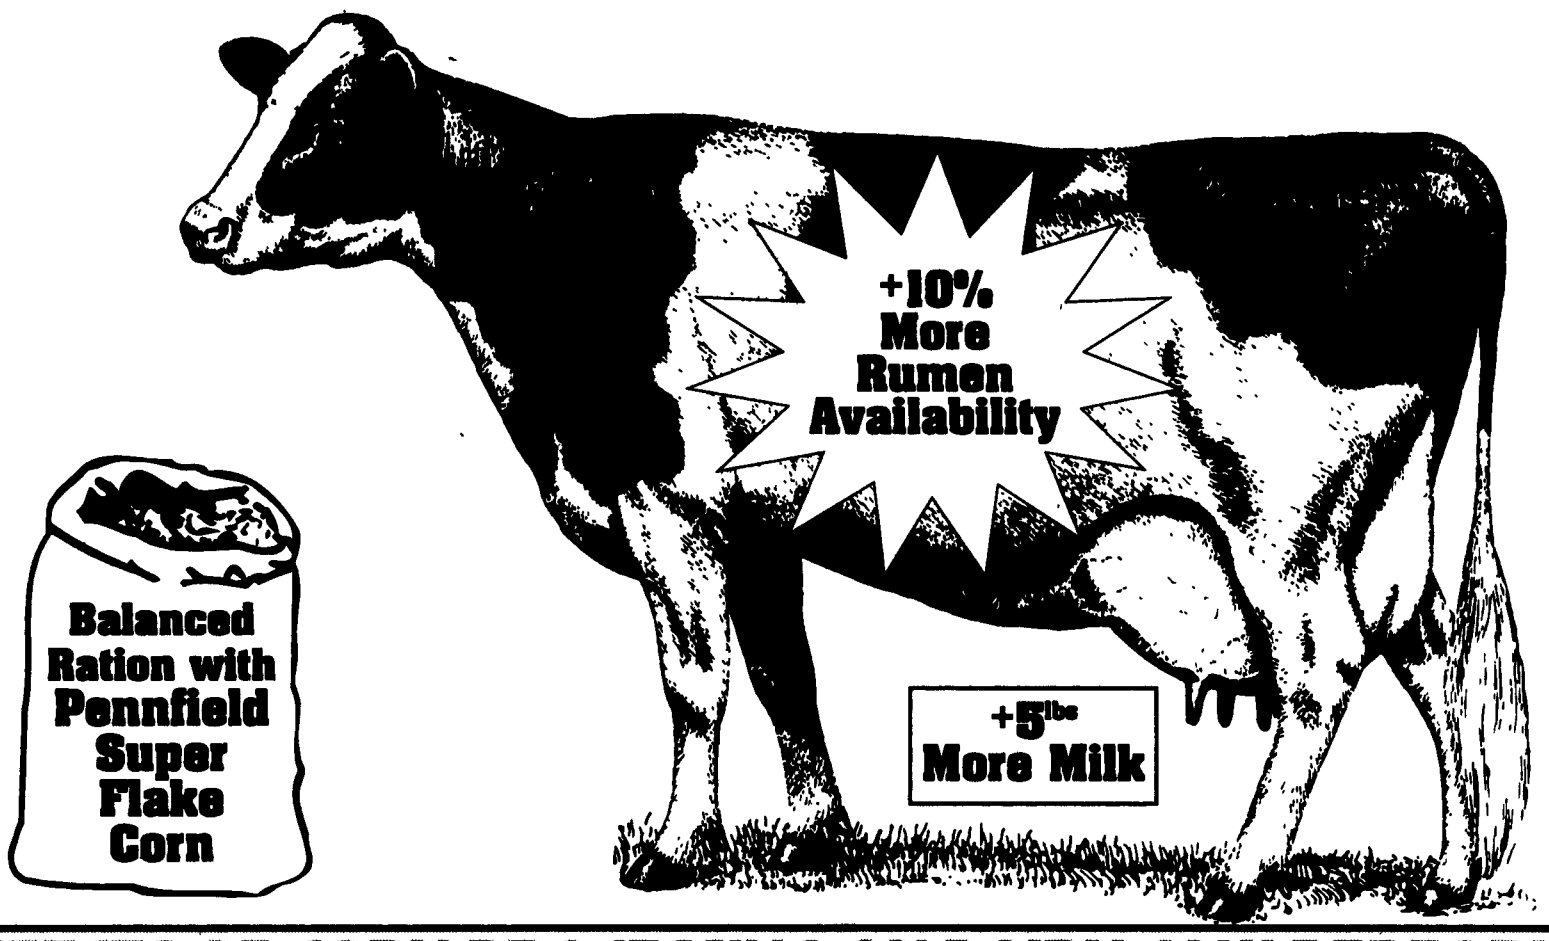
Approximately 18 months ago, Pennfield's Feed Mill at Mt. Joy, Pa. began construction of a $600,000 grain processing unit that has the capability of significantly improving the nutrient availability of shell corn.

The Process Involves

1) Cleaning the corn
2) Soaking or steeping the corn for a prescribed period of time
3) Applying steam to the corn before rolling
4) The specially conditioned corn is then rolled between 2 large rollers
5) The wet flat rolled corn is then processed by a special unit that removes the moisture and dries the finished flake back down to normal corn moisture
6) The finished product resembles a bright yellow corn flake (makes you want to get a bowl full and add milk and sugar)

WHY IS SUPER FLAKED CORN BETTER?

Flat rolled steam flaking disrupts the cellular structure of the corn kernels (gelatinization) and increases sites for microbial attachment resulting in improved starch (carbohydrate) digestion in the rumen. In simple terms, the cow uses more of the nutrients because the rumen bugs can get to them and much less corn nutrient goes out in the manure.



EFFECTS OF CORN PROCESSING ON DAIRY COW PERFORMANCE

Research conducted by the University of Arizona on Western Processed Flat Rolled Steam Flaked Corn shows the kind of improvement you can expect.
In the studies below, average milk production INCREASED ABOUT 5LBS./COW/DAY, protein yield increased about .2 lbs./cow/day and % usually increased, fat yield increased about .1 lb./cow/day and % decreased.

Item	Regular Steam Rolled	Flat Rolled Steam Flaked
Milk, lbs/day	83.8	88.4
Protein, lbs/day	1.18	1.28
Protein, %	3.11	3.2

Univ. of AZ JDS 77(Suppl. 1):383 1994

Item	Regular Steam Rolled	Flat Rolled Steam Flaked
Milk yield, lbs/day	70.8	76.3
Milk protein, lbs/day	2.03	2.23
Milk protein, %	2.89	2.93
Milk fat, lbs/day	2.17	2.30
Milk fat, %	3.06	3.01

Univ. of AZ JDS 77: 1038 1994

Item	Regular Steam Rolled	Flat Rolled Steam Flaked
Milk, lb/day	76.3	81.6
Protein, lb/day	2.26	2.40
Protein, %	2.99	2.95
Fat, lb/day	2.32	2.40
Milk fat, %	3.06	2.96

Univ. of AZ JDS 78(Suppl. 1):210 1995

NOTE: Because of processing a flatter flake there is less weight per volume of feed. This means that less will fit on trucks and in bins. Volume will increase 5 to 15% depending on the inclusion level of corn. Keep this in mind when ordering feed. Also, grain scoops or volume based grain feeders need to be recalibrated for SUPER FLAKE containing feeds. Feed amounts required based on actual weights.

National Grain Market

ST. JOSEPH, MO

Weather the market maker. Trends and directions just as unpredictable as the Spring weather. More volatility than usual this year due to tight supplies. Wheat 18-32 cents higher. Corn 12-15 cents higher, with Minneapolis up 30 cents. Sorghum 20-23 cents higher. Soybeans 8-9 cents higher. Too much moisture Southeast, Eastern Combelt and Central combelt. Too dry Southwest, Western High Plains and Western Combelt. Wet weather delaying planting of corn and Spring Wheat. Dry weather has already played havoc with many acres of Hard Red Winter wheat and too late in the season to come out of it. US wheat stocks at the lowest level in 45 years. Winter wheat crop production estimated to be 13 percent below 1995 with Hard Red Winter wheat down the most. Continued reports out of Oklahoma and Kansas of fields being plowed under and going to sorghum or some instances soybeans. U.S.D.A. Crop Production Report due out Friday. High prices have failed to deter export demand to any great extent. Increased world production not expected to make any substantial stock gains due to increased world usage as the standards of living improved. New crop Hard Red Winter wheat bids at Kansas City elevators 6.62 a bushel and Soft Winter wheat 5.95. Corn planting delayed by wet and flooded fields. Still plenty early to seed corn, but producers looking at those high dollar quotes and getting nervous. At current prices soybeans a good substitute, but not the money maker like corn. Kansas City terminal elevators new crop corn bids (-2-3 Dec) 3.38-3.39 and soybeans (-10 Nov) 7.79. This should encourage some producer hedging.

Custom Powder Coatings

Our in-line process takes your raw product through the blast cleaning, iron phosphate, and baked on powder coat finishing process all from one location. This provides the highest quality product because the product has no opportunity to be contaminated between processes. Our coatings provide excellent chemical resistance which is effective against animal wastes along with cleaning agents and other chemicals.

We can powder coat your existing equipment or fabricate from start to finish in our plant. A variety of colors are available for indoor and outdoor use. We also have USDA approved coatings available for the food processing industry

We will do an expert evaluation of your needs to determine the exact powder coating needed based on the conditions of use.

The OLD FARMER'S THIS WEEK WITH ALMANAC

NEW MOON, MAY 17.

THREE CHILLY SAINTS

Mammertus, Pancras, and Gervais (or Gervatius) are the "Three Chilly Saints" whose feast days are May 11, 12, and 13. The three became known in weatherlore for predicting what were, traditionally, the three coldest days of the month. Germans knew them as "Icemänner" or the Iceman Days and farmers knew better than to plant vulnerable seedlings before the Icemen had come and gone. The English and French saw the Three Chilly Saints as harbingers of a late spring frost, leading to the weatherlore that "St. Pancras Day (May 12) never passes without frost."

If a cold wind reach you through a hole, say your prayers and mind your soul.

TIP OF THE WEEK

AVOCADO SOUP

2 ripe avocados
1 teaspoon curry powder
1/2 cup heavy cream
2 cups chicken broth
2 teaspoons lemon juice
cayenne, black pepper, and salt, to taste chopped parsley to garnish

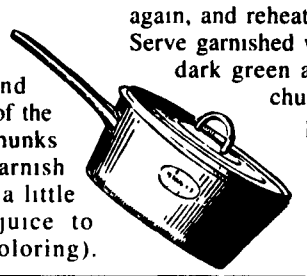
Peel and pit the avocados. Dice and set aside some of the darker green chunks for the final garnish (sprinkle with a little extra lemon juice to prevent discoloring).



Blend the rest with the spices and cream. Combine the chicken stock and 2 teaspoons lemon juice and bring to a boil. Gradually add the avocado mixture to the hot stock, then blend again, and reheat gently. Serve garnished with the dark green avocado chunks and parsley.

Makes 4 servings.

The OLD FARMER'S WEATHER PROVERBS

May never goes out without a wheat ear.

A May cold is a thirty-day cold.

So many mists in March, so many frosts in May.

A May flood never did good.

OPINION

The Organic Danger

Relying on seemingly "benign" organic and other lower-yielding agricultural practices has been the sustainability solution offered by many, especially by environmental organizations. There is, however, considerable reason to question the sustainability of these systems on any large scale. If fears of pesticide and fertilizer impact push us toward lower-yielding alternatives, they will create a far greater threat from the plow to the ecosystems and wild creatures. Despite their advocates' claims of comparable yields, organic agriculture's yields per acre are sharply lower than mainstream yields when we include all the extra acres needed to sustain it: additional pasture acres for animal manure, cropland acres for "green manure," and cropland in nonyielding fallow periods.

Because these systems need more land to produce a given amount of food, adopting them globally would require farmers to convert large tracts of forests and other "suitable" wild lands to agriculture. Estimates of the land area necessary to meet demand in 2050 using strictly organic principles range as high as 25 to 35 million square miles worldwide, rather than the current 5.8 million square miles now in crop production.

Considering the possible changes to local, regional, and global climates and the inevitable decrease in biodiversity, the sustainability of these approaches is seriously in doubt. Even their rationality is highly questionable. — Dennis and Alex Avery in the May 1996 Hudson Briefing Paper.

To Register Water Use

Here's an update from last week's article on registering water use with the Department of Environmental Protection (DEP).

The May 11, 1996 deadline is for non-farm use of water. Farmers using more than 10,000 gallons of water per day in the Susquehanna River Basin must register their use by March 31, 1997 with the Susquehanna River Basin Commission (SRBC).

DEP is responsible for registering non-farm use while the SRBC is registering farm use. There is no charge for registering your use with the SRBC.

The Susquehanna River Basin Compact gives the commission responsibility for managing the water resources of the basin. The primary purpose for managing the water resources is to assure that the needs of all basin water users are met.

Through the registration program, SRBC will be able to document current daily water needs of users, which should put users in a stronger legal position should conflicts occur. Forms may be obtained from the SRBC, 1721 North Front Street, Harrisburg PA 17102, (717) 238-0423.

To Plan Safety Breaks

With spring work finally getting under way, it is easy to forget how much time has passed when you are working alone in the fields. Results from long hours in the tractor seat may include a painful sunburn, ringing ears, or aching back.

Remember to take a break and to keep in touch to prevent accidents. Use a buddy system.

Farm work is often isolated. If an accident occurs, it could be hours before you are discovered.

When you are doing fieldwork, make sure some one else knows where you are working and when you will return. Set check-in times if you will be working in an area where you cannot be seen.

Keep in touch with a cellular phone or CB radio. Take a break. Most tractors are noisy and many seats do not provide proper back support.

To avoid hearing damage and back strain, wear hearing protection and every two hours get off the tractor, walk around, and stretch.

Drink plenty of water to prevent dehydration. Cover up and use sunscreen to protect against sunburn and skin cancer.

To Apply For Farm Safety Grant

The final guidelines for the statewide farm safety grant program were approved. The application is now available from the Farm Safety and Occupational Health Grant Program, Department of Agriculture, 2301 North Cameron Street, Harrisburg PA 17110, (717) 787-4843. The deadline to apply for a grant this year is June 14.

The grant program will award up to $2,500 to farm organizations, youth groups, volunteer fire companies, ambulance services, rescue squads, etc. that wish to develop and deliver farm safety and occupational health and emergency response programs. The guidelines for the program were published in the Pennsylvania Bulletin on March 16, 1996.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

ON 'GETTING EVEN'
May 12, 1996

ON 'GETTING EVEN'
May 12, 1996

Background Scripture:
Matthew 5:1-38
Devotional Reading:
Luke 10:24-37

A Kansan said that when he was a young man growing up on the farm, he became very much offended by a neighbor living on an adjoining farm. To get even, he got some Johnson grass seed — a very obnoxious grass that is extremely difficult to get rid of — and it secretly sowed it on his neighbor's farm, which was much damaged by it. Later, however, the young man fell in love with his neighbor's daughter and they were married. When the neighbor died, it was found that he had willed the farm to his daughter. For thirty years the teller of the story said he'd been fighting that Johnson grass, reaping what he had sown.

There is probably no Christian teaching harder for us to grasp than the fact that, no matter how much we hurt others with our negative, destructive emotions and acts, we hurt ourselves as well, often much more. Ralph Waldo Emerson wrote that "The dice of God are always loaded. Every secret is told, every crime is punished, every virture rewarded, every wrong redressed, in silence and certainty. The thief steals from himself. The swindler swindles himself." And I would add, The avenger brings retribution upon himself. In striving to get even, we are always putting ourselves behind.

GOD'S JOB

One of the reasons it is so hard for us to embrace Jesus' admonition to "Love your enemies and pray for those who persecute you" (5:44), is that we are much more predisposed to what society tells us: "Don't get mad; get even." Perhaps it wouldn't be such bad advice if, in fact, one could ever "get even." But Jesus tells us again and again that putting things "even" is God's job, not ours. Our problem is that we always want to be doing God's job for him. Is it that we think he can't, won't do it? Or that he won't do it to our satisfaction or with our sense of timing?

It's strange how often I hear so-called "religious people" or "Christians" reciting, "An eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth" (5:38). The concept of controlled retaliation comes from Exodus 21, Leviticus 24 and Deuteronomy 19. But these same people ignore the words of Jesus that follow: "But I say to you, love your enemies and pray for those who persecute you, so that you may be sons of your father who is in heaven" (5:45). If we need a teaching here, let us recall the words of Jesus: "for he makes his sun rise on the evil and on the good, and sends rain on the just and on the unjust." And, if we need a model, let us remember Jesus' own example as he hung on the cross: "Father, forgive them for they know not what they do" (Luke 23:34).

THE WAY OF VENDETTA

Nevertheless, that example and teaching is not very popular today. Vindication is "in" and forgiving is not. Vindication comes from the Latin vindex and vindicare which evolved in our English language to vindicate, avenge, revenge, vengeance, and vindictive. In Italian it became the basis for vendetta, vengeance as a way of life. All of these are negative concepts and they tear down the moral fiber of the individual and society. Only forgiveness can heal. That makes forgiveness infinitely more powerful than vengeance.

I opened with a story and I will also close with one. The Norwegian writer Johan Bojer tells of a man whose child was killed by a neighbor's dog. Instead of giving in to revenge, the man found a better way to relieve the agony of his heart. When a famine came and his neighbor's fields lay bare, the troubled father went out one night and sowed the neighbor's field, explaining: "I went and sowed seed in my enemy's field that God might exist."

The Althouses will lead a group to the Holy Land, Oct. 9 to Nov. 3, 1996. Space limited. For information, write them at 4412 Shenandoah Ave., Dallas, TX 75205.

"This animal rights thing is clear out of hand"

NC+ NUTRI-CANE™ II is the forage sorghum cattle will go out of their way to eat. It's extra palatable and versatile for grazing, hay, haylage, bundle feed, fall pasture or silage. This sterile sorgo x sorgo forage hybrid gives excellent response to good management or it can get by with minimum attention on marginal ground. See us for complete details.

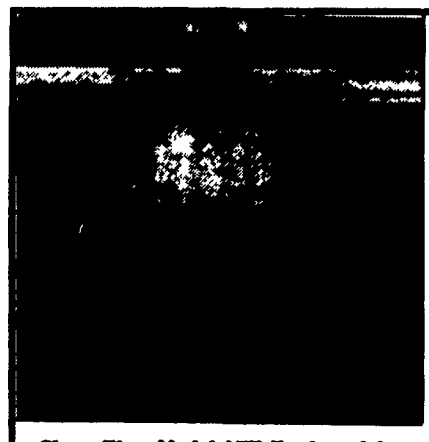
CHORE-TIME ...nobody knows more about feeding



Chore-Time Model ATF Feeder with polypropylene pan shown. Also available with galvanized steel pan.

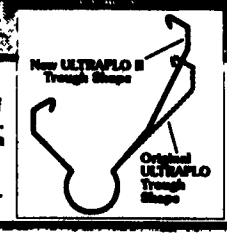
The Right Choice in turkey feeders

RUGGED POLYPROPYLENE construction of Model ATF pan is available for permanent corrosion-proofing. Material has an ultra-smooth surface so feed and dirt won't stick, so it stays clean. Our polypropylene also has a special ultraviolet inhibitor. Liberal 5-year pan warranty! Ask for details.

FEED SAVER FEATURES: unique "V" pan shape lets you maintain a low feed level; feed-saver ring: 2 1/2" pan lip to catch feed.

FEED PAN DEPTH on Stage 3 Feeder is 5-1/2 inches; 8-week old birds or the largest toms can reach feed.

New Shape
The difference is the shape of the feeder's trough (at right). ULTRAFLO II's higher trough lip reduces feed waste by keeping it in the trough and not on the floor or in the pit.



The Right Choice in cage feeders

Chore-Time's popular ULTRAFLO® Cage Feeding System is now even more outstanding! We've developed and tested the second generation of ULTRAFLO feeders and named it the ULTRAFLO® II.

ULTRAFLO II offers you even greater reliability, durability, and outstanding feed-saving performance—up to 1 gram of feed per bird per day—over the original ULTRAFLO. And even the original ULTRAFLO was beating our competitors in feed savings!

So, join the cage feeding leader. Contact us today. Find out how Chore-Time and ULTRAFLO II can help you be a leader, too!

Strategies To Cope With Higher Grain Costs, Limited Availability

VIRGINIA ISHLER
Extension Assistant
Dept. of Dairy and Animal Science

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.) — The dairy producer will be faced with two main challenges this summer, rising grain costs and limited availability of various cereal grains and commonly fed by-product feeds. Reducing the amount of grain fed to the lactating cow is one option, however other possibilities exist to compensate for the current and impending situation.

To deal with higher grain costs, other feed ingredients could be evaluated based on their current price compared to shelled corn (energy value) and soybean meal (protein value), and based on their entire nutrient content. The later is critical because even if an ingredient is a great bargain, it may not supply the cows with the nutrient(s) they require based on the current feeding program. Ingredients should be scrutinized for their protein fractions (i.e. soluble protein, undegradable intake protein), energy content, fat level, fiber level, starch level, and even for the major minerals (i.e. calcium, phosphorus).

An IBM spreadsheet program available from Penn State will list break-even prices for some 60 concentrate ingredients. It can work in either Excel or Lotus. This simple program requires only two inputs, the current price per bushel of shelled corn and the price per ton of 48 percent soybean meal. Table 1 lists several break-even prices of concentrate ingredients based on a corn price of $4.60/bu (Grain Market Summary from PDA, week of April 15) and 48 percent soybean meal price of $316/ton (Ingredient Market found in Feedstuffs, April 3). An example of how to use this table would be if bakery product is available for $120/ton, then this could be a viable option for replacing some corn in the ration. If the bakery product was priced over $181/ton, then it would not be considered a good buy.

The Penn State spreadsheet allows the crude protein and energy values of the various concentrate ingredients to be edited. This allows flexibility for the producer or nutritionist to determine the break-even prices that best represent ingredients available in a particular area. The program is available from Penn State at no charge. Anyone interested in receiving a copy of the program can send a 3.5" disk to "Break-even Costs" c/o Virginia Ishler, 324 Henning Building, University Park, PA 16875

The University of Wisconsin has a similar spreadsheet program called Feed Val 3. This program bases break-even prices on shelled corn (energy value), 44 percent soybean meal (bypass protein value), tallow (fat/oil value), dical (phosphorus value), and limestone (calcium value). This program is sold through AgSquare Software at 1-800-845-1991.

A Penn State publication titled "Sources of Food Processing Wastes, Hay, and Feed Ingredients" is available from local cooperative extension offices and is also found on Penpages (# 2890284). This fact sheet lists suppliers based on different categories of feed as well as addresses and phone numbers. This resource could be helpful in locating some ingredients that may not normally be fed in certain locations (i.e. candy, cereal products).

The current grain situation, now more than ever, requires close monitoring of ingredient costs and availability. A nutritionists input into any change is going to be critical. They can make ration adjustments to compensate for many ingredient changes.

Table 1 Break-even prices for some commonly fed concentrate ingredients

Corn price ($/bu) $4.60
48% soybean meal ($/ton) $316.00

Applicants Sought For Achievement Award

ALBANY, N.Y. — If you are a farmer and a Farm Bureau member between the ages of 18 and 35, you are eligible to compete in New York Farm Bureau's 1996 Young Farmer Achievement Award competition.

The three finalists win a trip to the NYFB State Convention in Rochester, while the state winner gets a $500 cash award from Dodge Truck, a 486 computer, and a trip to the American Farm Bureau Convention in Nashville (January 4-9, 1997) to vie for the national title.

"The Young Farmer Achievement Award is one of the most prestigious honors given to an Empire State farmer or farm couple," said Linda Lamb, NYFB's Young Farmer Program coordinator. "To compete, an application must be postmarked and mailed no later than May 31, 1996. The judges will look at the overall farm operation, financial farm progress, and leadership in Farm Bureau, the agricultural industry, and the community."

To obtain an application, call Linda Lamb at (518) 431-5633 or Pam Rafferty at (518) 431-5606, or contact your county Farm Bureau young farmer chairman.

Breed Names Official

BELOIT, WI — The Brown Swiss Cattle Breeder's Association of the U.S.A. has named Jim Hammerand, Sherrill, Iowa, as a new field representative/classifier.

Hammerand received his bachelor of science degree in Dairy Science from Iowa State University in 1995. While in college he was a member and an officer at large for the Midwest Regional American Dairy Science Association. He was a member of the Iowa State University Dairy judging team and a member of the State Holstein Association Jr. Advisory committee.

Hammerand brings a strong dairy background to the Association. During his studies at Iowa State, he interned at the Holstein Associaiton, U.S.A. is 1994 working with members to increase product and service knowledge. He was also on the farm crew at Iowa State Dairy Science Teaching farm milking all six dairy breeds and worked on a 275 animal registered Holstein dairy.

Hammerand is responsible for representing the Associaiton programs to members through field services including linear classification, I.E. & E.D. enrollment, PTPR enrollment, herd appraisals, cattle selection for domestic markets and registration and transfer assistance.

Hammerand grew up on a 400 acre, 65 cow dairy near Sherrill, Iowa and has recently relocated to Beloit, WI.

Chester/Delaware FSA To Hold Farm Bill Meetings

COCHRANVILLE (Chester Co.) — Hollis D. Baker, county executive director of the Chester/Delaware Farm Service Agency (FSA), announced that the FSA will hold meetings to discuss provisions of the 1996 Farm Bill.

Meetings are scheduled Tuesday, May 22 at 9:30 a.m. in the Cochranville Fire Hall, 1:30 p.m. in the Chester/Delaware Farm Service Agency County Office, and 7:30 p.m. in the West Nantmeal Township Building.

"The new farm law offers a one-shot opportunity to sign up for the new seven-year program," Baker said. "Once the May 20 through July 12 sign-up period closes, only farmers with land coming out of the Conservation Reserve Program will be eligible to enroll.

"It is critical that all affected people understand the changes that the new farm law will bring to farm operations," Baker said. "The Farm Bill places a lot of responsibility squarley on the shoulders of farmers and there is little time left to get all of the information needed to make some important, long-term decisions.

"Included with the new planting flexibility are some options — and some risks — farmers haven't had to face before," Baker said. "Crop insurance has been 'delinked' from the programs, but disaster assistance is gone. This means that with few exceptions, farmers are out of luck if weather ruins their crops."

Painting flexibility means the market place will decide what and how much, not the government. Farmers will need to learn how to make the most of the markets, Baker said. "The marketing assistance loans will be a big help, but the decisions are not going to be made for producers — they're going to have to learn the details of these programs and make all the decisions."

Also at the producer meeting Farm Service Agency personnel will discuss landlord-tenant issues, transition payments, payment limitations, loan rates, formulas for payments, and other technical details of the new farm law.

Dairy Producers On Tour To New York State

BATAVIA, NY — Sharing information for improving dairy profitability was the theme during a recent trip by local producers to western New York. Thirty-four dairymen and women from eastern Pennsylvania and Maryland toured from New York dairies to observe their innovative labor management, cow care practices and milking facilities.

The "World's Fastest Milker" was a featured attraction at Offhaus Farms, Inc., near Batavia, N.Y. Herdsman Ray Shutt has been nominated for the "Guinness Book of World Records" for milking 160 cows per hour and 17,500 pounds of milk in 4¾ hours. He credits being well-organized and the Germania double-20 herringbone milking parlor for making it possible to move through the three-times-a-day milking schedule with efficiency. A new 800-head free stall barn has further improved labor efficiency by allowing the entire milking herd to be housed in one location.

The group switched gears as it toured Willard DeGoyler's Table Rock Farm, Castile, and focused on dry cow management. Dry cows and those close to freshening are divided into three groups: dry cows, pre-springing and springing. Cows calve while in the springing group. Such grouping allows nutrition to be matched to cow needs. Thinner cows or smaller heifers might be moved into the pre-springing group early to improve body condition before calving. Likewise, fatter cows might stay in the dry cow group longer. As a result, the dairy experiences almost no ketosis or milk fever and has very few displaced abomasums at calving.

Attention to employee comfort was a unique feature of the new double-20 parallel milking parlor at Gardeau Crest Farm, owned by Tom Swyers from Perry. The floor moves up or down to match the milker's height, making it more comfortable for employees. Skylights in the parlor offer several benefits, such as reducing heat and improving ventilation when opened in the summer and reducing the electric bill by providing adequate light on sunny days all year long. A basement also sets this parlor apart, keeping milk lines and other equipment out of the milker's way and protected from dirt and moisture.

The 1,300-cow operation at Dick Popp's Southview Groveland Farm, Dansville, features a double-21 parallel parlor with the capacity to expand to a double-42. A special manure handling system channles livestock waste into a series of lagoons where sediment settles out before the waste water is reused to flush the barn. While all the farms visited have fan systems for keeping cows cool during summer, this dairy is unique for the fan positions. Instead of creating an air tunnel down through the barn, this system tilts the fans down and in toward the cows to provide more direct cooling.

The farms were selected for their progressive management practices, including the use of Posilac® bovine somatotropin by tour sponsor Protiva, a unit of Monsanto. Another group of area producers shared their experiences with the produce during a panel discussion February 21. Several of the farms have used Posilac since it was introduced and all administer it to all healthy cows starting at nine weeks after calving. Protiva sales representative Brooks Duffie reported the producers have seen an average increase of 10 to 12 pounds in milk production as a result.

Simmental Cow Herd Honored By National Association

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.) — Two cows from the Simmental herd of Penn State's College of Agricultural Sciences qualified for 1996 National Cow Performance Awards from the American Simmental Association in Bozeman, Mt.

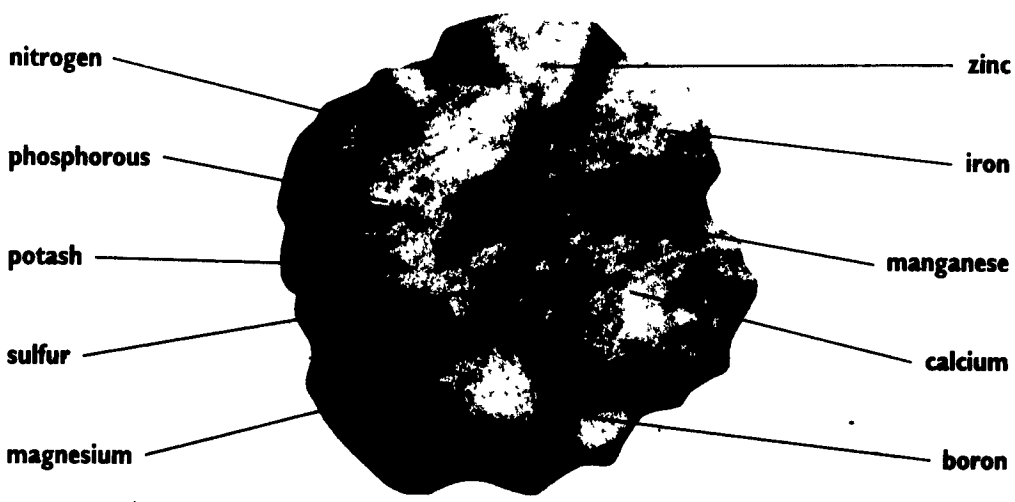
The award-winning cows are listed in May's special Cow Summary issue of The Register, the association's official publication.

Cows qualify in one of three categories: Excellent for producing two consecutive outstanding calves; Superior for four consecutive outstanding calves; and Elite for six consecutive outstanding calves.

Penn State, an American Simmental Association member since 1972, received one Excellent Award and one Superior Award.

Lebanon Extra Plant Food

For over 47 years, farmers have been choosing Lebanon Extra for premium homogeneous/ammoniated plant food. Lebanon Extra is ideal for use in row applications where nutrient safety and consistency is crucial to yields. And its homogeneous/ammoniated granules offer superior performance over so-called "Custom-formulated" blends.



A blend of raw materials can result in uneven feeding. Unlike homogeneous/ammoniated granules which deliver all the primary nutrients and micronutrients in each particle — ensuring even distribution for consistent performance.

War. But their lean confirmation took them out of favor when the more meaty English breeds became prominent. As consumer preference for grain-fed beef grew, the numbers of Longhorn cattle diminished until at the turn of the century, the U.S. government decided it should save the Longhorn because of its American heritage. At the time, the U.S. government bought 30 cows and two bulls. From this begining the lineage known as the W.R. brand, or government cattle, can be traced to many of today's pedigrees.

At Point of View Farm, The W.R. bloodline is crossed with two of the other six major traceable bloodlines, (Butler and Texas Ranger), to develop cattle with more meat and good dispositions. But they never breed for color. They can't.

"It's like Christmas in spring around here," Cline said. "You don't know what color calf you are going to get. That's what makes it so interesting. The expansion of the herd has been mostly by natural means. Because everyone has a busy schedule, we leave the breeding to the bulls with only a few exceptions for candidates for A.I."

The senior herd sire is WIX IMP 810B, in Impressive son. WIX is nine years-old and has a horn span of 54 inches. The junior herd sire is Congressman 'OTIS', a Senator son. They have 25 registered cows and a few steers and bulls. In April, 1993, they became a Certified Free Herd, fully accredited, and continue this status to the present time.

They use all available markets. With the increased consumer demand for leaner beef products, a special nitch market has developed for their beef to be sold directly to consumers on the rail by the half. They have a 62 percent dressing percentage, and studies at Texas A & M University, College Station, Texas, showed cholesterol levels lower than lean chicken.

In addition, they sell cattle for seed stock, shows, commercial operations, and of course, for pets. "People just fall in love with these animals when they get around them," Cline said. "Until you work with them, people are afraid because of the wild stories that are told in history, and because of their large horns. I have never been horned. The animals are not aggressive. Since they are not afraid of you, they don't have to run over you to protect themselves.

"I have seen those green-headed horse flies land on a cow's back, and she will take the tip of her horn and smash that fly. They know exactly where those horn tips are. They are not afraid of anything: man, wolves, or dogs. I have concluded that because of their strength, they are fearless and therefore can also be so docile.

"We take kids who have never been around cattle out to the meadow and let them feed pellets to the cows. We want to teach people the cows are not mean and wild as history has made them. Sure, when they were running wild, they were more wild. But on the farm they never get out of the fence even though they could easily jump it if they wanted to."

Since 1992, Point of View Farm has participated in the Northeast Texas Longhorn Association show in Frederick, Maryland, and the Northeast regional show in New Berlin, New York. They have several champions on the farm. They are lifetime members of the International Texas Longhorn Association (Cline is regional director); and the Northeast Texas Loanghorn Association (Cline is president).

"Once you see Texas Longhorns and are around them, it's infectious. I can't take four animals to an auction without bringing two new ones along back. It's almost an unwritten sin to come home with an empty truck. Maybe one of our greatest pleasures is to sell animals to people who want them for their kids," he said.

Certainly the "old breed" is front and center at Point of View Farm.

Sometimes they look like their mothers...

Wengers Of Myerstown Hold Open House At New Facility

MYERSTOWN (Lebanon Co.) — Wengers held an open house at its Myerstown facility, highlighting its new construction equipment facility, which opened April 15.

Located along Route 501, just south of the town of Myerstown, Dennis Dieffenbach, manager of the construction parts facility and overseerer of the Wenger's Orlando, Fla., operations, said that the new 41,000 square-foot facility is designed to allow Wengers to tear down and rebuild bulldozers, backhoes, and front end loaders from 1960s models to the current year.

Engines and transmissions are rebuilt. Some pieces of equipment are stripped down and parts are sold. For some pieces, after-market parts are purchased and used to rebuild. Wengers also can provide some of the after-market parts for direct sale to customers.

Wengers employ about 55 people in its Myerstown operations. There are about 30 people working on tractors and farm equipment, rebuilding, refurbishing or salvaging for parts. The entire operation is in today's terms, a recycling center.

Fifteen people are employed in working on construction equipment parts, and three people work on whole pieces of construction equipment. Another three people work with whole pieces of farm tractors and machinery.

Dieffenbach has been directly involved with the company's expansion efforts, going back to 1987, when work first started on expanding to its now most visible location, along Route 501, at the site of an old tannery.

Business has continued to be strong. "Everybody wants to save money, whether the economy is good or bad," he said.

The use of computerization and access to a broader customer base has enabled Wengers to serve far more people over a wider range than was possible just 10 years ago.

"The world has gotten a lot smaller in the past several years," Dieffenbach said. "We sell throughout the East, but really we ship all over the country."

While Wengers has been using two back bays in the new facility to bring in pieces of equipment to inventory, repair, tag, and record into the computer — a somewhat tedious, but valuable task — Dieffenbach said the new facility is expected to be fully stocked and operational within six months. Later this fall, he said, an open house to the general public will probably be held.

Open house at Wengers of Myerstown included tours of its new multi-million dollar facility. Held Friday May 3, the event attracted about 150 persons of the 800 people who had attended the memorial dinner held for the granddaughter of owners Carl and Margaret Wenger the evening before.

Almost $50,000 Goes To Youth

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Agriculture Secretary Charles C. Brosius announced that 21 youth organizations have been selected to receive a total of $48,310 through the Agricultural and Rural Youth Organization Grant Program.

"We're pleased to continue supporting agricultural youth with these grants," Brosius said. "The Agricultural and Rural Youth Grant Board chose projects from 64 applications they believed would impact the greatest number of youth and utilize existing or volunteer resources. Farm Safety received favorable consideration this year, as well as projects dealing with agriculture education."

Under the program, youth organizations can apply for direct grants up to $2,500 to fund educational projects, programs, and seminars. Every area of the state is represented under this year's grants, which will fund farm safety programs, 4-H and science camps, agriculture education materials and field trips, landscaping projects, and leadership meetings.

The grant recipients were selected by the 13-member board, which includes representatives from the agriculture department, education department, Pennsylvania Rural Electric Association, Penn State Cooperative Extension, 4-H, FFA, Pennsylvania State Grange, state House of Representatives, and state Senate.

Four previous rounds of funding have been distributed since the program began in 1992. Following are recipients of this year's direct grants, listed by county:

Bedford - Bedford County 4-H, Bedford, $2,478 for agriculture educational materials

* Berks/Chester - Twin Valley FFA, Elverson, $2,500 for an elementary agriculture learning project

* Blair - Pennsylvania Council of Cooperatives, Altoona, $2,500 for their Summer Institute

* Centre - Little Lions FFA, State College, $2,500 for agriculture learning kits for 12 elementary schools

* Cumberland - Cumberland County 4-H, Carlisle, $2,500 for agriculture science champ

* Delaware - Delaware County 4-H, Springfield, $2,500 for educational field trips

* Elk and Cameron - Elk and Cameron County 4-H, Emporium, $1,969 for program materials and school presentations

* Indiana County - Indiana County 4-H, Indiana, $2,500 for day camps to explain food science

* Lancaster County - Garden Spot FFA, Lampeter, $2,500 for tractor safety demos; Manheim FFA, Manheim, $2,500 for landscaping and orchard projects

* Montgomery - Montgomery County 4-H, Collegeville, $2,500 for animal and ag science day camps

* Montour - Montour County FFA, Danville, $2,400 to fund a farm safety program

* Northumberland - Northumberland County 4-H, Coal Township, $2,500 for leadership workshops

* Perry - Perry County 4-H Development Committee, New Bloomfield, $1,425 for farm safety day camp

* Potter - Potter County 4-H, Coudersport, $2,436 for agriculture education program materials and school presentations

* Susquehanna - Susquehanna County 4-H, $2,110 for a farm safety field day

* Washington - Southwest Region 4-H, Washington, $3,500 for a forestry and horticulture camp; Washington County 4-H Club, $2,200 for 4-H day camp

*Wayne - Calkins 4-H Agriculture Club, Milanville, $791 for a farm safety education and awareness program

* York - Dover FFA, Dover, $2,500 for a hands-on horticulture center; York County Extension Service, $2,500 for an agriculture education and food production project.

To Hold Pasture Walk

NATMEAL VILLAGE (Chester Co.) — On May 16 at 6 p.m., the Southeast Regional Cattlemen's Association will hold a pasture walk at Dunwoody Zook's Pheasant Hill Farm.

Pheasant Hill Farm is a second generation family farm located in Natmeal Village in the northern part of Chester County. The farm is a small cow calf operation of registered black Angus with a custom feed lot for direct marketing. Utilizing high intensive grazing for 15 years, 32 acres are in permanent pastures of many varieties of grasses, including chicory, fescues, perennial rye grass, plus traditional cool season grasses. Extensive tile and trough systems and windrow manure composting are utilized.

Dr. Gil Myers, a veterinary parisitologist, has been added to the program to discuss parasite control on pasture. Myers farms and does applied research in Magnolia, Ky. At his location in Kentucky he intensively grazes cattle and goats and monitors parasite control and production parameters.

"A strong, prudent board of directors challenges management and staff to seek the greatest return on our investment in ADC, creating the highest net return to its members back on the farm."
—Richard & Janet Kriebel
Benton, PA

ADC Is the Place To Be

A high net return and a strong board of directors – the outstanding benefits that Richard and Janet Kriebel refer to – are among the strengths of the premier dairy cooperative in the region.

Atlantic Dairy Cooperative has a 78-year history of excellent service to its members. Financially strong, ADC guarantees a market for all member milk and excels in maximizing returns. ADC is a leader in providing equity payments, quality bonuses and over-order premiums to members.

Nearly 4,000 dairy farmers agree that "ADC is the Place to Be."

Lancaster FFA'ers 'Go The Distance' At Leadership Conference

Communication, and Education). The newsletter was published four times this past year and included news and notes on various officer team activities, chapter activities, calendar of events, award winners, and other news of importance to FFA members.

Troxell provided tips on taking photos. A local news representative provided information on how to write the basics of a story and what types of articles would be interesting for readers.

Other workshops included examining the roles and duties of various officers, including presidents, vice presidents, treasurers, secretaries, and chaplains.

Troxell, as a state officer, indicated that having a chance to meet members from other chapters was a "real great experience" and allowed him to establish new friendships across the state.

His most exciting experience was attending the National Convention in November 1995 to work with fellow FFA'ers and vote on national issues.

Holstein I.D. Tags Help

BRATTLEBORO, Vt. — With time at a premium at Ja-Bob Holsteins in Eaton, Ohio, Mark Yeazel is looking to save as much time as he can. Last year, he made a decision that has saved him a lot of time — to use official Holstein ID Tags when identifying animals with the Holstein Association.

"I did it to make it easier, plain and simple," Yeazel said. "That way there's no hassle of picturing or sketching, which can be time-consuming and costly."

Official Holstein ID Tags are Allflex tamper-proof tags that come in seven fade-resistant colors, with management numbers designated by the breeder. A unique serial number for each animal is also on the tag, identifying it with the Holstein Association.

"Time is the main thing," he said, noting that the Allflex ID Holstein Tags cost about the same as other tags. "But there's a lot less hassle involved as well."

The tags can be used in a variety of ways, either with a tag set in each ear, a tag set and a tatoo, or a tag set and freezebrand. Since the tags were introduced in 1995, more than 1,000 producers have implemented them on their operations.

Yeazel has used the tags for almost a year. He said that since the farm was already using a tag in one ear and a tattoo in the other, moving to the Holstein ID Tags made sense.

"We were already using tags and tattoos as part of our management system anyway, so moving to this was no different," he said. "And it made it much easier in saving time and labor."

Yeazel milks 110 cows on the farm in western Ohio, and merchandises many of his red Holsteins. When he consigns an animal to a sale, he insists the tags remain with the animal.

"The buyer needs information on that animal, and without the tag there isn't any," he said. "I don't want to have to take a picture of her and then have to send it to the sale with her — her tag is her information. And I don't think the tags detract from the animal."

Tag ID is just one of the many forms of Alternative ID offered by the Holstein Association. EASY, One-Side Sketch, One-Side Photo, Tag 'N Tattoo, and Tag 'N Freezebrand, as well as RFID, are currently being used on about 35 percent of the identification applications that are sent to the Holstein Association.

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.) — June, July, and August are months that pose some of the greatest challenges to dairy producers. Summer temperatures and humidity are not conducive to cow comfort, ration programs are continually changing, not only for confined feeding, but also for grazing herds, and feeding practices are altered to accommodate increased field work. All these factors can have an unfavorable effect on the cow's metabolism; therefore, care must be taken when interpreting milk urea nitrogen (MUN) values.

It is typical to see MUN's average in the low to mid 20's (mg/dl) for a herd that is being intensively grazed. This can be attributed in part to the high total protein and high solubility of the protein in pasture. There is very little that can be done nutritionally or in feeding management practices to lower the values in this situation. However, inadequate water intake and heat stress can be factors in observed higher MUN values. Evaluating MUN's during these stressful times may help to improve conditions (i.e. better access to water) that would otherwise be overlooked.

Dairy cattle that are continued on stored feeds during the summer may also experience raised MUN's compared to similar rations fed during the winter months. A study conducted at the University of Missouri showed cows fed a nearly identical ration during winter and summer had plasma urea nitrogen (PUN) values 4 to 7 units higher in the summer. Both PUN and blood urea nitrogen are highly correlated with MUN's.

Ration adjustments must NOT be made on MUN values alone. The environment cows are faced with during the summer may result in elevated MUN's. Altering the cows' diet to meet an "ideal" MUN level can lead to reduced dry matter intakes and lower milk production. If numerous cows exhibit MUN's over 27 mg/dl, then closer attention to feeding management practices and nutrient density of the diet are warranted for grazing and heat stressed animals.

Begins Directorship

STATE COLLEGE (Centre Co.) — Adam Derr, a dairyman from Westmoreland County, recently attended his first PA DHIA state board meeting held at the Days Inn, State College.

Adam along with his wife Janice and three children, Adam Jr., Dyannia, and Rebecca, work as a family operation in owning and managing Fay-West Holsteins. This herd consists of 100 registered Holsteins while 300 acres of cropland is worked annually on their Dairy of Distinction Farm. Adam is actively involved in the Westmoreland DHIA and Holstein clubs as well as serving as a State Holstein Director. He also participates in the Pennsylvania Farm Bureau Association.

NAAB Seeks Assistance For Branded U.S. Semen Export Promotion

COLUMBIA, Mo. — As a member of U.S. Livestock Genetic Export Inc. (USLGE), the National Association of Animal Breeders (NAAB) has applied for funds to be allocated to qualified private firms for promotion of United States - origin bovine semen in international markets.

The funds are made possible under the auspices of the Market Promotion Program (MPP) administered by the USDA Foreign Agricultural Service (FAS). The final funding level for the USLGE/NAAB Branded Program will be determined by FAS.

The USLGE/NAAB Branded Program supports the efforts of United States firms to promote private labels of frozen bovine semen throughout the world. The ultimate objective is to increase the total market for bovine semen from all USA exporters.

Allocation of available funds will be made to qualified USA firms on an equitable and uniform basis within the guidelines of USDA-FAS and consistent with the objectives of the MPP program.

Under the program, participants will be reimbursed up to 50 percent of eligible promotion expenses up to the amount of their respective allocations authorized by NAAB. The 1996 program year will be July 1, 1996 thru June 30, 1997. All program expenses must be incurred before the end of the program June 30, 1997.

USA companies desiring to take advantage of this program must submit an application to NAAB using the form prescribed by NAAB. The deadline for receipt of applications by NAAB is noon, Wednesday, May 1, 1996.

In determining the qualifications of each applicant and fund allocations, consideration will be given to previous experience with exporting of bovine semen from the USA and the applicant's ability to provide staff support to supervise and carry out the proposed promotional activities.

Willingness and ability to provide adequate supplies of USA origin bovine semen of the quality desired by foreign buyers in response to the demand generated by the promotional activities must be demonstrated.

The promotional activities proposed by each applicant will be individually evaluated and approved by NAAB and the USDA-FAS. Therefore, a detailed description of the promotional activities proposed to be funded under the MPP program, including a budget of the funds to be expended by country, is required. The method by which the applicant proposes to evaluate the success of the proposed promotional activities must be included.

The applicant must own the bull whose semen is promoted and own the label or brand name under which the semen is to be promoted, or by written agreement with the proprietor, be assigned exclusive rights of representation for the semen and brand to be promoted. All semen and brand to be promoted must be USA origin.

Each participating company will be required to enter into a contract with NAAB and will pay a fee to NAAB for administrative services in accordance with the amount of program funds allocated.

Additional information about the program and applications are available upon request from NAAB by contacting Dr. Gordon A. Doak, P.O. Box 1033, Columbia, Missouri 65205; Telephone (573) 445-4406; Facsimile (573) 446-2279; Telex 258099 NAAB UR; E-Mail: /S=NAAB.CSS/O=NAAB/@Sprint.com.

F.O.4 NFMS $1.18

ALEXANDRIA, Va. — Middle Atlantic Order Market Administrator Rex F. Lothrop recently announced a producer nonfat milk solids price of $1.18 per pound for February 1996.

The weighted average differential base milk price was $1.41 per hundredweight and the price per pound of butterfat was 64.74 cents.

The producer NFMS price was up 10 cents from last year and the base differential increased 50 cents.

The standardized base milk price per hundredweight for producer milk with the market average nonfat milk solids content and 3.5 percent butterfat would have been $14.01 and the excess price would have been $12.60.

This represents a base price increase of $1.30 per hundredweight from the previous year.

The excess price increased 80 cents from last February. The nonfat milk solids price, applicable to handler payments, was $1.1830 per pound for the month, up 10 cents from last February. The weighted average price for February was $13.87 per hundredweight and would have been approximately 43 cents higher without the effect of the Class III-A price.

Mr. Lothrop said that producer receipts totaled 487.5 million pounds during February, a decrease of 29.2 million pounds from last February and the average daily delivery of 3,571 pounds per producer increased 31 pounds or .9 percent from a year earlier.

Total nonfat milk solids production for the month was 42.7 million pounds. This represents an average NFMS test of 8.76 percent, down from 8.79 percent last February.

Class I producer milk totaled 219.0 million pounds and was up 2.7 million pounds, but decreased 2.2 percent from last February on an average daily basis. Class I milk accounted for 44.94 percent of total producer milk receipts during the month, compared with 41.86 percent in February 1995.

Base milk accounted for 88.41 precent of total producer milk receipts in February compared with 86.67 percent last year. The average butterfat test of producer milk was 3.82 percent, up from 3.74 percent last February.

Middle Atlantic Order pool handlers reported Class I in-area milk sales of 187.4 million pounds during February, a decrease of 4.4 percent from a year earlier, after adjustment to eliminate variation due to calendar composition.

SUGGESTIONS FOR A GROWING YEAR

Tree Fruit

Peach canker, also known as Cytospora canker and Leucostoma canker, is a persistent problem in some orchards.

No fungicides are effective in the control of peach canker. The only current method of control is to cut the cankers out in May or June.

Past research at Penn State University and around the state has shown surgery to be very effective. Cankers are best removed if they do not cover more than half of the circumference of the branch and if they are not long cankers that extend the length of the branch.

Removal of cankers from young trees is very important. As always, delay pruning of stone fruit trees until after bud break to prevent infection of pruning cuts by the canker-causing fungus.

A complete reference to control of peach canker is contained in the 1996-1997 Pennsylvania Tree Fruit Production Guide beginning on page 70 under Cytospora Canker.

In March the Environmental Protection Agency granted a Section 3 registration for Agri-Mek on apple for the control of leafminers and mites after bloom. Agri-Mek at 10 fluid ounces per acre applied with 1 gallon paraffinic spray oil (for example, SunSpray Ultrafine Oil) per acre at petal fall provides six weeks of control of European red mite and control of the first two generations of spotted tentiform leafminer.

Research in 1995 suggests Agri-Mek applied at petal fall may also suppress white apple leafhopper, but this is preliminary at this time. Agri-Mek may be applied up to 28 days before harvest. However, although sprays during the 3rd to 4th covers are effective against leafminers, they have little effect on mites at this time.

This reduction in efficacy later in the season may be attributed to Agri-Mek's unique mode of action. Agri-Mek penetrates the leaf in a process called translaminar movement. The targeted pests ingest the active ingredient, abamectin, from the leaf tissue, become paralyzed, stop feeding, and die. As the leaves harden later in the season, less translaminar movement is thought to occur.

Areas of concern with this new product include Agri-Mek's high toxicity to Stethorus and predatory mites for a period of about 24 hours following the application until it is absorbed into the tissue and our lack of experience with this product on apple.

In the southern parts of the state, apple development zipped from ½ inch green to pink in such a short time that some orchards received only two alternate row middle applications before bloom.

What does this mean for pest control? First, the pests targeted during the prebloom period may not adequately be controlled. Second, scouting for pests such as rosy apple aphid (RAA) becomes more crucial. Third, petal fall control considerations should be made assuming less than adequate pest control with the prebloom insecticides.

Targeted pests during the prebloom period that may not have been adequately controlled include European red mite (ERM), RAA, and to a lesser extend spotted tentiform leafminer (STLM). Some growers could not complete prebloom miticide applications of oil, Apollo, Savey, or Morestan. Others were not able to treat two halves with the optimal materials or timing for controlling RAA. The pink spray to kill STLM adults was in many cases missed; however, the population pressure appears relatively low and two excellent petal fall materials (Agri-Mek and Provado) are available. Scouting is thus especially critical for these pests if you feel you did an inadequate job. See the Tree Fruit Production Guide for scouting procedures.

Two recent additions to the insecticides that can be used at petal fall to help protect for missed applications before bloom are Provado and Agri-Mek. Provado provides excellent activity against STLM and RAA as well as white apple leafhopper (WALH). Agri-Mek controls ERM, STLM, and possibly some WALH. Another option is Carzol, which controls WALH and ERM. Lannate also provides some control of WALH.

"Thin early and often" would be a good motto for many growers regarding the thinning of apples. There is a special 24c label for the use of Sevin XLR for thinning applications from 90 percent petal fall up to 9 mm diameter. (Be sure to have a copy of this label when using Sevin at this time.) This is considerably earlier than what we had previously been allowed to make applications.

Last year, through observations, limited trials, and in talking with growers, it seemed that the earlier the thinner was applied the better the results. Therefore, we now have two materials that can be applied early: Sevin XLR and Vydate.

I strongly caution growers who will be applying thinners close to petal fall to make sure your honeybees are out and away from the orchard. The current shortage of bees could be aggravated by improper use of these thinning materials when bees are present.

Last year, besides the success of early applications, applications made under warmer temperatures also seemed to do a better job. Those of you that attended the plant growth regulator school in Biglerville in March may have heard Ross Byers also expound on the importance of warm temperatures promoting greater thinning response. Ross is now suggesting that thinning of apples may be in response to a carbohydrate stress or shortage. As we all know, each year seems to be a little different but close attention to details can make the difference between a lot of small fruit or fewer large sized fruit.

Vegetables

New Herbicide Labels

Frontier 7.5 EC from Sandoz Agro, Inc. is labeled for sweet corn and has comparable weed control to Dual from CIBA. Frontier is recommended at 14 ounces/acre compared to the 1.25 pints/acre for Dual or Dual II.

The active ingredient in Frontier is Dimethenamid. It can be used as a preplant surface applied, preplant incorporated, preemergence, or early postemergence (up to 8-inch tall corn) treatment.

Command 4EC from FMC has been granted a 24C label in Pennsylvania for control of several grasses and broadleaves in summer squash (crookneck, straightneck, and zucchini) as well as winter squash. The preplant incorporated application (less than 1 inch) is recommended at 0.4 to 0.5 pint per acre. Temporary whitening and/or yellowing of the treated crops may occur. Suggest addition of Prefar to Command or separate Curbit application after Command to provide economic control of pigweed species.

Stinger from DowElanco has received a supplemental label from EPA for postemergence application in asparagus. The recommended rate is 0.5 to 0.66 pints per acre broadcast application in a spray volume of 10 to 40 gallons per acre. The higher rate is recommended for perennial weed control, especially Canada thistle. Applications may be made before or during the asparagus cutting season, or after harvest is complete but prior to fern growth. Do not harvest for a minimum of 12 hours after application. If Stinger is applied during the cutting season, some crooking (twisting) of asparagus spears may occur.

Late Blight Monitoring In Pa.

The Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture (PDA) will coordinate the Pennsylvania Potato Late Blight Hotline, a component of the 1-800-PENN-IPM telephone information system.

By calling this toll-free number, growers will hear a changing, recorded message to learn of weather conditions and disease detections which can then be used in making management decisions.

It is planned that research specialists, county extension agents, and the agricultural community will be participants in the Pennsylvania Potato Late Blight Information Network. Participants will share information on possible late blight sightings, local weather conditions, and experience with cultural practices and fungicides through Email, phone, and FAX.

PDA's Plant Disease Diagnostic Laboratory (PDDL) in Harrisburg will again provide free testing of symptomatic plants for growers whose crop may be infected with late blight. If late blight is confirmed, the results can indicate genotyping and whether the pathogen may be metalaxyl-resistant.

The protocol for collecting and submitting samples has been distributed to county extension agents, the PDA regional plant inspection staff, certified seed growers, and participants to the 1996 Potato Growers Institute.

The PDDL will also test potato seed tubers for late blight detection. Certified seed may carry up to one percent late blight, so growers may wish to know if their seed may be a possible source of disease.

This will be done on a first-come, first-served basis with prior notification to the lab (717-787-5609, Dr. Seong Hwan Kim).

Field Day To Highlight Results Of Pequea-Mill Creek Project

ANDY ANDREWS
Lancaster Farming Staff

INTERCOURSE (Lancaster Co.) — Dear Farmer: It doesn't cost a lot of money to implement strategies to not only improve herd health but also to benefit the environment.

And the Pequea-Mill Creek Project wants to prove that.

On Tuesday, June 11, the project has scheduled a field day and tour from 9 a.m.-2 p.m. to begin at the Gideon M. Fisher Farm at Rt. 340 and Pond Road. The tour will then move to other sites to look into the workings and cost of pasture rotational lots, pasture watering, cow lanes, stream crossings and fencing, barnyard runoff control, farmstead evaluation, and nutrient management.

Farmers often worry about the costs of starting water quality improvement projects. Depending on how extensive they are, these projects can go a long way to boost the health of farms and improve water quality for everyone.

The practices that have been successfully implemented in the five-year life of the project on various cooperating farms "are not real expensive," said Jerry Martin, project associate out of the Smoketown office. "We have tried to look for low-cost, innovative ways to get at some of these problems. And many of these things that we have worked with don't require a large outlay of funds."

In June 1992 a field day was held at the Gideon Stoltzfus Farm in White Horse to show some of the work of the new project.

The field day scheduled this year on June 11 will show the results of the five-year water quality project. "It will highlight and showcase what we have accomplished," said Martin.

At the Fisher farm, tour groups will look at managing pastures and exercise lots, pasture watering, and some of the effects of grassed area on animal comfort. The tour group will then move to the nearby Jonas Beiler Farm on Pond Road to look at different pastures and three different types of stream crossings. The crossings are built over streams which feed into the Muddy Run, a tributary of the Conestoga. Streambank fencing and stabilization will be under scrutiny during this tour stop.

Then the tour group moves to the Jonathan Esh and Aquillas Smucker farms, also nearby, to see some of the work on pasture management. The final stop will be the Amos Petersheim farm, which includes a barnyard runoff project that will examine the benefits of runoff control and how to implement a program.

The goals of the project have been to reduce pollution to surface and groundwater supplies from nutrients, bacteria, sediment, and pesticides.

Martin noted that these practices can be applied to nearly every farm. The project, however, is aware of the differences that exist between farms.

"I think every farm's different and has different situations that need to be addressed," he said. "There is flexibility and adaptability to different situations.

On Tuesday, June 11, the project has scheduled a field day and tour from 9 a.m.-2 p.m. to begin at the Gideon M. Fisher Farm, here at Rt. 340 and Pond Road. The tour will then move to many sites to look into the workings and cost of pasture rotational lots, pasture watering, cow lanes, stream crossings and fencing, barnyard runoff control, farmstead evaluation, and nutrient management.

The tour group will then move to the nearby Jonas Beiler Farm on Pond Road to look at different pastures and three different types of stream crossings. Jerry Martin inspects one such crossing.

Streambank fencing and stabilization will be under scrutiny during the tour, according to Jerry Martin.

The practices that have been successfully implemented in the five-year life of the project on various cooperating farms "are not real expensive," said Jerry Martin, project associate out of the Smoketown office. A crossing at the Beiler farm.

"The things that we will see on the field day will highlight the major water quality issues in the Pequea-Mill Creek Project."

Components of the practices will be carefully examined. The reasons behind each of the different ways the improvements have been made will be explained.

"The ability to communicate the health benefits to their dairy cows has really been the pirmary reason that a lot of farmers have implemented these practices," said Martin.

The water improvement projects focus on cow cleanliness. "It comes down to keeping the cows clean, reducing the mastitis problems, and stemming any foot and leg problems." These problems can be costly in terms of lost income.

"If farmers can begin to see the connections between some of these things that hit the pocketbook, they're much more receptive," he said.

The original project, as part of the Water Quality Initiative enacted by President George Bush five years ago, had a contract lifetime of five years with an option to extend the contract up to three additional years. The project office has requested a three-year extension to continue the project.

However, unlike the past, cost-share funding will not be available under the proposed contract extension, according to Martin. To pay for various practices, "we'll have to use other sources or the farmers will have to pay for it themselves," said Martin.

The move in Washington, D.C. is on less support for USDA-funded projects such as the Pequea-Mill Creek Project. "That's the environment we will see in the future. The amount of federal funds are not going to be as great as they were in the past," Martin said.

However, wherever possible, educational programs will continue providing information as necessary to farmers.

Martin is confident that "a lot of the things we are already doing and things that we've learned will continue because of their success." The field day will show how.

Also, as part of the field day, the project will provide a survey of practices on site conditions and how to evaluate the work needed to improve them.

Lunch will be provided. However, registration by June 3 is required.

Iowa Study Shows Outdoor Pork Production Profitable

DES MOINES, Iowa — A survey of Iowa swine producers' records indicates that outdoor swine production may be more profitable than confinement systems because overhead is so low.

"We think this is evidence that outdoor production is viable for Midwestern pork production," said Mark Honeyman an Iowa State University swine researcher. "An outdoor system isn't for everyone, but our results show that you can be a contrarian and still be quite competitive."

Honeyman and research associate Arlie Penner reviewed records of swine producers enrolled in ISU Extension's Iowa Swine Enterprise Records program. They compared records from average Iowa producers having about 100 sows.

They found that producers who raise pigs outdoors farrow about two pigs per sow less per year than producers who raise pigs indoors. The outdoor producers also had to feed their pigs 20 pounds of feed more for every 100 pounds of gain.

"Producers with outdoor herds had a fixed cost that was more than $3 less per pig weaned than producers with indoor herds," Honeyman noted. "That reduced fixed cost allowed outdoor producers to overcome the efficiencies of indoor producers. Overall, the cost of producing a pig outdoors is about $5 less than producing one indoors."

The researchers could only find a dozen outdoor producers to compare with about 200 indoor producers, so Honeyman cautions that the results may not be as accurate as a larger study. Penner presented the results of the study at the joint Midwest meeting of the American Society of Animal Science and the American Dairy Science Association in Des Moines.

Although outdoor production was common years ago in Iowa, Honeyman estimates that only about five percent of Iowa's hogs are now produced outdoors. "If outdoor herds are well managed, they can be quite competitive," he said.

Honeyman said the study points out improvements that producers could make to make outdoor production even more competitive.

"The industry needs farrowing huts with an improved design to give sows room to nest and allow them to be better mothers," he said. "As a result, sows would crush fewer pigs and producers could wean larger litters." Producers could also focus their breeding programs on sows with improved mothering ability and larger litters.

"Producers with outdoor herds need to be especially aggressive in their parasite control," Honeyman said. "They could also adapt split-sex feeding and phase-feeding strategies that are used with most indoor herds."

He noted that new technology such as cellular telephones, all-terrain vehicles, and electric fence systems are making outdoor swine production easier for producers. "We also know that the exercise and group living arrangements of outdoor production systems are a benefit for the pigs," Honeyman said.

"There are some production problems inherent in an outdoor production system," he said. "The key is to maintain or enhance the advantage of low fixed costs."

American Jersey Cattle Association To Present Awards

REYNOLDSBURG, Ohio — The American Jersey Cattle Association has recently announced the recipients of several of its prestigious awards to be presented at the annual meetings of the AJCA and the National All-Jersey Inc. set to be held June 21 in Portland, Oregon.

According to a news release from the AJCA/NAJ, a total of nine awards are to be presented. Two awards recognize lifetime achievement — the organization's distinguished service award and its master breeder award — while there are seven national young Jersey breeder awards.

Distinguished Service

Max Gordon, Winchester, Ind., will receive the 1996 Distinguished Service Award.

This prestigious award is bestowed annually upon a member of the American Jersey Cattle Association who has rendered unselfish service for many years and in doing so, made a notable contribution to the advancement of the Jersey breed in the United States.

For 64 years, Max Gordon has been promoting and breeding Jerseys beginning in 1929 with the purchase of a registered Jersey 4-H project.

In the 1940's, Gordon bottled his own milk and sold it door to door in nearby towns. In 1946, Wonderful Dreaming Givia, bred by Gordon, was chosen grand champion Jersey at the All American and sold for $21,000, the highest auction price ever paid for a Jersey at that time.

Gordon has been asked to judge cattle at numerous local fairs, 21 state fairs, six regional shows, and the Canadian National Exposition. National shows he has judged include the Jersey Island Spring Show, Royal Winter Fair, and the Brazil and South African National Jersey Shows. Gordon has judged the All American open show and junior shows twice and the Jersey Jug Futurity.

Gordon has provided leadership at the local, state, and national level in the dairy and Jersey industry. He was one of the original founders of the Jersey Jug, and served as general chairman of the All American. He has served in several offices of the Indiana Jersey Cattle Club.

His service to the American Jersey Cattle Association includes director, chairman of the finance committee from 1979 to 1984, a member of the investment advisory committee from 1979 to the present, vice president of the association and five years on the board of National All-Jersey Inc. Gordon has also spent two terms as president of the World Jersey Cattle Bureau.

Master Breeder

Elmer Larson, Roy, Wash., is to receive the 1996 Master Breeder Award.

This prestigious award is bestowed annually upon a living AJCA member, family, partnership or corporation, who, in the opinion of the board of directors, has bred outstanding animals for many years and thereby has made a notable contribution to the advancement of the Jersey breed in the United States.

Jerseys came to Belvidere Farm in 1938 as a 4-H project of Elmer's. His strong legacy throughout the history of the herd was developing strong cow families which continued that strength, "the stamp of Belvidere," when they went to other herds.

Larson bred many production and showring champions including Belvidere Stardom Donna, Ex-92. "Donna" was the first and only animal named grand champion All American aged cow without being exhibited at the All American show in Louisville, Ky. Laron was the first breeder to show "milk cows" and encouraged others that they could compete and win.

Perhaps the crowning achievement of Larson is his "Magic" family. The founding member, Green View Favorite Banner Magic was purchased in the Pot O' Gold Sale by Elmer's son Ron. She died shortly after her second calving, but she left two daughters.

At the Belvidere dispersal, members of the "Magic" family were in great demand.

Topping the sale was Belvidere TB Magic that brought $8,500 and was purchased by Bettydon Jersey Farm, Deer Park, Wash. Several other family members went on to herds where they have made their impact through both production records and prices in the sale ring.

According to ABS Regional Sire Analyst Tim Abbott, "... maybe the best way to have an impact is through selling cattle that make great herds better and new herds successful. Elmer Larson was a master at this. His breeding has made great herds better and new herds great."

Young Breeders

The Young Jersey Breeder Award is bestowed annually upon as many AJCA members and/or members' families, who, in the opinion of the board of directors, merit recognition.

Taryn and Edward V. Cooper Jr., Middleburgh, N.Y., are to receive a Young Jersey Breeder Award from the American Jersey Cattle Association.

The Coopers have been successful in breeding and developing cattle that can compete at state and national Jersey shows winning reserve and/or grand champion at several state and regional shows. They were named the premier exhibitor of the 1993 New York Spring Show.

In addition to their showring awards, they also have three Hall of Fame record holders, 16 Excellent cows, and a young sire bull at Eastern A.I.

In 1992, the Cooper herd represented the breed in the Hoards Dairyman judging contest.

In 1994 the main dairy barn was completely destroyed in a fire Early in 1995 a new 100-cow facility was built and several more cows were added to the herd. Cooper Farm was one of the farms toured during the 1995 annual meeting.

Ed has served as director for the Schoharie County DHIA for five years and president for two years. He has also served as director for New England Jersey Sires and was a member of the All American Open Show Committee for two years.

Ed has also judged at several local shows. Taryn recently graduated from S.U.N.Y. Cobleskill with a degree in accounting where she was a member of the honor society.

Both Ed and Taryn were involved with Jerseys as youth. Ed was the Massachusetts outstanding youth in 1979 and Taryn won the award in 1983. She was also the 1983 New England Jersey princess.

Jeff Cochran, Cochran Dairy, Coquille, Oregon is to receive a Young Jersey Breeder Award.

Jeff has owned registered Jerseys for 28 years. His Jersey herd began with a 4-H project and has grown to the current herd of 127 head. After attending college, Jeff returned to the farm in 1981.

Four years later, he purchased an 80-acre farm adjoining the family dairy. From 1987 to 1990 Jeff enrolled the herd on DHIA, went through genetic recovery with the entire herd and enrolled in the AJCA DHIR-TPE program.

The 1995 DHIR herd average was 17,908 pounds milk, 877 pounds fat, and 652 pounds protein. This ranked the herd fourth in the nation for pounds of fat by herd size.

The herd is enrolled in the AJCA Jersey Mating Program and the Jersey Young Sire Sampling Program to assist with the breeding program.

Jeff has been involved in getting youth started in dairy projects. Young people get registered Jersey calves from Cochran, and raise them for two years. During this time, the youth keep health, breeding and expense records. Cochran agrees to buy the animal back before it calves.

Cochran has served in many

American Jersey Cattle Association To Present Awards

offices including director and president of the Southern Oregon DHIA board and Coos Curry Dairymens board, president of the Southwestern Oregon Jersey Cattle Club and co-chair of the Oregon Jersey Production Sale.

Greg and Jodi Chamberlain, Hi-Land Farms, Wyoming, N.Y., will receive a Young Jersey Breeder award.

The Chamberlains farm in partnership with Greg's brother, David. Together, they own 631 head of registered Jerseys. The 1995 DHIR herd average was 16,701 pounds milk, 809 pounds fat, and 618 pounds protein on 292 head.

Hi-Land Farms is enrolled in the AJCA Youth Sire Sampling Program and REAP.

Hi-Land Farms received the "Super Milk" award from the New York State Assembly in 1991, '92, '93 and '94. In 1995 they were the recipients of the Low Somatic Cell Award from Northeast DHI.

Greg and Jodi have both been active in community organizations. Jodi is on the strategic planning committee for the Wyoming Central School, president of the Wyoming Central School PTO and co-director of Cooperative Nursery School. She was recently elected to the board of directors of the Wyoming Free Library.

Greg has served on the Wyoming County Farm Bureau dairy committee for two years. He served as co-chairman for the Niagara Frontier Sale, the 1991 New York State Sale, and the 1995 National Heifer Sale.

In addition, he has been a 4-H advisor for the past eight years and a member of the county 4-H tractor safety school advisory committee.

Russell and Cheryl King, Cantendo Acres, Creston, Ohio, will receive an award.

The Cantendo Acres Jersey herd began in 1975 when Cheryl purchased a Jersey calf for a 4-H project. I has since grown to include 45 milking cows and 35 heifers. Cantendo Acres Jerseys are enrolled in the AJCA Young Sire Sampling Program and Jersey Mating Program.

Cheryl was very involved in Jersey youth activities, placing 10th in the 1983 Youth Achievement Contest. The herd has received the Gold Award from Milk Marketing Inc. for having low SCC and bacteria counts each year since 1989.

In November 1993, the herd switched to seasonal grazing. So that a majority of the herd became fresh in February 1995, no cows were bred between November of 1993 and May of 1994. In addition, 28 cows that would calve midsummer and early fall were sold. By the end of May, 75 cows had calved.

Their 1995 rolling herd average was 15,287 pounds milk, 708 pounds fat, and 553 pounds protein, with two thirds of the herd being first or second lactation cows.

The Kings have been active promoters of dairy grazing management by hosting tour groups and helping to create a county grazing counsel. They have hosted a 4-H group interested in rotational grazing, and approximately 2,000 guests from the Wayne County Farm Foliage Tour. In 1995 they hosted a delegation from Romania.

Kevin Eric Lutz, Treasure Chest Jerseys, Lincolnton, N.C., will receive an award.

Kevin has owned Jerseys since he was five years old. Today, he has 220 Jerseys with a December 1995 DHIA rolling herd average of 14,786 pounds milk, 653 pounds fat, and 525 pounds protein on 105 records. Treasure Chest Jerseys are enrolled in the AJCA Young Sire Sampling Program.

Lutz has bred several Excellent cows and Hall of Fame record holders including Piedmont SSD Irene, E-91 percent. Her daughter TC Bold V Irene, VG-87 is ranked 31st on the January 1996 PTI list.

Another outstanding cow family is the "Bessie" family which includes Hall of Fame record holder Piedmont B Duncan Bessie, VG-87. She is the dam of Treasure Chest Sooner B, the first bull from this family to be put in artificial insemination service. He ranked 23rd on the January 1996 active A.I. list.

Lutz has been an active supporter of youth programs in the state. He is a founding committee member of the board of directors for the North Carolina Dairy Youth Foundation, an organization that helps develop and provide financial support to enhance and expand dairy programs throughout the state through local, county, and state activities. He is again serving on the board in 1996.

He was co-chairman of the 1993 National Heifer Sale and served on the All American Sale Committee in 1992 and 1993. He is currently a member of the 1996 All American Show Committee. In addition, he is a member of the Dixieland Sires board of directors and the North Carolina State University Dairy Advisory Committee.

Peter and Linda Hawkes, Mendon, Mass., will receive one of seven Young Jersey Breeder awards.

Hawkes began his dairy operation in 4-H. A free-stall barn was completed to house the herd in 1986. The herd is enrolled in the AJCA Total Performance Evaluation (TPE) program to help monitor production and appraisal information.

In 1994 Peter and Linda diversified their dairy operation and began composting manure. They sold over 4,400 yards of compost in 1995 and expect to sell 10,000 yards in 1996. The composting venture has also played a role in the community. The town recycles leaves and local stables and a race track contribute horse manure.

The Hawkeses have been active supporters of youth programs. For the past several years, they have leased heifers to a local 4-H club. Each year, eight to 10 heifers help teach non-farm youth about dairy cows.

Peter is active in the Massachusetts Farm Bureau organization. He has also been involved with the Massachusetts Jersey Cattle Club and the United Cooperative Farmers.

Garry J. Hansen and Christi J. Henricksen-Hansen, Lady-Lane Farm, Canby, Oregon, will receive an award.

Garry and Christi were partners in Cascadia Farm before establishing Lady Lane Farm in 1992. They currently have 80 head with a 1995 DHIR average of 18,935 pounds milk, 847 pounds fat, and 687 pounds protein on 28 records. This placed them eighth for milk and 10th for protein nationally in herds with 10 to 39 records.

Lady Lane Farm has bred several outstanding cows, including Midnite Forest Loni, E-90, with three records over 22,000 pounds milk; Cascadia Y Chief Likely Lady, E-90, with over 22,000 pounds milk; and Cascadia QMO Little Lady, E-90, with over 23,500 pounds milk and 1,000 pounds fat.

Garry graduated from the Western College of Auctioneering and has called bids at several sales, including the 1994 Western National Jersey Sale. He currently serves as president of the Oregon Jersey Cattle Club and co-chairman of the 1996 National Heifer Sale. Garry is the past president and vice president of the Clackamas County Jersey Cattle Club.

Christi works part-time as the Oregon State Dairy Princess Program coordinator and was the recipient of the Joe Chamberlain Showmanship Award at the 1994 Western National Show.

Youth Conservation School Set

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — Are you a teenager looking for a school where you can have fun while learning to protect, conserve, and enhance our Lancaster County natural resources? Do you enjoy spending time exploring the outdoors? Do you hunt or fish? Are you a boy or girl between the age of 14 to 16?

If your answer to any of these questions is yes, you may want to consider attending the 18th annual Lancaster County Youth Conservation School. The week-long school will be held July 21 to 27 at the Northern Lancaster County Game and Fish Protective Association club grounds in West Cocalico Township.

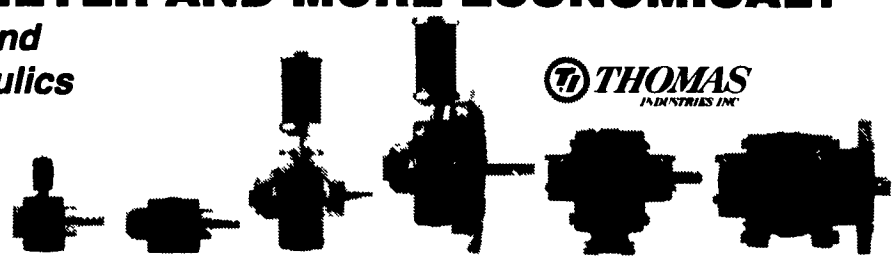
Some of the many topics discussed during the week include orienteering, survival, forestry, soil and water conservation, waste disposal, aquatics, boating safety, wildlife management, archery and firearm safety. Graduates from this school will be prepared to attend the Penn State Conservation Leadership School.

The school is a cooperative effort between the Lancaster County Conservation District and the Federated Sportsmen of Lancaster County. Staff of the Lancaster County Conservation District administer the school. Instructors for the school include agency personnel, sportsmen, industry representatives, and local residents.

There is no need to worry about tuition. Sponsorships are provided by local organizations. For more information or to receive an application, contact Nevin Greiner at (717) 299-5361.

LOOKING FOR AN AIR MOTOR THAT'S QUIETER AND MORE ECONOMICAL?

Take a few moments and call us at Beiler Hydraulics to find out more about THOMAS Air Motors



◊ From 1/3 to 5 HP, Thomas rotary vane air motors provide reliable power for hundreds of demanding OEM and industrial applications. These compact and lightweight models (2-28 lbs.) feature variable speed operation from 300-10,000 RPM. Interchangeable with most competitive models, Thomas rotary vane air motors can operate in any position and are available in four mounts: hub mount, face mount, base mount, and NEMA mount.

◊ In addition, all models can operate in clockwise or counter-clockwise rotations and most models can be instantly reversed with the turn of a four-way valve. Burn-out and stall-proof without damage if subjected to overloading. Thomas air motors also feature smooth air-cushioned starting and quiet operation.

◊ Four-vane models provide maximum efficiency for most standard applications, and optional eight-vane models minimize blow-by for special inching and stalled-condition applications. The rotary vanes are made of a special material that resists moisture absorption and swelling allowing them to perform well at high ambient temperatures and safely in wet or harsh environments. Plus, springloading of the vanes provides maximum sealing and torque at low speeds.

Proper Drying-Up Protects Udders, Profits

With the ever-increasing high levels of milk production in recent years, every dairy farmer has experienced the difficulty of one or more animals not slowing down in daily output of milk at the end of lactation — 10 months after freshening, two months before the next freshening.

Dairy science studies and practical experience call for two months, or 60 days, of rest before the next freshening. That means no more daily milk output, or "drying-up" as it is called. Managers insist this is a must. It's in our rule book, but some outstanding dairy cows or dairy goats have not read the rule cook. A cow's not drying up also could be our fault: we know how to turn on this milk-making machine, but don't know how to turn it off.

Is it really that serious? Why not forget about the rules? Occasionally, dairy farmers, in desperation, have tossed out the rule book. What else can be done when a cow on day 60 before the next calving is still milking 75 pounds per day? She will not die from this exception to the custom, but she will milk significantly less in the next lactation if she does not dry up and get rest for two months. An udder is not a "perpetuum mobile," an inexhaustible machine. It does need rest for regeneration of its secretory tissues and for rebuilding reserves.

The drying-up procedure can be accomplished abruptly or gradually by a reduction in those feeds that stimulate milk production, such as silage, haylage, grain, pasture and other succulent feeds, and by a reduction in water intake. In other words, half-starve the poor animal as an unthankful reward for all her hard work during the previous 10 months! Hopefully, the dairy animal and her metabolism get the right message.

A great risk occurs often during this process of drying-up — the udder develops subclinical or clinical mastitis. If not milked out and treated, this condition will contribute lots of problems after the next freshening with the onset of the subsequent lactation. In short, drying-up correctly under high-milking conditions is a challenge with considerable financial consequences.

It's essential to understand what happens in the udder as well as what influences the process scientifically known as involution of udder tissue. When milking is stopped or reduced drastically, the udder begins to stop synthesizing milk components, such as milk fat, lactose, casein, alpha-lactalbumin, and citrate. However, milk components derived from the blood directly (serum albumin, immunoglobulins, somatic cells, and sodium) increase in the fluid that used to be called milk. These changes in composition are a result of changes in structure and function of udder tissues during involution, which also characterizes the non-lactating period.

After active involution, udder tissues are actually dissolved, destroyed and resorbed. The udder collapses, all due to some normally inactive udder cell components called lysosomes, which release a self-destructing enzyme. This active involution in cows usually takes about 30 days to complete. Active involution is followed by a steady-state period of fully reduced and non-lactating phase. Then, 14 to 28 days before the next freshening, the udder begins to redevelop and proliferate its secretory tissues. This process can be influenced by different levels of preparatory and challenging feeding of concentrates in order to maximize performance in the next lactation.

An important question in trying to understand udder involution is what triggers it in the first place? New research from the University of Florida (Journal of Dairy Science 79 (1996) :220-226) indicates that the developing uterine calf-placenta entity of the dairy cow produces estrogen hormones. This contributes to the decline of daily milk production toward the end of lactation. The new study then tried to simulate or improve on this situation by injecting exogenous estrogen hormones on the four days preceding final milking.

Did it make a difference? Yes, it did. All collected data showed a significantly faster (by six days) udder involution in the treated cows. This treatment did not interfere with normal pregnancy, did not produce estrus, nor did it affect performance in the subsequent lactations of the 23 cows (milking above 17,000 pounds) in the study. Could this treatment shorten the normal length of a 60-day dry period? Maybe, but future research needs to address this question.

In any case, using a better method to dry up high-milking animals should reduce problems and make dairy farming more profitable.

Soils Research Topic Of Ag Breakfast

NEWARK, Del. — Join the Friends of Agriculture breakfast on Friday, May 31, at 7:15 a.m. at the Sheraton Inn in Dover, Del.

Dr. Donald Sparks, chair of the department of plant and soil sciences at the University of Delaware, will be talking to the group about DElaware soils and soils research.

Delaware Is Vegetable Production Leader

NEWARK, Del. — Just as the Delaware poultry industry was poised for tremendous growth in 1955, today's Delaware vegetable industry is positioned for comparable success into the next century, predicted Ed Kee, cooperative extension specialist for vegetable crops at the University of Delaware.

"Delaware has a winning combination of factors to make it a leading vegetable region of the United States — abundant water resources for irrigated crops, proximity to major markets, and a relatively long growing season," said Kee. "Add to these considerations bioengineered plant varieties, improved harvesters, enhanced food packaging and better consumer marketing, and growth is a certainty."

Because Delaware vegetable growers committed to irrigation over the last 20 years, the state now produces a wealth of both fresh-market and processing crops, including sweet corn, tomatoes, watermelon and other kinds of melon, beans, asparagus, summer squash, and lima beans. Delaware's underground aquifers provide a dependable source of water that other major vegetable-growing areas, such as upstate New York, California and Arizona, do not have.

Delaware's proximity to major markets on the eastern seaboard and quick and easy transportation also give the state an advantage. Both regional and national processors seek out Delaware crops to meet their demand for raw ingredients.

"The longer growing season also contributes to Delaware's advantage in vegetable production. Two crops each season are often possible, something the more northern mid-Atlantic states can't offer," the vegetable crops specialist said. "Regardless of whether vegetable processors freeze, can or pickle, double cropping makes Delaware an ideal place to set up processing plants."

Delaware's also a great place for consumers to benefit from the fresh market produce, offering a wide variety of high-quality vegetables and fruits. Sometimes summer produce from western states is purchased by supermarket chains in such large quantities that prices may actually be lower than local produce. But Kee said what the consumer isn't getting is the fresh-picked taste that locally grown produce offers.

"There's a big difference between produce cut five or six days ago and produce that's picked in the morning and on your table that evening," noted Kee. "If it's well-managed, direct marketing at the farm gate or roadside stand is good for the consumer, good for the grower, and good for Delaware's economy."

The one weak link in Delaware's rising vegetable industry, added Kee, is the dwindling agricultural labor pool. That's where UD's research to improve mechanical harvesters and harvesting techniques comes in. Growers can make up for the worker shortage and still remain profitable.

"In recent years, much of the increase in consumer demand can be attributed specifically to frozen mixed vegetables for stir-frying and other value-added products, which are just two or three steps away from the farm gate, a demand that started with the crop," Kee said. "Delaware is playing a major role in this changing crop production and delivery system. We have everything going for us — all we have to do now is seize the opportunities."

Jersey Research Favors Early Calving

REYNOLDSBURG, Ohio — According to research done at the Pennsylvania State University, profit is maximized by calving Jerseys at an early age, no later than 22 months (1-10).

In a six year study, A.J. Heinrichs and M. Vazquez-Anon studied DHIA records for all first lactation Jerseys and Holsteins from Pennsylvania. Breeding heifers at an earlier age by accelerating their growth, reduced feed costs and allowed an earlier return on investment. Although actual first lactation production was decreased, cows calving earlier produced more milk per day of herd life. The weight of heifers at calving has direct effect on milk production.

Breeding heifers to calve earlier saves money by reducing the amount spent raising replacement heifers. According to Tom Bailey, Virginia-Maryland Regional College of Veterinary Medicine, raising replacements ranks as the third largest dairy expense after feed and labor.

"Studies show that the average cost of raising a replacement heifer to 24 months of age can be between $800 and $1,300," said Bailey.

Bailey notes that most economists with financial records have shown an added cost in feed, labor, housing, etc., of $45-$50 per month for every month over 24 months of age. If a dairy is calving 50 heifers per year at 28 months of age, the additional expense would be $10,000 annually (50 heifers at $50 per month for four months).

Based on this combined research, the goal should be to breed Jersey heifers at 12-13 months of age, weighing a minimum of 450 pounds. The recommended height for heifers at this age is approximately 42 to 44.5 inches. Heifers should be weighed and measured periodically to determine if these goals are being met. Proper body conditioning must be considered if you are reducing the age of first calving.

Schnecksville Community Fair Going To Pay One Price

The 13th Annual Schnecksville Community Fair will be held on the Schnecksville Fire Company Grounds, Schnecksville, on June 25-June 29.

Fair hours will be Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday from 5 p.m. to 11 p.m.; Friday 5 p.m. to midnight; and Saturday from 1 p.m. to 11 p.m.

The theme this year is "E-I - E-I - GO", focusing on the farm community. After you park your car, and walk toward the fair entrance gates, look for the fair's newly built ticket booths that are constructed in the shape of a barn.

Another major change this year will be the newly constructed outdoor stage. It too will have the appearance of a barn.

This year you will find Schnecksville Community Fair fenced in. Schnecksville Community Fair is going to pay one price, which is a new concept for entertainment events, here in the Lehigh Valley. Only $5 per person (over 30 inches tall) admits you to Schnecksville Community Fair. This includes free parking, free exhibits, free entertainment, and best of all — ride all day at no further cost. This price does not include food, beverages, and games. Admission rates are for everyone over 30 inches tall.

This year's fair will include special children's events. On Wednesday from 5 p.m. to 8 p.m. there will be a safety program w/ robot. And on Saturday is a Kid's Day with a kids tractor pull contest starting at 2 p.m., child I.D. program from 2 p.m. to 7 p.m. by the Pennsylvania State Police, and Magic Stage Show by Ronald McDonald.

The $5 admission fee will include to ride all 15 rides at no further cost. Schnecksville Community Fair will also include more than 20 food concessions, games, plus so much more!

For additional information on the 13th Annual Schnecksville Community Fair, call the fair office at (610) 799-9467, leave a message with your telephone number, and we will return your call as soon as possible.

Wool/Sheep Breeders Association Of New Jersey

The New Jersey Sheep/Wool Breeders Association of New Jersey announce the 5th Annual Harvest Sheep and Wool Festival to be held Sept. 28-29 at Salem County Fairgrounds in Woodstown, N.J.

Prefestival workshops will be held on Thursday, Sept. 26 (wool grading and judging) and on Friday, Sept. 27 on judging wool sheep. Glen Eidman, professional sheep judge, will be the instructor.

Contact Wayne and Edie Van-Valkenberg (609) 769-1526 for registration.

The 3rd Star Fiber Guild of Woodstown will be doing a sheep to shawl demonstration. Other fiber guilds are invited to come and spin.

Other events include skein and garment competition, shepherd's lead, educational seminars, sheep show (200 sheep and 15 breeds represented), sheep shearing demonstration, sheep dog demonstration, quality hand-crafted fiber and wool products for sale (40 venders), fleece auction, and others.

Admission and parking are free. For more information, call (609) 478-2933.

Lancaster FSA Sets Farm Bill Meeting

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — County Executive Director Kathy Baxter announced that the Farm Service Agency (FSA) will hold a meeting to discuss provisions of the 1996 Farm Bill May 23 at 7:30 p.m. at the Farm and Home Center.

"The new farm law offers a one-shot opportunity to sign up for the new seven-year program," Baxter said. "Once the May 20 through July 12 sign-up period closes, only farmers with land coming out of the Conservation Reserve Program will be eligible to enroll."

"It is critical that all affected people understand the changes that the new farm law will bring to farm operations," County Committee Chairman Luke Brubaker said. "The Farm Bill places a lot of responsibility squarely on the shoulders of farmers and there is little time left to get all of the information needed to make some important, long-term decisions."

At the meeting, participants will have an opportunity to view a videotape presentation by Agriculture Secretary Dan Glickman and senior Washington, D.C. staff on the general provisions of the new farm law. Local FSA staff will brief local participants on the technical provisions of the farm programs.

"Included with the new planting flexibility are some options, and some risks, farmers haven't had to face before," Brubaker said. "Crop insurance has been 'delinked' from the programs, but disaster assistance is gone. This means that with few exceptions, farmers are out of luck if weather ruins their crops.

"Planting flexibility means the marketplace will decide what and how much, not the government. Farmers will need to learn how to make the most of the markets," Brubaker said. "The marketing assistance loans will be a big help, but the decisions are not going to be made for producers — they're going to have to learn the details of these programs and make all the decisions."

Also at the producer meeting, Farm Service Agency personnel will discuss landlord-tenant issues, transition payments, payment limitations, loan rates, formulas for payments, and other technical details of the new farm law.

"This is the biggest change in production agriculture since the Great Depression of the 1930s," Brubaker said. "Yet all of the changes have to be implemented in the shortest time the Department of Agriculture has ever had to implement a few Farm Bill.

"We have a big job ahead of us, precious little time to do the work, a lot of information to share, and we're going to provide people with all the information we can to help them make the best decisions," Brubaker said. "Implementing farm legislation in the best of conditions is difficult. This year it will be a big challenge.

"The Farm Service Agency's people will get the job done," Brubaker said. "We're going to get it done quickly, and we're going to get it done right."

Growers, Beekeepers Face Crisis, Short Course Set

UNIVESITY PARK (Centre Co.) — Another spring has arrived and brought with it a potential crisis for beekeepers and fruit and vegetable growers in the Northeast.

A long, cold winter and the presence of deadly parasitic mites have combined to decimate the region's honey bee colonies, said a bee expert in Penn State's College of Agricultural Sciences. And that could cause a critical shortage of bees to pollinate agricultual crops.

"For example, 52 western Pennsylvania beekeepers reported 873 dead colonies out of 1,576 that started the winter healthy," said Maryann Frazier, extension bee specialist. "That's a mortality rate of 55 percent."

New York beekeepers also report losses from 50 to 90 percent. "In one New York survey, beekeepers with a total of 2,700 colonies reported that only 500 colonies survived the winter," Frazier said. "Some beekeepers have been completely wiped out."

Late autumn snowfall, a persistently long and cold winter and cold weather during the first part of spring have kept the bees in their hives instead of collecting nectar and poolen, which they use to make honey. These stressful environmental conditions, along with recent infestation by tracheal and varroa mites, have decimated dcomestic and wild honey bee populations. Tracheal mites are microscopic creatures that infest bees' breathing tubes. These parasites first were found in the United States around 1983. Varroa mites, which appeared in this country in 1987, are external parasites sometimes visible to the naked eye.

Mites have combined with severe winters, disease and other factors to reduce Pennsylvania's commercial honey bee population from 85,000 colonies in 1981 to just 27,000 colonies in 1995.

A shortage of honey bees could have serious consequences for Pennsylvania's apple crop, which is the nation's fifth largest and is 95 percent dependent on bees for pollination. Nationwide, $10 billion worth of crops are pollinated by honey bees. Bee pollination plays a part in the production of about one-third of the typical American diet.

"For apple growers, it's critical to get commercial pollination, said Frazier. "Because of the shortage of hives available for rent in Pennsylvania and other states, many growers—especially smaller orchards—may have trouble finding bees to rent for pollination.

"Beekeepers who have lost colonies typically will restock with packaged colonies purchased from suppliers," Frazier said. "But because these packages are less populated, they are less effective pollination units than overwintered colonies."

If warm, sunny weather prevails in growing areas during May, native pollinators—such as bumble bees and solitary bee species—may take up some of the slack. But wild bee populations have also been reduced in recent years by pesticide use and loss of habitat due to development.

To help growers find needed pollination services, Penn State's entomology department compiled a list of beekeepers with hives to rent. The list is available through Penn State Cooperative Extension county offices. Penn State researchers also are investigating various methods for controlling parasitic mites, as well as studying how mites actually kill bees in hopes of developing new control strategies.

In the meantime, beekeepers can learn the latest recommended management practices by attending the Penn State-sponsored short course titled "The Changing Fundamentals of Beekeeping." The course will take place May 29-31 in and near the Agricultural Sciences and Industries Building on the University Park Campus.

The course will address mites and diseases, honey bee behavior, computer decision-making aids and on-line information sources, honey crops and other topics. An individual registration fee of $90 covers parking and a reception.

To register or for more information, write the Office of Conferences and Short Courses, 306 Ag Administration Building, University Park, PA 16802-2601, (814) 865-8301.

Rural Youth To Get Taste Of State Government

ALBANY, N.Y. — More than 100 high school juniors from 35 counties will come to Albany on May 14-15 for New York Farm Bureau's 23rd annual Governmental Awareness Institute.

According to Mark F. Emery, NYFB's director of communications, "Our animal institute on state government offers students an upclose view of their government in action. Farm Bureau believes the best way to get rural people involved in the lawmaking process is to bring them to where it happens and let them see how it really works."

Emery said, "This year's institute include talks by key legislators, meeting with individual assemblypersons for the students, a tour of the State Capitol, hearing about the role of the Department of Ag and Markets, and sessions on lobbying and the role of the media. They'll also hear about how they, as citizens, can get involved and play a three-hour computer game that lets them 'be a lawmaker' for a term and then try to get re-elected."

He said, "We've contacted the Governor and hope we can spend a few moments with the students as he did last year."

This year's presenters include State Senate Majority Leader Joseph Bruno; State Assemblyman Bill Magee; Ag and Markets Commissioner Dr. Donald Davidsen; Robert Bellariore, director of special projects and former press secretary to the Governor; Rex Smith, managing editor/news for the Albany Times Union; John Boltz, John Boltz Consulting; NYFB Administrator Tim Buskey; Carl DeMatteo, assistant director, political education/NLAP, American FB Fed.; Mark F. Emery, NYFB's director of communications; Randall T. Sawyer, NYFB's senior associate director of commuications; Jeff Martin, a Madison County dairy farmer and NYFB's state membership chairman; and Christine Nellis, a Montgomery County dairy farmer and a member of the NYFB state board of directors.

Mid-Atlantic Brown Swiss Calf Sale Held

FREDERICK, MD — Another successful chapter was written in Maryland, as the 22nd Annual Mid-Atlantic Brown Swiss Calf Sale set a record high average of $1538 on 29 calves — the highest in sale history! This popular sale has gained quite a track record for show quality animals, Bellringers, and even All-American nominations and winners. The sale also offers top-pedigreed calves combined with good type that interest the investment and merchandising buyer. Sponsored by the Maryland Brown Swiss Association, this sale was recently held at the Swiss Association, this sale was recently held at the Frederick Fairgrounds.

Headlining this year's sale was no exception to quality calves, depth of pedigree, and the combination of both on several consignments. "This was the best group of calves ever offered at the Mid-Atlantic Brown Swiss Calf Sale, some of the best genetics offered in the country," said Cindy Warner, Sale Manager. "Besides good calves, the sale also featured and sold outstanding embryo packages from leading cow families and breed greats on a national caliber level to take the breeder into the 21st century," said Warner. There were (6) embryo packages consisting of three #1 frozen embryos that sold for an average of $1240. The highest package sold for $925 each, which totalled $2775. They were Jetways out of the Top Acres Ray Peggy cow, "2E," National Total Performance winner just like her mother, Priscilla, and a sister to the #1 sire Top Acres Dotson Prophet. They were consigned by Wayne Sliker, St. Paris, OH and sold to Dan Gilbert, Brooklyn, WI.

Bidding was brisk on the headliners, and steady on all the calves as they paraded through the sale ring. There was a real energy among a large crowd of people from several states, as they previewed the calves before the sale. Starting off the sale with a bang of bidding, and topping the sale at $3750 was Towpath Simon Lucy — a big and correct September calf who was just named the Jr. Champion at the New York Spring Show held in Syracuse. Besides this impressive win, the pedigree is deep with quality and production going back to the famous Vine Valley Paul Luann cow, "5E" Elite-Towpath Pretus Lucy, "VG-88," and was Reserve Grand Champion at the 1993 New York State Fair. The granddam is "3E" with six records over 20,000m and better up to 25,000m. This outstanding consignment came from Gordon and Kathy DeMay, Palmyra, NY. She sold to the Lucy Syndicate of Chris Birch, Jody Bell, and Jeff Stull, White Hall, MD.

The second high-selling calf at $2600 was also a "Blue-Ribbon" winner. Old Mill Jetway Fancy, a stylish December calf recently won the winer calf class at the Ohio Spring Spectacular in Columbus. She comes from a family of winners in the Allen Bassler herd. Her dam was a Profiteer, and the Granddam is Old Mill Dimples, "VG-85" with 25,643m, and the 3rd dam is Sand Rock G Dottie "4E," one of Allen's best developed brood cows. She was consigned by Bill and Cindy Warner, Frederick, MD, and was purchased by Joshua Hushon of Brothers Three Swiss, Delta, PA.

Selling for $2400 as the third high selling animal was Victory Acres Jet Vale ET, a September Jetway with a solid maternal line and a promising future. Her dam is Victory Acres Emory Vanna "2E" with high production and components, and already has 3 sons in A.I. This builds on a strong pedigree with merchandising opportunities for the future. She was the consignment of Dean and Brenda Daubert, McElhattan, PA, and sold to Steve Watts, OH.

Also selling for $2400 was Top Acres Peerless Sabrell, another outstanding September calf. This pedigree combines (2) of the most successful reproductive families of the breed — with the Priscilla family on the topside, and Top Acres Stretchy Snowbird on the bottomside. Consigned by Wayne Sliker, St. Paris, OH, she was purchased by Laura Sigler, Middletown, MD. Watch for this one to be on the show circuit in 1996.

There were four calves selling for fifth high at $2000. The top selling March calf sold for $2000 and was consigned by Kenneth Lohr, Stoystown, PA. Known for breeding winners at Lake Lane Farm, Lake Lane Trixie was bought by Bruce Bassler, Emmitsburg, MD.

Fourteen more calves commanded a price of a $1000 or more as they went through the sale ring. "We continue to be pleased with the quality of consignments received year after year. It's been a real tribute to the sale and its excellent reputation for animals sold, and then go on to do well for the buyers." The quality consignments merited good prices and calves went to states of Pennsylvania, Indiana, Ohio, Florida, Iowa, Kentucky, Virginia, New Jersey, as well as to in-state Marylanders. "We had another great sale and I believe there is a tremendous future for the Brown Swiss breed as indicated by the interest and support of the buyers the Mid-Atlantic Brown Swiss here today," said Scott Hood, President of the Maryland Brown Swiss Association. "The demand for Brown Swiss is on the rise and the Mid-Atlantic Calf Sale is the place to get a good one! Maryland continues to show its commitment to the betterment and advancement of the breed in hosting this popular and successful calf sale in its 22nd year." Highlights of the sale were the eight September calves sold for an average of $2162.50; four June calves sold for an average of $1687.50; six December calves sold for an average of $1418; and five March calves averaged $1178.

The Mid-Atlantic Production & Type Sale, sponsored by Allen Bassler was held on Friday evening. There were a few bred heifers, and the remainder were lactating cows — a good opportunity for buyers to invest in older animals with solid type. Topping the sale was Pheasant Ridge Marie "VG-89" who sold fresh with an impressive show ring record. She sold for $3700 to the Marie Syndicate, PA. There were 30 animals sold for an average of $1224.

All calves sold are entered in Futurity with the first payment made by the Maryland Association. The third annual Futurity will be held on Sunday, September 1, 1996 during the Maryland State Fair in Timonium, MD. All breeders are welcome, and animals are now being accepted for the 1998 Futurity. For more information, contact Cindy Warner at (301) 371-5206.

Denny Remsburg was the auctioneer for the sale, while Wayne Sliker read pedigrees. The Brown Swiss Jrs. helped around the ring and also presented the animals. Ringmen were Robert Valentine and Howard Fleming. The fitting crew consisted of David Lenhart, Mark Valentine, and Robert Sigler. Supervising the barn responsibilities were Mike Birch, Robert Valentine, and Howard Fleming. The Sale committee was Harold Long, Howard Fleming, Scott Hood, Dennis Smith, and Cindy Warner. The Sale is sponsored by the Maryland Brown Swiss Association and will be held next year on Saturday, April 26, 1997, Frederick Fairgrounds. Mark your calendar now and watch this publication for more information.

Celery Grower Celebrity For Day, Provider For Season

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

EAST PETERSBURG (Lancaster Co.) — Whenever Merv Shenk tells people that he's a celery farmer, people ask questions. Recently, curiosity about celery farmers netted him $1,000 and a television appearance on a national game show.

His claim to fame began while visiting his sister in California. She took Merv and his wife Angie to watch the taping of the game show, "The Price Is Right."

According to Shenk, nine people are selected from an audience of about 600 to compete in the show. As each guest walks through the door, he or she is asked a question. Shenk was asked his occupation. When he answered, "celery farmer," the host asked, "How many stalks do you raise a year?"

Shenk snapped back 400,000. Because Shenk was the only person asked more than one question, the crowd around him predicted he'd be asked to compete on the show. They were right. Shenk's name was called. He ended up winning $1,000, a television, and a bit of fame when the show was aired several weeks ago.

That was when the nation learned about celery farming.

Hodecker's Celery is no ordinary celery.

"The difference between our celery and that sold in supermarkets is like comparing oranges to apples," Shenk said.

In search of select inner hearts of the celery, the Shenks throw away more celery than they sell to customers. A small portion of the outer ribs are sold for soup but most is discarded on the compost pile.

Hodecker celery has no waste for customers because only the inner, tender part of the celery is sold.

Surprising to most people is that celery continues to grow for six to eight weeks after it is harvested. This is the secret of the Hodecker celery. It is kept cool and in the dark to produce tender, flavorful inner ribs. About half of the outer ribs are discarded before the celery is sold.

Few commercial growers offer what is more commonly known as bleached celery. Angie said that the concept for bleached celery probably had its beginnings when refrigeration was not available and families stored their vegetables in trenches for wintering. People grew to love the tender, sweet taste of the celery.

Over the years, many farmers dropped celery growing because of its labor intensity, but Jay Hodecker realized there was a market for it. Previously his family had a diversified produce farm, but in the 1950s, Hodecker began specializing in homegrown celery. The celery was sold at a roadside stand and at several local markets.

In 1985, Jay Hodecker died of cancer. Because family members did not want to take over the celery business, Shenk bought the business from the family. For the first nine years after Hodecker's death, Shenk leased the buildings on the Hodecker farm.

"But the rent was similar to commercial rent," Shenk said of the Hodecker farm located along heavily traveled Route 72.

In 1990, Shenk purchased seven acres of ground along Route 72, intending to set up a farm market. Then he heard that the former Northrup King research farm was for rent. In 1994, the Shenks leased the 52-acre farm for a five-year term. Although the Shenks changed locations, they retained the Hodecker's Celery name. On the farm on which they now live, Shenk grows 30 acres of soybeans, 10 acres of wheat, and 15 acres of celery.

The straw and wheat is used to cover the celery in trenches and the remainder is sold.

The move to a new location resulted in a loss of 25 percent of the retail business, but Shenk made up the difference by supplying celery to a local supermarket.

In addition to celery, Florida citrus fruit is purchased by truckloads and sold from the store housed in one of the buildings on the farm property.

"From April through February, the work never gets done," Shenk said.

The Shenks begin sowing seed beds in April. Overhead sprinklers are used to provide frost protection and irrigation.

The seedlings are transplanted in the fields during June and July. Plants are planted four rows at a time and then irrigated.

In late August, the celery is ready to bleach.

Black plastic around the plants keeps out sunlight and allows the white hearts to grow.

Harvesting begins in September. Outer stalks and remaining roots are trimmed off. The discarded celery is moved by convey-

Although the celery farm has been moved to a new location, the Shenks have retained the Hodecker Celery Farm name.

The Shenks trim and wash the celery before selling so that only the most tender, perfect stalks are sold and customers have no waste.

Angie and Merv Shenk sell celery, citrus fruit and other produce from their store on the farm.

The Shenks began sowing seed beds in April. The seedlings will be transplanted in the fields during June and July.

"Celery has no personality. The goats are our therapy," Shenk said of the pigmy goats they raise.

or belt to an outdoor compost pile and later spread with a manure spreader on the fields.

Celery is washed, trimmed for market, and washed again.

In late October, trenches are dug in order to store the celery for the winter. The celery is cut off with half the root intact and packed into the 15-inch wide trenches at a 12-inch depth. This allows the celery to continue growing in an upright position.

Eight to 10 rows of celery are buried in each trench.

Trenches are covered with paper, straw, and plastic.

Shenk grew up on a Manheim beef, veal, and potato farm. After graduating from Lancaster Mennonite High School, Shenk started working at Reist Seed Company running a seed cleaning machine. He also took a part-time job trenching and trimming celery at the Hodecker Celery Farm, which later evolved into a full-time job.

Most customers are local, but the Shenks ship large amounts outside the area, and some regular customers buy large amounts to resell outside the area.

Taste-wise, celery is at its peak between November and Christmas.

Shenk likes the seasonal work that celery affords. He said, "The amount invested in equipment is low compared to most farming operations. Several tractors are used to spray and irrigate the fields. Fungicides are used to prevent blight. Insecticides eliminate infestations of the tarnished plant bug and the cabbage looper.

The most difficult part of raising celery is the uncertainy of the weather. Celery needs lots of water during the growing season. Irrigation is done from a well on the farm and from a pond. The Shenks try to limit irrigating to morning and evening waterings, but drought conditions warrant more.

Because cold water can shock celery plants, Shenk said, "For warmer water, we pump the water out of the well into the pond before irrigating."

While drip irrigation sounds appealing, Shenk said that they chose a sprayer system because aluminum pipes last 50 years or more compared to drip hoses which need to be replaced constantly.

In the winter, cold weather is needed to keep the celery stored in the trenches from rotting.

The Shenks were able to provide homegrown celery through March. But digging the celery out of the trenches during the blizzard was no easy feat. The ice had compacted and had to be broken with digging irons.

During planting time, six teens are hired temporarily to help transplant the celery in the fields. The Shenks also sell about 200,000 seedlings to other celery growers. They purchase seed because it's an 18-month process to harvest seed in the greenhouse.

After trying several different brands, the Shenks prefer to grow only Penn-Crisp, which was developed by Penn State.

"We tried others, but Penn-Crisp has the best flavor and shorter stalks than other varieties," he said.

The fields are cultivated three or four times annually, thistles are hand hoed, and morning glories are hand pulled.

"I like the fieldwork because I get my exercise and tan at the same time," Angie said.

Angie grew up on a hobby farm in Syracuse, N.Y. When Angie's sister attended Millersville University, her dad transported her back and forth during breaks.

"Whenever we passed Hodecker's Celery Farm, my dad would say, 'I wonder what's growing in those fields. I can't figure it out,'" Angie said.

Little did they suspect that someday Angie would marry the guy that farmed those fields and work side by side with him.

"She was the only girl I ever dated that took an interest in my work," Shenk said with obvious satisfaction that his enthusiasm for celery farming is completely shared by his wife.

Angie was graduated from Cornell University with a degree in food science.

"During spring and Christmas break, I'd help him trim or trench the celery while my friends lay on the beach. They couldn't understand it."

Because she helped with all aspects of celery growing before marriage, she knew exactly what being married to a celery farmer entailed. Four years later, she said, she loves staying home and working on the farm. Her main responsibilities are working in the store — they sell celery and citrus fruits from a building on the farm — planting celery and helping move irrigation pipes.

"It's a demanding job physically," said Shenk. "We never have trouble sleeping."

Shenk has a reputation for falling asleep while visiting relatives. He said, "Unfortunately our busiest season is during the holidays, which is also the time to visit with relatives. After a big holiday dinner, I can't seem to stay awake."

Although the holidays are hectic, the Shenks look forward to the seasonal break.

But in March, the couple pack their bags. Their travels have taken them on several trips to Europe and the West Coast.

Shenk also enjoys going to farm sales during the slower months of February through April.

The Shenks are members of Manheim Young Farmers Association and of the Lancaster County Farm Bureau.

Angie is a member of the Society of Farm Women #27, where she has been treasurer for the last two years. She is also a Sunday school teacher and coordinator and prepares the church bulletins. Angie likes to sew, garden and raise pigmy goats.

"They're stress relievers," Angie said of the newly-born triplets and twins, which she will sell.

"Celery has no personality. The goats are our therapy," her husband said.

The Shenks previously had sheep to keep the grass mowed, but became intrigued with pigmy goats while traveling in Holland. They find the pigmy goats more appealing for raising than sheep.

The couple also enjoy bicycling and walking.

"We often walked around the block until I learned it was five miles around," Angie said.

If you ever see a license plate with the letters CELERY, it's the Shenks.

In May 1992, the Shenks began buying Merv's parents' farm on Esbenshade Road in Manheim. The Shenks plan to continue to grow celery and to operate the bed and breakfast that Shenk's mother established on the farm. While Angie was growing up, her parents operated a motel. "So I'm used to hospitality and cleaning motel rooms," she said.

The Shenks' Farm and store, under the logo Hodecker Celery Farm, is located near East Petersburg on Lititz Road ¼ mile off Route 72. Store hours are 9-5 Monday through Friday, and 9-2 on Saturday. Shenk also has a stand at Central Market and at Root's Country Market. Call (717) 898-8414 for more information.

Identify Landscape Problems

Your favorite plant suddenly wilts or shows spring dieback. How do you find out what caused the problem?

Treat it like a physician looking for visual clues and symptoms. Unlike physicians who can ask their patients where it hurts, a plant diagnostician must rely on what is visibly damaged.

Seasonal variations in plant growth habit, leaf formation and coloration is often confused with a disease problem. Since plant types vary and plants change from season to season, it is important to know what a healthy plant should look like.

Examine the plant thoroughly, and assess its background and its surrounding. Look closely at the leaves, stems and roots. Then compare what you see to a healthy plant. Do you see any differences?

Where the plant grows in the landscape may play an important role in the diagnosis. Avoid putting plants in an unsuitable environment like poor soil. Yews, for example, are hardy landscape plants, but they cannot tolerate wet soil conditions. If a yew starts to decline, soil moisture is one of the first things to check. See if the plant is near a downspout or is growing in compacted, poorly drained soil.

The final step in diagnosis is identifying the cause and taking preventive action. Ask yourself, is the problem contagious? Is it likely to respond to treatment? Is the problem preventable?

Contact your Penn State Cooperative Extension office to receive help in diagnosing plant problems. There, you can get publications and talk with Master Gardeners or Extension agents, many of whom are familiar with common plant problems in your area. Penn State also has disease and insect identification laboratories to confirm your diagnosis.

Look now for European pine sawflies hatching on 2-3 needled pine trees. The ¼ -inch long larvae are dark-green with shiny black heads. Larvae feed by consuming the top surface of the needles. Eventually, they eat the entire needle, causing spotty defoliation. Larvae can be suppressed by cutting-out infested branches or spot treating with a registered materials.

Snow damage remains a widespread problem. Tree limbs are now starting to die and will eventually have to be removed from the trees. Limbs that have not totally separated from the trunk may discolor slowly and may confuse gardeners looking for a cause of the decline. Check limb attachment to be sure snow damage is not the cause before suspecting disease or insect damage.

Any questions regarding the above article can be addressed to Tom Becker, Penn State Cooperative Extension at (717) 840-8408.

Three-Day Show Features Antique Engines, Tractors, Toys

KEMPTON (Berks Co.) — The Antique Engine, Tractor and Toy Club, inc. will hold its 11th Annual Show on May 31, June 1 and 2. This show will be held at the Kempton Community Center located in Berks County, near intersection of Route 143 and Route 737, north of I-78. On Friday, setup will begin at 8 a.m., with exhibitors running engines, tractors and machinery all three days. New this year will be pedal car races for children on Saturday and Sunday afternoon , and music by "The Majestics" on Saturday from 5:30 p.m. to 8:30 p.m.

On Saturday the slow engine contest and slow tractor race will be held at 11 a.m. followed by the antique tractor parade at noon. At 1 p.m. the teeter-totter contest will be held followed by the antique tractor pulls at 2 p.m. To qualify for the antique tractor pulls, the tractor must have been assembled and sold before 1960, and it may not be modified. Following the antique pull, the Pennsylvania Tractor Pullers Association will conduct their pulls.

Sunday morning at 11 a.m. there will again be a Slow Engine contest (winning engines from the previous day may not compete), plus the Barrel Roll contest will also be held at 11 a.m. At noon the antique tractor parade will be taking place, followed at 1 p.m. by the Kiddie tractor pull and antique tractor blindfold driving contest. Also starting at 1 p.m. the Pennsylvania Tractor Pullers Association will be holding tractor and 4-wheel drive truck pulls.

Flea market, crafts and vendors spaces will be available for the duration of the show. Antique car and truck owners or clubs are invited to exhibit. Overnight, self-contained camping will be permitted. Refreshments and bake sale items will be available. Exhibitors will be permitted to unload and park their vehicles next to their antique engine display.

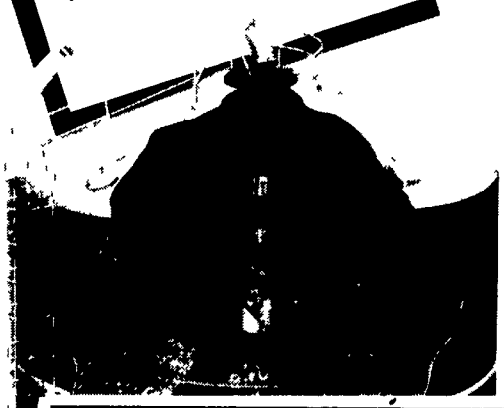
A parking donation of $2 per car will be requested at the gate. No alcoholic beverages will be allowed upon the show grounds. For more information about the show or flea market space contact David Semmel, Show Secretary, at 5731 Paradise Road, Slatington, PA 18080 or call him at (610) 767-4768. Tractor pullers can contact Gerald F. Miller, Penna. Tractor Pullers Assoc., 6432 Abbey Road, Wind Gap, PA 18091 or call (610) 863-8060.

B.U.C.S. OWNER'S REPORT #58

The Word Is Out!

B.U.C.S. Owner's Report
- ✔ Increased Storage Capacity
- ✔ Better Feed Quality
- ✔ Faster Unloading
- ✔ Lower Maintenance

The Jamesway Big Jim® B.U.C.S.™ (BOTTOM UNLOADING CONVERSION SYSTEM) is making big news!



Reports are coming in from B.U.C.S. owners everywhere. And they're reporting that their systems are delivering increased storage capacity, higher quality feed, faster unloading and reduced maintenance versus their old systems. Even in silos that had been retired! But don't take our word for it. Here's what your neighbor has to say about their B.U.C.S. System!

OWNER'S REPORT #58

"We have a 30' x 100' poured concrete drive-thru silo and like the rate of delivery compared to a blower type unloader. And we don't have to climb up and open doors and lower the discharge. It's easier to change from fill to feed and back."

Savoring The Tastes Of Home

Mother's Day is tomorrow. It's a time to recall all those good things your mother has done and is doing for you. Mothers do much more than cook meals, but let's face it, many associate good cooking with mother.

As a tribute to mothers, readers have sent recipes they fondly associate as their mothers' specialties. Most have written a few sentences about their mothers.

As you read these mementos, you're sure to develop a craving to try some of these recipes and to savor the memory of your own taste of home.

MOM'S BEAN CASSEROLE

2 pounds ground beef
6 slices bacon, chopped
1 medium onion, chopped
1 can green beans, drained
1 can wax beans, drained
1 can kidney beans, rinsed and drained
1 can garbanzo beans, rinsed and drained
1 large can baked beans (not pork & beans)
1 tablespoon vinegar
1 teaspoon mustard
½ cup ketchup
½ cup brown sugar
1 teaspoon salt

Brown beef, bacon, onions; drain. Mix with remaining ingredients. Bake at 350 degrees in a 9x13-inch pan for 45 minutes or until heated.

Our mom (Victoria Wollard) is the greatest ever. There are seven of us with ages ranging from 34-53. Mom has given all of us as much love as anyone ever could. Her family is her life and so many times she has put her own needs aside in order to make sure her family has the things they need. It is great when all of us can be together. There is so much laughter and happiness. We know that Mom is pleased. Thanks Mom for all your love and support. We couldn't have done it without you. We love you.

FRIED TOMATOES

Slice some not too ripe tomatoes
Dip in beaten egg, then in bread crumbs. Fry in oil or butter.

I remember mother making these. We sprinkled a little vinegar over them when we ate them.

My mother was the type of cook who didn't measure anything. So each of her daughters have learned to cook the same way and like hers, ours turn out good also.

Mother was called to the Lord last October and she is really missed. She reached the age of 90 years.

At the age of 85 years, I asked her to write down some of her recipes. The one above was one of my favorites along with her raisin pie.

RHUBARB PIE

2 cups diced rhubarb
2 eggs
1 cup sugar
2 tablespoons flour

Beat eggs, sugar, and flour, add rhubarb. Put into a 9-inch unbaked pie shell. Top with ½ -inch strip making lattice work from pie dough. Bake at 375 degrees for one hour. Makes one 9-inch pie.

Rhubarb pie is a favorite family recipe. It's a spring tradition! My mother, Ellen Dell of Mapleton Depot, is always cooking. She allowed her children and now her grandchildren to help in whatever it is she is making.

MOM'S BUTTERSCOTCH PIE

1 cup brown sugar
¼ cup butter
2 cups milk
2 eggs
2 tablespoons flour
2 teaspoons vanilla

Cook sugar, butter, and water into a syrup at 232 degree. Beat egg yolks with a little salt; add flour and milk. Pour gradually boiling mixture over this. Return to heat and cook until thick, stirring constantly, flavor and pour into baked pie crust; top with meringue made with egg whites and ½ cup brown sugar. Serve cold.

My husband's mom, Thena Hildred, made this pie often and needless to say it is delicious. She passed away May 31, 1981, at the age of 87. She was mother to three daughters and one son and was loved very much.

MOCK TURKEY

1 loaf stale bread
1 quart milk
1 carrot, grated
2 onions, minced
2 stalks celery, chopped
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 pound ground sausage
1 teaspoon poultry seasoning
1 egg, beaten

Tear bread apart and moisten with warm milk. Add meat, chopped vegetables, seasoning, and other ingredients. Mix together well, and place in buttered baking dish. Bake at 350 degrees for 1½ hours. Serves 6-8.

This is one of my favorite dishes that my mother makes. It was a hearty meal after a hard day's work outside on the farm. We were a family of mostly girls, who received an education in all aspects of farm work as well as housework. And I still love it outdoors best! Just like my mother!

POTATO CASSEROLE

8-10 large potatoes, peeled and sliced
Add 2 cans mushroom soup, not diluted
1 cup sour cream
1 onion, minced
1 cup shredded cheese
1 teaspoon salt
½ cup mayonnaise

Mix and put into baking dish. Cover with grated cheddar. Bake at 350 degrees until heated through.

My wife's name is Miriam Weaver. She is a good cook, homemaker, mother and grandmother. She loves to travel and cook for the family.

Raymond and Anna Mary Wenger are lauded for their many talents by their children.

HAM ROLL SURPRISE

16 slices ham
3-4 cups bread filling
Cooked turkey or chicken
Buttered bread crumbs
Grated Swiss cheese
1 quart turkey or chicken gravy

Spread filling on each ham slice and roll up. Place in a 9x13-inch pan. Fill in with turkey or chicken. Pour gravy over everything. Cover with bread crumbs and sprinkle with grated cheese. Bake for one hour at 350 degrees.

Our mother's name is Anna Mary Wenger. She has many talents including hosting, catering, and making a delicious meal. She and her husband, Raymond, have taught us, her children, kitchen techniques, family and Christian values. We have all heard her say, "This too shall pass."

Happy Mothers Day, Mother!

NAPOLEON CREMES

½ cup butter
¼ cup sugar
¼ cup cocoa
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 egg, slightly beaten
2 cups graham cracker crumbs
1 cup flaked coconut
½ cup butter
3 tablespoons milk
3¾ ounce package vanilla instant pudding mix
2 cups confectioners' sugar
6-ounce package semi-sweet chocolate bits
2 tablespoons butter

Combine first four ingredients in top of double boiler. Cook over simmering water until butter melts. Stir in egg. Cook and stir until mixture is thick about 3 minutes. Blend in crumbs and coconut. Press into buttered 9-inch square pan. Chill.

Cream a half cup butter well. Stir in milk, pudding mix, and sugar. Beat until fluffy. Spread evenly over crust. Chill until firm.

Melt chocolate bits and butter over simmering water in top of double boiler. Cool. Spread over pudding layer. Chill. Cut into bars as needed. Will keep months if well wrapped and cut in refrigerator.

CHICKEN AND DRESSING CASSEROLE

1 large chicken
8 cups bread, cubed
¾ cup chopped celery
½ cup chopped onion
½ cup butter
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon poultry seasoning
Dash pepper
1 can cream of chicken soup

Roast chicken; remove meat from bones and cube. Saute celery and onion in butter; add to prepared bread crumbs and toss with seasonings. Place meat in greased, flat baking dish; cover with soup and spread bread crumbs on top. Bake at 350 degrees for 20-25 minutes.

We will always be grateful to our mother for creating many good times in our childhood.

Every summer we would raise 50 chickens. It was a fun learning experience for us children. I can still remember the neighbor boy watching our butchering process and saying, "I don't feel too well."

Grandchildren Daren, 6; Charity, 3; Danita, 1½ ; and Ethan, 8 weeks, think Grandma is very special.

PEARL'S MACARONI SALAD

2 cups cooked macaroni
1½ cup diced celery
2 hard boiled eggs
2 tablespoons sweet pickle relish

Dressing:

2 tablespoons mustard
¾ cup sugar
¼ cup vinegar
¾ cup mayonnaise
2 tablespoons pickle juice
¾ cup cream

Mix dressing ingredients together and pour over macaroni mixture.

My mother is Pearl Lebo. She is 85 years old and loves to cook and bake. She lives in Blandon and I am her only daughter. This mixture is real, real good.

LOVE CAKE FOR MOTHER

1 can of obedience
Several pounds of affection
1 pint of neatness
Some holiday, birthday, and every day surprises
1 can of running errands (willing brand)
1 box of powdered "Get Up When I Should"
1 bottle of "Keep Sunny All Day Long"
1 can of pure thoughfulness.

Mix well. Bake in a hearty, warm oven and serve to Mother every day. She ought to have it in big slices.

MARY HARTMAN'S FAVORITE SUGAR COOKIES

5 eggs
2 cups sugar
1 cup shortening
1 tablespoon vanilla

Cream together sugar, shortening, and vanilla.

5 cups flour
1 teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons baking soda
2 teaspoons cream of tarter

Sift above ingredients and add to creamed mixture alternately with the following:

1 cup thick sour cream

Drop on cookie sheet and press with greased bottom of glass dipped in sugar. Bake at 400 degrees for 10 minutes. Makes 5 dozen large cakes.

Mother is 80 years old. She hooks rugs of wool hooked through burlap. She has made and sold more than 600 clowns. Today I found binding for her. She's anxious now to crochet it into a rug. Her hands are busy night and day.

She is always surrounded with people — seven children, nine grandchildren, and eight great grandchildren.

ANSWER — Diane McDonald, Langhorne, wanted a recipe for potato stuffing. Thanks to Anna Joyce Martin, East Earl, for sending a recipe.

Potato Stuffing Casserole

¼ cup chopped celery
1 onion, chopped
4 tablespoons butter, divided
3 slices bread cubed
4 to 5 large potatoes, peeled, cooked, mashed ¼ cup chopped fresh parsley
½ tesapoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 cup hot milk
1 egg, beaten
Additional parsley

In a medium skillet, saute celery and onion in 2 tablespoon butter until tender. Add bread cubes and stir until lightly browned. Stir in potatoes, parsley, salt and pepper. Spoon into greased 1½ -quart baking dish. Dot with remaining butter. Bake at 350 degrees, uncoved, for 30-40 minutes or until lightly browned. Garnish with additional parsley. Yields 6 to 8 servings.

ANSWER — Ike Rueker, Smithville, N.J., wanted a recipe for old-fashioned English toffee candy coated with chocolate and sprinkled with nuts. Thanks to Lisa Sparr, Upper Falls, Md., for sending a recipe.

Old-Fashioned Pralines

2 cups coarsely chopped pecans
1 cup sugar
1 cup firmly packed brown sugar
¾ cup buttermilk
2 tablespoons butter
⅛ teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon vanilla extract
½ teaspoon baking soda

Butter the sides of a large heavy saucepan. Combine first six ingredients in prepared pan; cook over low heat, stirring gently, until sugar dissolves.

Bring to a boil over medium heat; cover and cook 2 to 3 minutes to wash down sugar crystals from sides of pan. Uncover and cook, stirring constantly, until mixture reaches soft ball stage or candy thermometer registers 234 degreees. Remove from heat and stir in vanilla and baking soda. Beat with a wooden spoon just until mixture begins to thicken.

Working rapidly, drop mixture by tablespoonfuls onto greased wax paper, let stand until firm.

Store in airtight container at room temperature. Yield: 1½ -2 dozen.

ANSWER — Mrs. Nolt, Lancaster County, wanted a recipe similar to saltine crackers. Thanks to K. Harman from Virginia for sending a recipe for communion bread, which she writes is similar to crackers.

Communion Bread

4 cups flour
¼ cup sugar
¾ teaspoon salt
¾ cup butter
¾ cup rich milk (evaporated or light cream)

Mix together flour, sugar, and salt. Reserve ¾ cup of the mixture. Cut butter into remaining mixture until crumbly. Mix milk with reserved dry mixture to make a batter. Add to dry, crumbly mixture, tossing with a fork until moist. Shape into a ball. Roll out to thickness for pie dough not more than ¼ -inch thickness. Cut into strips with pizza cutter or pierce with fork as for crackers. Place on ungreased baking sheet. Bake at 425 degrees until lightly browned on the bottom.

ANSWER — Joyce Bachman, Jonestown, wanted to know how to make black diamond steaks. Thanks to Ruth Scholl, Mt. Aetna, for sending this recipe.

Black Diamond Steaks

Marinade:
1 cup oil
1 cup red wine
½ teaspoon oregano
¼ teaspoon basil
1 clove garlic, crushed
4-6 venison or beef steaks

Blend all marinade ingredients in blender or food processor. Cover steaks with marinade and refrigerate.

Turn twice a day for 4 to 6 days. Cook, grill, broil or fry according to desired method.

ANSWER — Anna Payne, Oxford, wrote that as a fundraiser each year, her organization sells Easter candy. She wanted a recipe for a good buttercream egg to sell next year. Thanks to Anna Martin, Denver, for sending a recipe.

Butter Cream Eggs

½ cup butter
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 teaspoon salt
⅔ cup sweetened condensed milk
6 cups confectioner's sugar

Cream together vanilla, butter, and salt. Blend in milk. Gradually add sugar. Blend until very stiff. Turn onto clean board and knead in remaining sugar. Dough should be smooth, not sticky. Flavor as desired and shape into eggs. Refrigerate several hours or overnight. Dip into chocolate. Yields 24 medium eggs.

Prepare the first three flavors using 1 cup hot and ½ cup cold water for each flavor. Pour into separate 8- or 9-inch pans. Chill. Meanwhile, mix pineapple juice, sugar, and heat until sugar dissolves. Remove from heat and dissolve raspberry Jell-O. Add ½ cup cold water. Chill until syrupy. Combine milk, vanilla, and Dream Whip in a bowl — beat until it forms soft peaks. Fold into syrup Jell-O. Cut the three pans of firm Jell-O into ½ -inch cubes.

Fold them into raspberry Jell-O. Chill eight hours and serve.

My mother would make this dessert many times for company. I always thought it was such a pretty dessert and good to eat too. My mother was and is to this day a great cook. Holiday meals are scrumptious — thanks mother for sharing your talent with me.

MOTHER'S GREEN TOMATO PIE

3 cups sliced green tomatoes (do not peel)
2 cups chopped apples
1 cup raisins, soaked in hot water and well drained
⅔ cup brown sugar
⅓ cup granulated sugar
1 teaspoon cinnamon
3 tablespoons flour
2 tablespoons butter

Slice tomatoes really thin. Put all ingredients into a large bowl and mix together. Pour mixture into pie crust, place top crust on top. Bake in 425 degree oven for 60 minutes.

This pie tastes similar to the green tomato mince-meat that my mother also made.

Mother passed away Sept. 29, 1983, at the age of 78. She was mother to six daughters and two sons. She was a dear person and we loved her very much. Her name was Myrtha Kelley.

Consuming Thoughts

Canned foods — whether in tins or in glass jars — will keep practically forever, right? Wrong!

Commercial caning is done under tightly controlled conditions — careful sanitation, just the right heat and timing — but there are still limits to how long it will preserve food.

Why? There are several factors that limit the shelf-life of canned foods. First, cans can rust over time. When rust is deep enough, tiny holes open in the can that may let spoilage agents in. Shipping accidents — where cans fall or are crushed — also cause container problems.

Then, there's can corrosion. In all foods, but especially in high-acid foods like canned tomatoes, the food continually reacts chemically with the metal container. Over several years, this can cause taste and texture changes, and eventually lower the nutritional value of the food.

High temperatures (over 100 degrees F.) are harmful to canned goods too. The risk of spoilage jumps sharply as storage temperatures rise. In fact, canned goods designed for use in the tropics are specially manufactured.

Accidentally frozen canned goods left in a car or basement in subzero temperatures can present health problems. If the cans are merely swollen — and you're sure the swelling was caused by freezing — thoroughly cook the contents right away. You can eat or refreeze the cooked food. But if the seams have rusted or burst, throw out the cans.

When extremely rare, botulism is the worst problem you can encounter in canned goods. Never use food from containers that have the following potential signs of botulism such as leaking, bulginng or badly dented cans, cracked jars or jars with loose or bulging lids, canned food with a foul odor; or any container that spurts liquid when you open it. Don't even taste such food!

Seal the product in a plastic bag marked "Danger." To avoid leakage, sit it on a paper plate. Refrigerate it on a high shelf, out of the reach of children. A health official may want to examine it later.

To use canned foods wisely, follow these rules:

Store canned foods in a cool, clean dry place. Temperatures below 85 degrees F. are best.

Canned Ham — Store it in the refrigerator for use within 6-9 months.

Low-acid canned goods — Store in the cabinet for 1-2years. Products: Canned meat and poultry, stews, vegetable soups, (except tomato), spaghetti (noodle and pasta) products, potatoes, corn, carrots, spinach, beans, beets, peas, pumpkin.

High-acid canned goods — Store in the cabinet for 12 - 18 months. Products: Juices — tomato, orange, lemon, lime, and grapefruit; tomatoes; grapefruit; pineapple; apples and apple products; mixed fruit; peaches; pears; plums; all berries; pickles; sauerkraut; and foods treated with vinegar-based sauces or dressings, like German potato salad and sauerbraten.

Boil all home-canned foods before serving — First bring the food to a rapid boil, lower the heat and continue boiling the food, covered, for a second period: 10 minutes for high-acid foods, and 20 minutes for low-acid foods — meat and poultry products, peas, beans, and corn.

Complete both boiling periods before tasting for quality or to add seasoning. But if a spoiled odor appears or the food is foaming or looks odd, throw it out without tasting.

Without Farmers We Wouldn't Eat

LINDA WILLIAMS
Bedford Co. Correspondent

Farmers hold the most important occupation in the world. Without them no one would be eating. In addition, there would be neither cotton nor wool with which to make clothing.

Children who live on farms should be very proud to be a part of such a vital part of the world.

When the United States was being settled, almost everyone farmed. If they didn't raise their own vegetables, fruits, chickens and cows, they didn't eat.

But, slowly, as our country developed, farming became more specialized. Those who liked to farm and were good at it, remained on the farms. Others chose to work as salespeople, doctors, teachers, artists, or whatever they were good at doing. They paid the farmer for growing animals and crops by buying food at the grocery stores or even directly from the farmer.

In those early days, farmers grew or raised milk cows, beef cows, chickens, eggs, sheep, grain, tomatoes, and corn, all on one farm.

Today, farmers are much more specialized. There are dairy farms, vegetable farms, orange farms, avocado farms, chicken farms, hog or pig farms, sheep farms, and even fish farms.

Pennsylvania has many dairy farms. But, there are also pig farms, beef farms, produce farms, fish farms, fruit farms, chicken farms, and sheep farms.

Over the next months, we hope to get you acquainted with some kids growing up on these various kinds of farms.

Heidi, Terri, and Holly have fun in the barn.

At the Spring International Red and White Dairy Show held in Maryland recently, first and second place in the showma ship contest, age 9 and under class, went to Robert ebler, 7, and his sister Shannon, 6, respectively. The sib gs are the children of Gene and Joanne Uebler of West Winfield, N.Y.

Dairy Farming

Amy, Heidi, and Holly Zembower live on a dairy farm in Bedford Valley.

There are three families of Zembowers residing in the three houses on the farm with a total of 10 children from ages one to 20.

All of them, except for the very youngest, have helped with milking and feeding chores for the more than 100 cows that also know the farm as home.

The Zembowers have more than 100 Holsteins. Amy, 12, helps with the milking. On alternate weekends and in the summer, she gets up at 3 a.m. to start her chores. During the school year, she helps after school.

Amy and Heidi, 9, have 4-H dairy projects. Their parents have given them calves which they feed and care for until they become adult cows. At this time, the cows have calves and soon the girls will have their own small herds.

The money the Zembower girls make from their own cows of from working on the farm will go into their college funds. Their little sister, Holly, 5, and cousin, Terri, 4, are looking forward to joining 4-H as soon as they are old enough to do so.

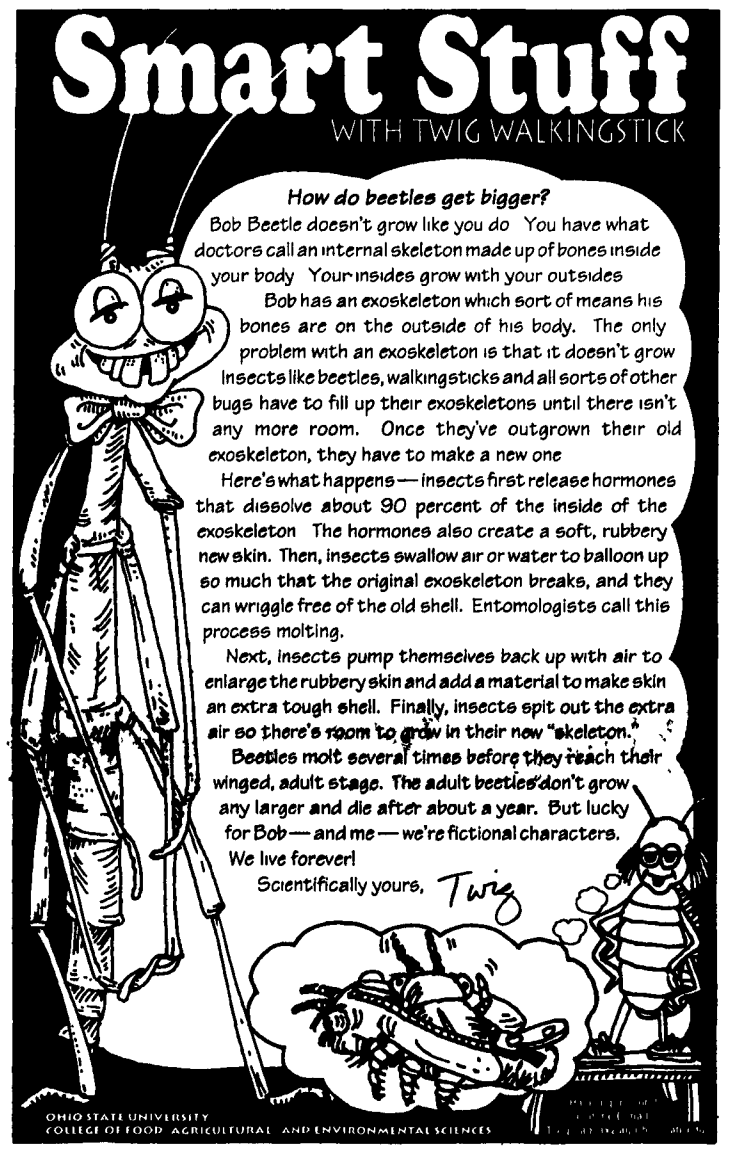
In August, Amy and Heather take their calves to the fair so they spend a lot of their summer vacation cleaning calf ears, trimming and polishing hooves, and teaching them to walk on a halther.

Last year Holly showed her calf in the pre 4-H show.

All of the Zembower children like living on a farm and especially like it when dad picks them up from school on a tractor to give them a ride to softball practice.

There are plenty of occasions for family get togethers with all of the cousins, aunts, and uncles, living so close.

In the summer there are softball games and picnics and in the winter, plenty of hills on which to sled ride.



Smart Stuff
WITH TWIG WALKINGSTICK
How do beetles get bigger?
Bob Beetle doesn't grow like you do. You have what doctors call an internal skeleton made up of bones inside your body. Your insides grow with your outsides.
Bob has an exoskeleton which sort of means his bones are on the outside of his body. The only problem with an exoskeleton is that it doesn't grow. Insects like beetles, walkingsticks and all sorts of other bugs have to fill up their exoskeletons until there isn't any more room. Once they've outgrown their old exoskeleton, they have to make a new one.
Here's what happens — insects first release hormones that dissolve about 90 percent of the inside of the exoskeleton. The hormones also create a soft, rubbery new skin. Then, insects swallow air or water to balloon up so much that the original exoskeleton breaks, and they can wriggle free of the old shell. Entomologists call this process molting.
Next, insects pump themselves back up with air to enlarge the rubbery skin and add a material to make skin an extra tough shell. Finally, insects spit out the extra air so there's room to grow in their new "skeleton."
Beetles molt several times before they reach their winged, adult stage. The adult beetles don't grow any larger and die after about a year. But lucky for Bob — and me — we're fictional characters. We live forever!
Scientifically yours, Twig

WHEN ADULT CHILDREN RETURN HOME TO LIVE

This month my 19-year-old son returns home from college where he has been living independently in an apartment for nine months. Although, I look forward to his return, I realize he has matured and been independent of parental control for nearly a year. This will call for some restructuring of parent-child roles. Many of you may also be facing a similar situation with children graduating from college and returning home until they find a job or many children return home because of economic problems such as unemployment, and divorce.

Returning to the family home can create problems for the adult child by increasing feelings of resentment, failure or lack of independence.

It may be difficult for everyone to avoid slipping back into the parent-child roles. The young adult may expect the parent to take care of him or her, and the older parent may offer inappropriate overprotective support. Other problems could arise such as — conflict over different lifestyles, finances, loss of privacy, increased work and responsibility at home like cooking and laundry, and invasion of household space. Of course there are many positive aspects too.

Before your son or daughter moves home, set a time to talk and work out a plan for living together. Here are some hints for a constructive discussion:

1. Treat each other as equals. Give everyone the opportunity to express his or her viewpoint. Encourage each family member to look at issues from the perspective of others.

2. Take time for each person to talk about what he or she needs and is willing to contribute to the living situation. Some compromises will probably be needed.

3. Listen carefully to what each one says. Do not interrupt. Help each other express feelings as well as thoughts.

4. Be sure you understand each other. If something is not clear, say what you heard and ask if that was what the person meant.

5. Use "I" statements, rather than "you" statements. This helps you avoid accusation and a threatening tone.

6. Keep the discussion on track.

Some issues to think about and discuss might be:

• Length of living arrangement. Having a target date provides a goal to work toward.

• Common courtesies - agree on matters such as having guests, personal and home cleanliness, orderliness, introducing guests. Show respect and appreciation for one another.

• Financial arrangements - most authorities suggest that it is best for young adults to contribute money to the house. Be frank about household expenses. They may contribute by paying rent (consider 15 percent of their income), or substitute home or property maintenance. Also, develop a clear policy about loaning money to adult children. Some do not loan money, others draw up a written agreement and have it notarized.

• Household and maintenance responsibilities — who does the cooking, cleaning, laundry, mows the grass, rakes the leaves, etc. Do not make assumptions about who will do these jobs. Talk over the options and make decisions on responsibility.

• Transportation — who will use which vehicles and when? Who will be responsible for the upkeep.

• Schedules — If schedules differ, or fluctuate, how will you keep each other informed in order to plan meals, give messages to callers, etc.

• Privacy — How will the privacy needs of both generations be met?

• Lifestyle differences — Agree upon home rules. If you feel uncomfortable with certain behaviors, it is your right as head of the household and parent, to forbid them in your home. However, home rules stop at the front door. What young adults do while away is their own choice. They are responsible for the consequences of their actions.

If families discuss these issues and write down what they have agreed upon with their young adults misunderstandings can be prevented.

COMPACTION COMMANDERS
NO-TILL RIPPER/DEEP RIPPER
DESIGNED FOR YOUR CONSERVATION NEEDS
3-5-7 Shank

Brillion introduces their new Compaction Commander...designed to break up hardpan and compaction as deep as 20".
The standard V-shaped alloy point and wear strip leaves residue on the surface with minimal soil disturbance. Auto-rest shanks with 20" of trip height allows for non-stop tillage. Parabolic shanks lift and fracture the soil. 39" of underframe clearance assures trouble free operation even in heavy residue.

LANDCOMMANDERS
TAKE COMMAND OF TILLAGE PROBLEMS
3 and 9 Shanks

Brillion's Landcommander gives you total command over the problems of compaction, soil erosion, residue management, and rough fields.
The front disc gang has 22" x 1/4" disc blades on 15" spacings. They are designed to cut residue and work the ground to a depth of 6". The Landcommander has the ability to till from 8" to 20" deep. The rear disc gang has 20" x 7 ga. disc blades on 7.5 spacing. The 6"x4" mainframe is designed to handle the stress from the deep till shanks and disc gangs.

NEW NEW

The New Brillion Soil Commanders take Residue Management to the next generation of soil conservation efficiency.
The Soil Commanders are versatile tillage tools designed to meet the needs of the mid-size farmer who uses a 150-200 H P tractor One of the keys to the machine's versatility is that it uses interchangeable shank legs and individually mounted disk assemblies instead of a disk gang. This makes possible a machine with disk assemblies on the front and rear of the frame with chisel plow or deep-ripper shanks.on 15", 24", 27" or 30" spacings

Lou Ann Good, staff writer, shows off prizes to be given during the Cow Mania Drawing in June. Winners will be selected by drawing. For details on entering the drawing, carefully follow the instructions below. Deadline for entries is June 1.

Enter Cow Mania Drawing

June Dairy Month is almost here. It's time to enter Lancaster Farming's annual Cow Mania Drawing.

Select your favorite recipe, which must include a substantial amount of at least one dairy product. Dairy ingredients include milk, cream, sour cream, whipped cream, butter, yogurt, buttermilk, ice cream, and any hard and soft cheeses. Please check your recipe carefully. Margarine and non-dairy substitutes such as whipped topping do not qualify as dairy products.

The recipe may be for an appetizer, dip, soup, bread, main dish, vegetable, dessert, beverage, snack, or salad.

Clearly print or type your recipe. Be sure to give accurate measurements, temperatures, times, and sizes of baking dishes to use. We reserve the right to disqualify entries if these guidelines are not followed.

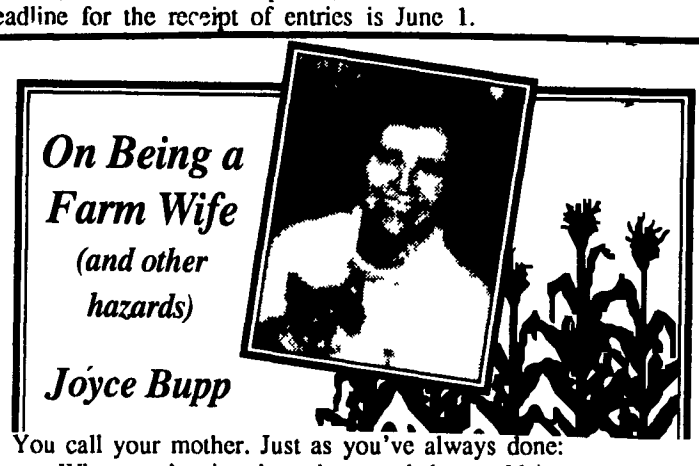
The difference between this contest and the weekly recipes printed is that we ask you to include a few paragraphs about yourself and your family. Although it is not required, please include a photograph of your family or yourself, which we will print with your recipe. Photos will be returned if you write your name and address on the back of the photo.

Look for a picture of the prizes in next week's issue of Lancaster Farming. Winners will be selected by a drawing. Although not every person can win a prize, readers enjoy the recipes and reading tidbits of information about the contributor.

Only one entry per family allowed. Be sure to include your name, full address, and phone number on the recipe. If you win, and your full address is not printed on the recipe, we cannot mail you the prize.

Send your recipe, photo, and accompanying information to Lou Ann Good, Lancaster Farming Cow Mania Drawing, P.O. Box 609, 1 E. Main St., Ephrata, PA 17522.

Send entries immediately. Deadline for the receipt of entries is June 1.



It's the mothering time of year.

Robins haul worms to feed screeching open mouths. Four adorable, week-old baby goslings paddle furiously behind their majestic Canada goose mother down on the pond. The birdfeeder stashes of sunflower seeds are disappearing even faster than usual with the constant gobbling of our mother squirrel, obviously feeding a nest of young furrytails.

One shiny black barnyard hen has one tiny, downy black chick she'll scratch your eyes out to defend if you get too close to them in the old bank barn. And a late spring batch of calves is waiting in the wings, their mothers growing so wide they can barely wiggle through the inevitable escape hole someone will find (or create) in the fences.

Compared to birds and beasts, the mothering time for us humans stretches out much longer. Even when our offspring have fled our nests, we try mightily to keep in touch. Few technological advances have had the impact on keeping in touch with your mother as has the telephone.

Most of us probably don't call our mothers enough. But when you're tired and down, up and glad, depressed or triumphant, who do you call? No, not Ghostbusters.

You call your mother. Just as you've always done:

— When you've just been born and the world is new,
And people you've met still number few,
And hunger pains keep your naps askew . . . call mother.
(Loudly!)

— As you learn to toddle and take a fall
While climbing stairs out in the hall.
Nothing's better when you're hurt and small . . . call mother.
(Sobbing)

— Then comes the age when you're off to school.
Some smart alec kid makes you look a fool
And it's tough to follow the Golden Rule . . . fuss to mother
(But Mom, it was HIS fault!)

— Soon comes a day when you get an "A"
You rush that paper home straightaway
For a pat on the back and a hug as pay . . . from mother.
(She's SO proud of you!)

— She dreads your entering teen-age years
When no adult is as smart as your peers
But who keeps quiet about those fears? . . . mother.
(Some of the time.)

— At long, long last you've finally grown
You pack your things and leave your home
Who misses you most when you're on your own? . . . Call mother
(And Dad.)

— So now that Mother's Day's drawn nigh
Though she might shed a tear, begin to cry
Pause a moment and tell her why . . . you love your mother.

Call your mother. She'll love you for it.

The Model 255 rake tedder is a flexible machine—it's the tedder that also rakes. The "255" can:

- Rake a swath into a windrow.
- Rake two windrows into one.
- Turn windrows for faster drying.
- Move crop away from fences or borders.
- Ted a 10-1/2-foot area to fluff up wet, matted-down crop for quick drying.

STRAWBERRY PRETZEL SALAD

¾ cup butter, melted
3 tablespoons brown sugar
2 cups crushed pretzels
6-ounce package strawberry Jell-O
2 cups boiling water
2 cups frozen sweetened strawberries
8-ounces cream cheese, softened
1 cup sugar
8-ounces whipped topping, thawed

Combine butter, brown sugar and pretzels. Put in a 13x9-inch pan. Bake at 350 degrees for 10 minutes. Cool. In large bowl, dissolve gelatin in boiling water. Add strawberries, mix well. Chill until mixture is partly jelled. Meanwhile, mix cream cheese and sugar. Fold in topping. Spread over crust. Pour the strawberry mixture on top. Chill 2 to 3 hours. Serves 20-24.

RHUBARB CAKE

5 cups rhubarb, slice to ½ -1-inch pieces
1 cup sugar
3-ounces Jell-O (red)
3 cups mini-marshmallows
1 white cake mix

Mix together rhubarb, sugar, Jell-O, and marshmallows. Put into a 9x13-inch pan. Mix cake mix according to package directions and spread over rhubarb mixture. Bake at 350 degrees for 45 minutes.

When serving, turn pieces over so rhubarb is on top. Serve with whipped cream.

This is a recipe that Grace Sauder makes for her family. they love it.

CRACKER PUDDING

1 quart milk
2 egg yolks
1 cup sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup cracker crumbs
½ cup coconut
2 egg whites, beaten stiff

Mix together milk, egg yolks, sugar, cracker crumbs, and coconut. Bring to a boil and boil a few minutes. Remove from heat and cool. Add vanilla and egg whites. Refrigerate.

Alice is a busy farm wife of Mark Copenhaver and mother of three children, Valerie, 12; Kristy, 21; and Duane, 25, husband of Rebecca. She is also the new grandma of Breanne Emilee, 7 weeks. She is always cooking up some delicious homemade dish. Pudding is a popular dish around the farm where there's always an abundance of milk. Cracker pudding is a family favorite.

SOFT SUGAR COOKIES

2 cups sugar
1 cup shortening
3 eggs
1 cup sour cream
1½ teaspoons baking soda
4-4½ cups flour
Pinch salt
2 teaspoons vanilla

Cream together shortening and sugar with an electric mixer. Add the dry ingredients alternately with eggs and sour cream. Mix until well blended. Drop onto a greased cookie sheet. Add a raisin and sprinkle with sugar. Bake at 400 degrees for approximately 10-12 minutes.

No one has ever been able to make sugar cookies quite like my mother. Hers are the best! She is not only a wonderful cook, but a terrific mother and a beautiful role model of love and devotion to her family.

Nancy Slaymaker

STICKIE QUICKIE BUNS

1½ cups flour
2 packages yeast
¾ cup milk
¼ cup oil
½ cup water
¼ cup sugar
1 teaspoon salt
1¾ cups flour
1 egg
1½ cups raw chopped apple (optional)

In a large bowl, mix 1½ cups flour and yeast. Heat milk, water, oil, sugar, and salt until warm. Pour into yeast mixture. Add egg. Beat on high speed for 3 minutes. By hand, stir in 1¾ cup flour, add apple. Cover and let rise for 30 minutes. While dough is rising, mix topping.

Topping:
¾ cup butter
1 cup brown sugar
1 teaspoons cinnamon
¾ cup nuts
1 tablespoon corn syrup
1 tablespoon water

Heat all ingredients until melted in a pan. Pour into a 13x9-inch pan. Stir down batter and drop by tablespoon on topping. Bake 20 minutes at 375 degrees. Cool one minute, then cover with cookie sheet and invert to remove pan. Makes about 25 buns (4x6 rows).

This recipe may be prepared the night before if it is covered and refrigerated. Next morning, remove from refrigerator before heating oven. Quick and easy to make.

This recipe is a favorite of my sister Annie. She is a great hostess and serves warm Quickie Stickies on our stop-in visits. Annie and LeRoy make their home along Yost Road and have been blessed with two sweet kiddies, Jay Allen, 3, and Rachel Joy, 1. Annie is a down-to-earth housewife who cooks and sews for her family and for others. She did lots for me already, cleans and does lots of charity work: LeRoy is a super brother-in-law. He works on diesels and does A-1 work, also restores old freezers for what the Amish use as coolers.

MOM G'S BEEF STEW

1 tablespoon vegetable oil
1-2 pounds trimmed beef cubes
2 cups frozen mixed vegetables
3-4 carrots, cleaned and thinly sliced
2-3 medium potatoes, peeled and diced
1 small onion, chopped
1 can whole tomatoes
1-2 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce
1-2 tablespoons catsup
Water
Salt and pepper to taste

Brown beef cubes in vegetable oil in a pressure cooker or large Dutch oven. Add the remaining ingredients, along with 2 or 3 cans water. Cook 10 minutes at 5 pounds of pressure if you are using a pressure cooker. You can also use your crock pot or cook the stew in a covered pot, in a slow oven for several hours.

If you are using a pressure cooker, when the pressure is released, remove the lid. Make sure there is plenty of liquid. Add dumplings, if desired.

For dumplings:

Thoroughly mix two cups baking mix with two-thirds cups milk. Drop by teaspoonful into pot of boiling stew. Cook about 10 minutes. Serves 6-8 people.

This is a wonderful dinner to prepare for a cold day, after shoveling snow, playing football, or just staying inside by a warm wood stove.

This recipe makes enough that we ususally share several containers with friends and family. It's a healthy meal and we send some to relatives on special diets since we do not add any salt to our pot of stew.

Mom closed her kitchen when Dad passed away. She has re-opened her kitchen now that she met Mr. John, her significant other.

APPLE DUMPLINGS

Syrup: 1½ cups sugar
2 cups water
½ teaspoon cinnamon

Boil 5 minutes in saucepan, add ½ cup butter, baste dumplings a few times while baking.

Dough:
2 cups flour
1 teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons baking powder
Add ¼ cup butter

Use pastry blender and cut into fine crumbs. Add ½ cup milk and blend. Roll out and cut into six squares. Place 4 sliced apples (depends on size) on squares. Sprinkle with granulated sugar and cinnamon. Dot with butter. Fold up and place in greased 13x9-inch pan. Pour syrup over top. Bake 45 minutes at 350 degrees.

I am sending this recipe my mom makes for her family because it is a favorite of everyone. My dad (Raymond Bloom) suggested that I send in a recipe and I graciously said I would. I think my mom is the best baker and cook. I always look forward to going across town to get something good to eat. This is her apple dumpling recipe. Happy Mother's Day, Mom!

DELICIOUS CRISPY CHICKEN

½ cup mayonnaise
1 cut-up chicken
3 cups rice crispy cereal, crushed fine
1 teaspoon paprika
1 teaspoon salt
Pinch pepper

Mix together cereal and seasonings. Brush mayonnaise on chicken pieces. Shake each piece in cereal mixture. Bake at 400 degrees for 40-45 minutes or until chicken is tender.

I had a problem finding a recipe of my mother's to share because she often cooked without consulting a recipe book. She cooked mounds of food for her 12 children. It's just her and Daddy at home now, but she often has us home for one of her delicious meals. Thanks, Mother, for all you've done for me!"

CHOCOLATE CHIP OATMEAL COOKIES

2 cups shortening
2 cups brown sugar
2 cups granulated sugar
4 eggs
4 tablespoons water
2 teaspoons vanilla
3 cups flour
2 teaspoons baking soda
2 teaspoons salt
4 cups chocolate chips
1 cup chopped nuts
6 cups oatmeal

Cream together shortening and sugars. Beat in eggs until fluffy. Stir in water and vanilla. Add flour, baking soda, and salt to creamed mixture. Add oatmeal, chocolate chips, and chopped nuts. Bake at 375 degrees for 12 minutes.

My mother's name is Ruth Rutt. These cookies are a family favorite. My mother is very dear to me. She has been a great help to me and my family the last few months. She's very understanding and her five grandsons adore her. Happy Mother's Day, Mom.

OLD-FASHIONED CRUMB CAKES

5 cups flour
2 cups sugar
½ cup shortening

Mix together like pie crust. Reserve ¾ cup flour crumbs for top. Add the following:

2 cups thick milk (Add 1 tablespoon lemon juice or vinegar per cup to milk)
2 teaspoons baking soda

Mix well. Pour into pie pans and bake at 350 degrees until thoothpick comes out clear.

Great with coffee or breakfast.

This is one of my mother's favorite recipes. As I was growing up I remember always having some sort of baked goods. My mother left me start cooking and baking at age 8. I still like to cook and bake.

My mother is Mrs. Wilbur Miller of Manheim. My paretns will celebrate their 50th anniversary this year. They still farm and milk cows. This recipe was handed down from my grandmother.

LEMON FLUFFY

1 small package lemon Jell-O
1 cup hot water
Juice of one lemon
½ lemon rind, grated
1 can evaporated milk, refrigerated
⅔ cup sugar
½ teaspoon vanilla
12 graham crackers, crumbled

Dissolve one small package lemon Jell-O in one cup of hot water. Add the lemon juice and rind. Refrigerate until it thickens to the consistency of syrup. Whip the chilled, canned milk. Add sugar and vanilla to milk. Mix together milk and Jell-O. Spread half of the graham crackers in the bottom of a dish. Pour mixture into dish and sprinkle crumbs on top. Refrigerate.

My mother-in-law taught me many things about cooking, canning, baking, candy making, flowers, and family. We share recipes often. This is her latest.

BARBECUED MEATBALLS

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. For meatballs, put in a bowl and mix well:

1 can evaporated milk
3 pounds ground beef
2 cups quick-cooking oats
2 eggs
1 cup chopped onion
½ teaspoon garlic powder
2 teaspoons salt
½ teaspoon pepper
2 teaspoons chili powder

For sauce, put in a separate bowl and mix well:

2 cups ketchup
1½ cups packed brown sugar
2 tablespoons liquid smoke
½ teaspoon garlic powder
½ cup chopped onion

Shape meatball mixture into balls. Place in a single layer in one or two 13x9x2-inch baking pans. Cover with sauce and bake for one hour. Makes 15 large meatballs or about 60 small ones.

Mom does a lot of cooking and baking for her hungry family. This is a recipe we all enjoy. With six girls in our family, Mom often has sewing to do. Thanks for all the other things you do too, Mom. Happy Mother's Day!

MOM'S FAVORITE PECAN CHEWS

½ pound caramels
2 tablespoons heavy cream
1¼ cup pecan halves
Dipping chocolate

In a double boiler, melt the caramels and heavy cream over hot, not boiling water. Place together 2-3 pecan halves on a well-buttered pan. Put a glob of caramel on top, letting nuts stick out around the caramel. Put pans in the cold to harden. Then coat with chocolate. Makes about 40 pecan chews.

This is a delicious kind of candy and easy to make. My mother enjoys making it for Christmas or anytime.

Ida's Notebook

by

Ida Risser

We've finally had several warm days and so our big apple trees are in full bloom. The smaller fruit trees that Allen planted are blooming too.

Some of the wildflowers in our meadow finished blooming weeks ago. However, I was able to show our grandchildren the bloodroot and Dutchman's Breeches when they visited last month. Now the Virginia Bluebells are very pretty in the corner of our yard. I shall have to put away all the artificial flowers on my tables and replace them with the real thing.

On Sunday morning we were surprised to see a group of heifers grazing in our fields. From a distance we were not sure if they were our son's animals or our neighbor's animals. Of course, he knew they were not his when he arrive to help chase them. So the men carefully worked them away from the highway and toward their own pasture. The neighbor was not even aware that they had left home.

Things do not always turn out the way that we expect them to turn out. Recently, we went to what was supposed to be a birthday celebration for an 80-year-old man. Upon arriving at the home, we were met by an ambulance taking his wife to the hospital. Now that certainly was not what we expected! Her son went with her while the man stayed and visited with his guests who were urged to stay in order to make the time pass more quickly. One bright spot was viewing slides of the family taken years ago.

One can always hope for the best and yet we must accept whatever comes our way.

Milk Crucial To Child Development

SYRACUSE, N.Y. — "Whether it's served plain, flavored or as a milkshake, milk is crucial to bone growth and development during childhood. The best milk for a child is the one they will drink." These were the messages delivered by the American Dairy Association and Dairy Council, Inc. (ADADC) to over 7,000 parents and children who attended the KIDS USA Expo, held at the Garden State Exhibit Center in Somerset, New Jersey at the end of February. A flavored milk contest, a parent seminar on encouraging children to drink milk, and dairy product sampling highlighted ADADC's participating in the two-day event.

Flavored Milk Contest

To provide fun, creative ways to children to drink milk, ADADC held the first "got milk?" Flavored Contest. Five children were selected each day to create an award-winning flavor using a variety of syrups, fruits, cookies and of course, milk. Headed by the New Jersey Dairy Princess Simi Blair, the judges evaluated each concoction for its taste, appearance and creativity. The grand prize winner received either a year's supply of milkshakes or chocolate milk. Runners-up received $50 worth of their favorite food to drink with milk, and honorable mentions received $25 worth of their favorite food to drink with milk.

Parent Education

ADADC educated parents about the variety of options available to encourage a child to drink milk at a seminar entitled, "What To Do If Your Kids Don't Like Milk." Ensuring that growing children meet the recommended daily allowance of calcium and other essential vitamins through milk and dairy products, is a priority of ADADC. The seminar focused on such fun devices as crazy straws, frosty mugs, flavored milks and milkshakes to increase interest in drinking milk. Other ideas included giving children dairy-rich foods such as yogurt, cheese, ice cream and even pudding — which is made with at least two cups of milk. Teaching fun tools that kids can use easily at home will increase milk consumption and have long-term advantages to the child's health.

Product Samples

New Jersey's three largest dairy processors teamed-up with ADADC to present an array of dairy products including:

- Ice cream from Welsh Farms, Long Valley, NJ
- Milkshakes from Tuscan/ Dellwood, Union, NJ
- Chocolate milk from Farmland Dairies, Wallington, NJ

Publicity Adds Value to Event

More than 20 articles were generated in daily and weekly newspapers about the first "got milk?" Flavored Contest. Not only did the articles announce the winners and their winning combination of flavors, but they included children's comments about their favorite kind of milk, why they like milk and what they thought of the contest. Overall, the positive articles reminded parents and children of the important role milk plays in a growing child's diet.

Family Transforms Tragedy Into Hope For Others

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

MYERSTOWN (Lebanon Co.) — The death of Renee Layser was a horrible tragedy. The senseless murder could have left family members bitter and angry forever. Instead, the family strives to turn their tragic loss into something positive.

On the evening of May 2, a memorial dinner was held for Renee in which more than $104,000 was raised for the Brethren Disaster Relief Fund.

Renee was 19 years old and six months pregnant when she was murdered by a former boyfriend.

Renee had graduated from Eastern Lebanon County High School in 1992 and was employed as a bank teller for Lebanon Valley National Bank and as a Longaberger Basket consultant.

People who knew and loved Renee said that she had a pleasant smile and a friendly personality. She was known as a thoughtful young woman who took time to help others.

Her death shocked Lebanon countians where she grew up. Many expressed outrage that the murderer could not receive the death penalty because at that time, for a case to receive a death penalty, the list of aggravating circumstances required that more than one person be killed. An unborn child was not considered a person. Renee's case caused Sen. Chip Brightbill to introduce legislature that changed the laws. Now killing a pregnant woman would result in a death sentence.

But Renee's parents, John and Nancy Layser, and grandparents Carl and Margaret Wenger, said that as practicing Brethren who stress non-violence. They do not believe it is right to take a life for whatever reason.

"We miss Renee. We think of her every day," said Rose Walmer, an aunt and spokesperson for the family. "He made a horrible mistake that ruined his life and his family's, and left an emptiness in our life. But anger and bitterness won't change that."

The accused is sentenced to life imprisonment for the crime that he committed on August 13, 1994.

The family said that they treasure all the joy and love that Renee brought into their lives.

"She and her baby are with the Lord. What better place to be? That's what we dwell on," Walmer said.

Renee's death prompted her grandfather Carl Wenger who founded Wengers of Myerstown, a construction and agriculture equipment facility, to establish The Wenger Foundation, Inc., which helped fund the memorial dinner. A percentage of the Wenger business profits will continue to fund the ongoing foundation, which will provide for educational, religious, and community projects.

Donna Derr, director of Disaster and Refugee Programs, expressed gratefulness for the money raised at the memorial dinner for the Brethren Diasaster Relief Fund. Numerous items such as quilts and Longaberger baskets were auctioned at the dinner. More than $104,000 was raised.

More than 800 people attended the memorial, cosponsored by the Wenger family (grandparents of Renee) and Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Burkholder, owners of Dutch Valley Food Distributors and chairpersons for the Brethren Relief Auction.

Held at Lebanon Valley Exposition Center at the Lebanon Area Fairgrounds, the entertainment at the dinner was provided by southern gospel musicians The Anchormen and Kirk Talley, and by ventriloquist Geraldine and Rickey.

All money raised through individual tickets, which sold for $100 each, and through the auction of several quilts, Longaberger baskets, and other items went to the relief fund. The fund will be used to enable families to rebuild their homes and lives after a natural disaster.

"Our family shares a rich heritage in the Brethren faith and we have long been ardent supporters of the Brethren Disaster Relief Fund," Wenger said of the family's decision to support the fund.

Tackling Transportation Expenses

If your family expenses this month are out of balance because of increased transportation costs, you're not alone! For some reason (hotly debated in the media and government), gasoline prices have spiked recently. Families with teen-age drivers, retirees who love to travel, and employees with long commutes have suddenly found their wallets emptying faster than usual when they stop by the gas pump.

What can consumers do? Two things — conserve fuel and reduce overall transportation expenses and speak out about your dissatisfaction and concerns.

First, all families can stretch their transportation resources. Make sure that you check your tire pressure on all your vehicles at least once a month. You can save up to $100 a year on gas by keeping your engine tuned and tires inflated properly, underinflated tires can rob drivers of one mile a gallon of gas consumed. The Earth Works Group, a conservation group, reports the 50-80 percent of tires in the United States are underinflated. Properly inflated tires also wear longer. This means you get more for the money you spent on them.

Secondly, practice gentle driving. Energy consumption studies show that slow starts and gradual stops as well as overall reduced speeds of travel save on fuel consumption. Driving more patiently may also reduce the stress that a rushed, pressuring lifestyle creates.

In addition to driving gently, consumers can save fuel by cutting down on the times they leave their cars idling, Allowing a car to idle any longer than one minute consumes more fuel than if the driver shut it off and started it again whe she was ready to drive.

Plan your errands and chauffeuring. Cut down on at least one car trip each week. When possible, now that the weather is pleasant and it stays lighter later in the evening, walk or ride a bike instead of driving your car on a short trip. The average family can save $74 per year by making one less trip per week in the car.

Families can also lower their overall transportation costs by evaluating their current auto insurance policies. A survey done by a personal finance magazine several years ago found that auto insurance prices offered by different insurance companies to people who live in the same area, have the same accident history and drive the same type of automobile can vary by as much as 100 percent! It pays to comparison shop. So when it's time to renew your auto insurance, take some time to get three or four estimates. Select the most cost-effective one. That doesn't necessarily mean the lowest cost. It means selecting the least expensive policy for the best coverage. Both aspects need to be considered.

While you're contacting your insurance agent, ask what financial savings you could achieve by raising your collision deductible to at least $500. For individuals who own older vehicles, you may want to drop your collision coverage (and put the savings in the bank) because the blue book value on older cars often does not justify the premium expense.

And finally, to decrease transportation expenses, make fuel efficiency a high priority the next time you purchase a car.

In addition to practicing wise energy conservation, this may be a good time to try out that underused consumer voice of yours. Find out as much information as possible. Ask questions of your local gas station manager, congressmen. Listen to informed discussions of the issue. Then pick up your phone, pen, or turn on your computer and contact your government representatives. Express your frustration and concern with the skyrocketing prices. Provide them with a few specifics like how your expenses have increased from two months ago or chart local stations prices. Perhaps comment on things such as how increases in these prices will affect your families travel (and purchasing) plans or how it has eaten into your family's take-home wages.

In an issue such as this one, there are always mixed messages and differing explanations. Every consumer needs to express his or her opinion about what these costs mean. Let all the involved parties know how the changes affect you and what ACTION you are taking (for example, deliberating cutting down on fuel consumption, choosing not to patronize a business, etc.).

Tackling the family transportation budget head on and making changes can save substantial money.

Water Quality Workshop

SCRANTON (Lackawanna Co.) — Did you know the quality of spring water can be affected by changes in temperature, rainfall, and runoff? Bacteria and nitrate levels can change over a short period of time.

Water testing is the only way to ensure that wells and springs are safe. Dangerous contaminants such as lead, nitrate, radon, and organic chemicals cannot be detected by taste or smell.

Penn State Cooperative Extension of Lackawanna County will hold a Safe Drinking Water Clinic on Saturday, May 18, from 2:30 p.m. to 5 p.m. Reduced water testing rates will be offered. For more information or to register for the free workshop, call the Extension office at (717) 963-4761.

Rhubarb Fest To Be Held May 18

The annual Rhubarb Fest will be held on May 18 at Kitchen Kettle Village in Intercourse. The Fest is a culinary experience extraodinaire. Plus there is a great roster of rhubarb-inspired festivities — from the World's Only Rhubarb Car Derby (mini dragsters are made or rhubarb stalks and electronically timed for the fastest finish) to the Best Rhubarb Pie contest, rhubarb Pie Throw, Quilting Beed, and Rhubarb Arcade of Games.

It's a family affair that offers something to see, taste, and do — as long as it involves — Rhubarb!

For a free copy of the Kitchen Kettle Village Festivals Brochure, call 1 800-717-6198.

RHUBARB MAPLE MUFFINS

1½ cups diced rhubarb
2½ cups flour
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon allspice
½ cup maple syrup
½ cup milk
½ cup sugar
1 tablespoon baking powder
½ teaspoon cinnamon
6 tablespoons margarine
1 egg

Combine rhubarb and sugar. Let stand one hour. Combine flour, salt, baking powder, allspice, and cinnamon. Cream margarine, syrup and egg. Blend in the milk. Mix rhubarb and dry ingredients, mixing only until combined. Spoon into 12 muffin tins lined with muffin papers. Bake at 400 degrees for 20 minutes.

Cook's Question

ANSWER — Judy Harmison, Berkeley Springs, wanted a recipe for potato chips and for pretzels. Thanks to Anna Joyce Martin, East Earl, and Margaret Strause, Leesport, for sending recipes.

Potato Chips

1 medium potato yields about 30 to 40 very thin slices
Oil for deep frying
Salt or other seasonings preferred

Do not use new potatoes. Soak thinly sliced potatoes in cold water to remove starch that caused potatoes to stick together during frying. Drain and spread on paper toweling. Pat dry with paper towels to remove excess moisture.

If you have an electric deep fryer, follow manufacturer's directions for deep frying or use a deep pan and oil about 4-inches deep. Heat oil to 385-395-degrees. Fry potato slices a few at a time so they are not crowded. Fry until potatoes begin to turn light golden brown. Remove from oil and place on absorbent paper. Eat plain or season with salt or other flavorings. Store extra chips in an airtight container and enjoy later.

Parmesan and Garlic

3 tablespoons parmesan cheese
½ teaspoon garlic salt
½ teaspoon garlic powder

Cheese and Bacon

2 tablespoons cheese powder
1 teaspoon crushed bacon bits

Hot and Spicy

2 tablespoons chili powder
½ teaspoon red pepper
½ teaspoon cumin
¾ teaspoon salt
¾ teaspoon sugar
Pepper

Barbecue

1 tablespoon tomato soup dry mix
½ teaspoon seasoned salt
¼ teaspoon garlic powder
¼ teaspoon onion powder
¼ teaspoon red pepper
¼ teaspoon chili powder
½ teaspoon sugar

Sour Cream and Onion

2 tablespoons McButter Sour Cream Flavor
2 tablespoons onion salt

Soft Pretzels

1 cake yeast, dissolved in 1½ cups warm water
Add 1 teaspoon salt and 1 tablespoon sugar
Blend in 4 cups flour

Knead dough until smooth. Cut into small pieces. Roll into ropes and twist into desired shape. Place on lightly greased cookie sheets. Brush pretzels with one beaten egg. Sprinkle with coarse salt. Bake immediately at 425 degrees for 12 to 15 minutes. Makes about 18 large pretzels.

For hard pretzels use only 1¼ cups water and add ¼ cup melted butter. Make pretzels smaller, bake until browned. These will keep several days if stored in an airtight container.

ANSWER — Dorothy Barto, Mifflinburg, wanted a recipe for a cookie called Hamantashen. Thanks to Kitty Longenecker, Lititz, for sending the recipe. She writes that these rich, filled cookies celebrate the holiday of Purim, which honors the victory of the Jews of ancient Persia over Hamen's plot to destroy them. Hamen was an adviser to King Ahasuerus. Hamantaschen are "Haman's Pockets."

Hamantaschen

2½ cups flour
½ cup sugar
1 teaspoon baking powder
¾ cup butter
1 teaspoon grated lemon peel
½ teaspoon vanilla
2 eggs
Prune, apricot, plum or poppy seed filling

Mix together flour, sugar, and baking powder in a large bowl. Cut in butter until mixture resembles fine crumbs. Mix lemon peel, vanilla, and eggs. Stir into flour mixture until dough forms a ball. (Use hands to combine all ingredients if necessary. Add up to ¼ cup additional flour if dough is too sticky to handle). Cover and refrigerate two hours or until firm. Heat oven to 350 degrees. Roll half of dough at a time to ⅛ -inch thickness on lightly floured cloth-covered surface. Cut into 3-inch rounds. Spoon one level teaspoon filling onto each round. Bring up three sides with metal spatula to form a triangle around filling. Pinch edges together firmly. Place about 2-inches apart on ungreased cookie sheet. Bake 12 to 15 minutes or until lightly browned. Immediately remove from cookie sheet. Makes about 4 dozen cookies.

Prune Filling:

12- ounces pitted prunes
1 cup walnuts
2 tablespoon honey
1 tablespoon lemon juice

Bring prunes and enough water to cover to a boil in 2-quart saucepan. Reduce heat. Cover and simmer 10 minutes. Drain well and mash. Stir in remaining ingredients.

Apricot or Plum Filling

1½ cups apricot or plum jam
½ cup finely chopped walnuts
1 teaspoon lemon peel
1 tablespoon lemon juice
½ cup dry bread crumbs (approximate)

Mix jam, walnuts, lemon peel, and lemon juice. Stir in just enough bread crumbs until thickened.

Poppy Seed Filling

1 cup poppy seeds
¼ cup walnuts pieces
1 tablespoon butter
1 tablespoon honey
1 teaspoon lemon juice
1 egg white

Place all ingredients in blender or food processor. Cover and blend or process until smooth.

answer

QUESTION — Louise Graybeal, Renick, W.V., would like to purchase an electric milker for one milch cow.

QUESTION — Ada King, 5131 Amish Rd., Kinzers, PA 17535, would like a book called "Shoo-Fly Girl," by Lois Lenski.

QUESTION — Mavyn A. Gehris, Leesport, writes that she needs an instruction book for a Necchi sewing machine purchased in 1953. The serial number is BU268184, and the model number is 206. Call her at (610) 926-2536.

QUESTION — John A. Stoltzfus, Rebersburg, would like to know where to buy sprockets or gears for a small hand-cranked cyclone seeder.

QUESTION — Naomi Stoltzfus, Leola, would like to know where to buy rolls of dacron and cotton material that is 1-inch wide in dark or light colors.

QUESTION — Eilene Poole writes that she read an article in another magazine about a waterside woolen mill located in Woodburg, Pa. She cannot locate this town on a map. Can anyone tell her where is located and the phone number if possible?

QUESTION — A mother from New York would like to buy a copy of some of the books she enjoyed as a child. These include "Curious George" books, "Henner's Lydia," "Miss Hickory," and "James and the Giant Peach."

QUESTION — Pat Mullarkey, Medford, N.Y., would like to know if there are any animal or poultry auctions on Saturday or Sunday or Friday night. She heard there was one in Quakertown, N.J., but doesn't know any more details. Is there a list of auctions available from anywhere?

QUESTION — Jack Gaul, Pipersville, would like to know where to get information on a Standard Monarch garden tractor.

QUESTION — Bryan Hoover, Punxsutawney, produces and sells eggs. He wants to know where to purchase styrofoam egg cartons for one dozen eggs, preferrably jumbo and large sizes.

QUESTION — Jean Nestler, Halifax, would like to know of someone who can put new handles on old butchering knives.

QUESTION — Millie Donmoyer, Annville, wants pattern directions for making baskets out of telephone books.

QUESTION — Darrell R. Martin, Lititz, wants the name and address of a company that offers parts and supplies to restore wooden trunks.

QUESTION — Janice Kurtz, Millerstown, acquired a plastic Aqua-Matic Jet powered blender from the 1950 era manufactured by Aqua-Matic Products Co., Oceanside, N.Y. Kurtz needs the nozzle and hose assembly but when she wrote to the address, her letter was returned with addressee unknown. Anyone have the present address or parts?

QUESTION — Arnold Schnetzer, Asbury, N.J., needs help in controlling muskrats in the farm pond.

ANSWER — Mrs. Hester Speakman, Oxford, wanted the address for Guardian Service cookware. Thanks to Jessie Deane, Lovettsville, Va., who send a different address than the one previously printed. I guess Mrs. Speakman will need to try both addresses to see which one is right. The address is The Stevenson Co., 212 Birchtree Lane, Lewisburg, PA 17837.

ANSWER — Karen Gabel, Chaffee, N.Y., wanted to buy a Farm Journal Homemade Bread Cookbook. Thanks to M. Johnson, Orefield, for answering that the order may be filled through Edward R. Hamilton's catalog. He does not accept credit cards and orders must be prepaid. If you are not satisfied with the book, return it, and he will send a full refund. The book requested is listed as Item #768731 for $6.98 in the catalog. Send order to Edward R. Hamilton, Bookseller; Falls Village, CT 06031-5000. No phone number is available.

Thanks to Helen Spencer, Hopewell, N.J., who writes that she has been able to purchase several out-of-print cookbooks from Kay Sullivan, who collects them. Her business name and address is Kay's Treasured Kookbook Kollection, P.O. Box 17, Kenilworth, ILL 60043.

ANSWER — Robert C. Jones, Terra Alta, W.V., wanted to purchase a Craftsman radial 100 10-inch arm saw in working condition or for parts. Thanks to Edwin Hoffman for writing that he has a saw to sell. Write to him at 10 Woodcrest Way, Landonberg, Pa. 19350 or call 610-255-4742.

ANSWER — David Hoover, Ephrata, wanted to know if Joseph Barr one dollar bills are collector items. There are five in a set. Thanks to Salome Fisher, Lancaster, for suggesting he contact Alan Shawn Feinstein, The Feinstein Center, 37 Alhambra Circle, Cranston, R.I. 02905.

ANSWER — G. Minckler, Wayne, wanted to contact someone who repairs old wool braided rugs. Mrs. Barbara Fisher will repair it. Write to her at 133-A Buckwalter rd., Lancaster, PA 17602.

ANSWER — A Mt. Joy reader wanted to know a bit about Norman Rockwell. She has a few collector's glasses, one dated Nov. 21, 1925, that have a painted picture of children and Norman Rockwell and the Saturday Evening Post. Salome Fisher writes that Alan Shawn Feinstein is an expert on appraising collectibles. Write to him at The Feinstein Center, 37 Alhambra Circle, Cranston, R.I. 02905.

ANSWER — Naomi Becker, Walnutport, recently acquired two rheas. She wanted information on emu, rheas, and ostriches? Thanks to Salome Fisher who said Ronald and Nancy Grove sell emu and rhea products. Contact them for information at 717 244-6571 or Vickie Grove at 717-284-2551.

ANSWER — Grace Bachtel wanted to know where she can obtain the words and music for the songs, "In the Little Red School House," and one in which all or most of the names of 48 states are included. Thanks to Salome Fisher who writes that she will send a copy directly to Grace because it is very long. The one she has mentions only 23 states, some more than once. If someone has a copy with more states mentioned, Salome would like to know about it. For a copy, send a self addressed stamped envelope to her at 133-A Buckwalter Rd., Lancaster, PA 17602.

ANSWER — D.R. Newsom, Cooperstown, N.Y., needed a couple of large-sized paper mache moons — both a full and quarter moon. Thanks to Salome Fisher, Lancaster, who writes they are available from Grandpa's Circus, Cross Keys Village Center, P.O. Box 83, Intercourse, PA 17534-0083. Or, call 717-768-7237.

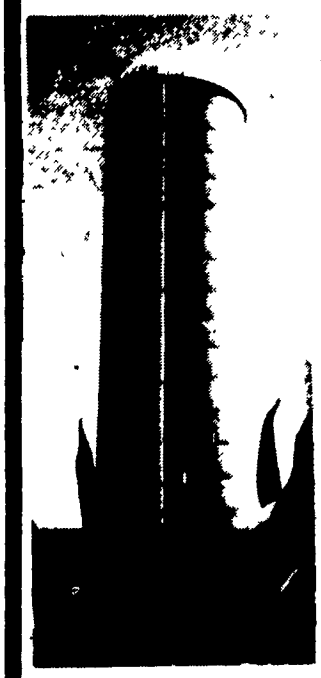
THINK CONCRETE WHEN PLANNING YOUR FEED STORAGE!!



"This is the kind of silo you need to protect your valuable feed."

"HOW WILL YOU BE STORING YOUR VALUABLE FORAGES AND GRAINS IN THE 21st CENTURY?"

It's not too early to begin planning your storage and feeding systems for the year 2000 and beyond.

As margins narrow, dairymen need to invest in efficiency: this can have as great an influence on PROFIT as milk price changes.

Protect your valuable feeds from the elements... increase the efficiency of your feeds, your animals, and your labor.

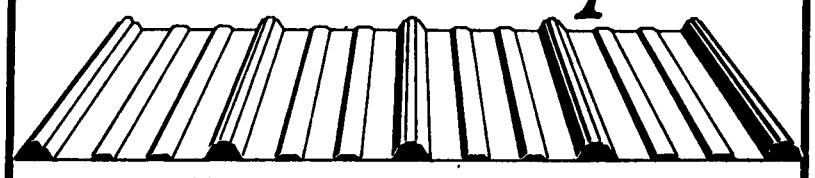
Rural Economy



Cost-efficient Centurydrain™ roofing and siding is on some of the best looking buildings in the country.

Build with Centurydrain roofing and siding and you've built a money-wise structure. Full-hard, high tensile galvanized steel, and an exclusive drain channel for a dry interior give you a building that'll handle years of hard duty and hard weather. Good looking, too. Crisp lines and plenty of bright, long-lasting colors make Wheeling Centurydrain as handsome as it is economical.

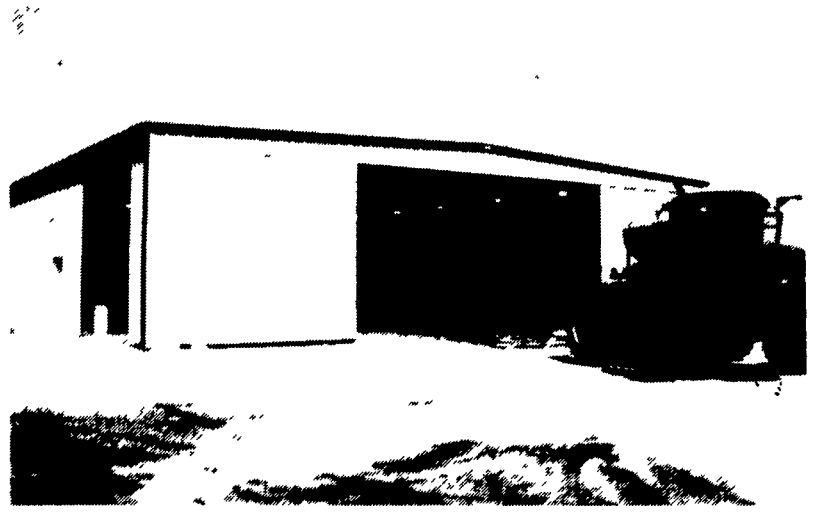
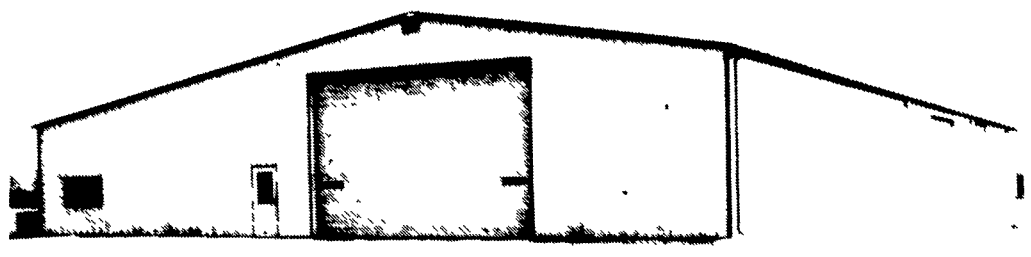
BUTLER™
RURAL-BUILDER

No matter what type of building you're looking for shop, retail store, community building or storage facility - we build durable Butler® rural steel buildings with attractive architectural appeal.

Butler shop buildings are built to give you years of high-use value, low maintenance and maximum comfort. Solid, practical design and rugged steel construction make Butler buildings durable and functional for years to come.

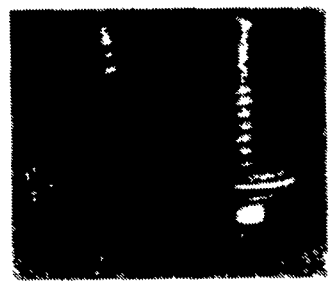




Outside: Your Choice

The appearance of your new building is a critical factor. You just tell us what you'd like and we can build it!

Our structural systems are designed to give you complete freedom in planing the size and shape of your building.



Products that Perform from the Building Systems Industry Leader

You can count on Butler to provide the best materials available.

For example, our standard exterior coating for painted panels is Butler-Cote® 500 FP finishing system, a full strength, 70% Kynar 500® & Hylar 5000® coating. Our coating will resist chalking and fading better than industry standard coatings.

Our fasteners represent another area where Butler offers more for your money. The Scrubolt™ fastener by Butler, available on the Butlerib wall and roof systems and the Shadowrib® wall system, is larger and more resistant to the pull-out forces of wind than industry standard fasteners.

If you are interested in any of the following buildings, please send us information on the checked.

MUELLER
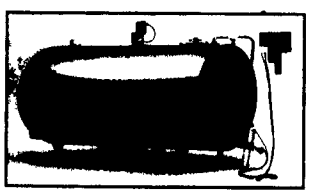
DAIRY FARM EQUIPMENT

Scroll-Compressor Technology

New in 1994



You may pay less for some dairy farm equipment... but it can cost you more!

Equipment cost is not the only cost of cooling milk

In the long run, total operating costs of a Mueller milk-cooling system are generally substantially less than those of "bargain-brand" milk-cooling equipment.

Example	Mueller	Competition
Cost of equipment	$31 000	$28 000
Cost of electricity @ 08 kW for 12 000 lbs milk day for 10 years	$17 550	$22 850
Total operating cost for ten years	$48 550	$50 850
Savings	$ 2 300

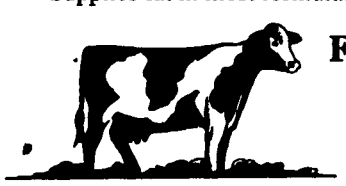
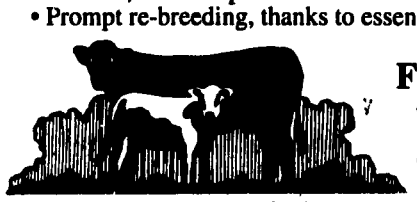
INTRODUCING...
SWEETCAKE 16NU
FEED SUPPLEMENT BLOCKS FOR THE LIVESTOCK INDUSTRY
• High Natural Protein • No Urea • Fat Enhanced
• Balanced Supplementation • Safe For All Livestock Classes

Sweetcake Advantages
• Aids in making the best use of your available forage
• Promotes a more even herd consumption, with 24-hour availability to all cattle
• Reduces labor to save you money and give you more time to make important management decisions
• Supplies much-needed vitamins and minerals that forage lacks to help your cattle perform to their genetic potential
• Supplies fat in most formulations to enhance energy intake



For Dairy
• Replacement heifers that grow out soundly and economically
• Body condition on dry cows so they can return to lactation, producing at the maximum potential
• Healthier herds, with essential trace minerals that help prevent metritis, retained placenta and other health problems.
• Prompt re-breeding, thanks to essential nutrients



For Beef
• Stronger, healthier calves at birth
• Heavier Calves at weaning
• Cows that cycle better for improved conception rates
• Cows that milk better to raise a better calf

LLAMAS LLAMAS LLAMAS

If you've been considering starting in llamas, or having a llama for a pet, why not stop in to see our herd.

Our young males start at $500, our weanling females at $2,500, our pregnant females at $3,500. A deposit will hold any of our crias (baby llamas) for you.

We prefer selling off the farm, rather than subjecting our animals to the stress of auctions.

All of our llamas are registered with the International Llama Registry. Some of the finest wool and blood lines can be found in our herd, including Otter Creek Harold.

All llamas can be halter led, and are gently trained by teenagers.

IN ALUMINUM BODIES
EBY BUILDS IT

M H Eby custom-builds aluminum truck bodies for the agri-transportation market Nobody offers more sizes and options in:

- FLATBED BODIES - Lengths to 32', choice of 5 widths
- GRAIN BODIES - Lengths to 24', landscape and general purpose dumps to 12'
- LANDSCAPE BODIES - Lengths to 12', We'll build to your specs!

Let EBY custom build one for you.

For greater payload capacity, Eby's aluminum design is equal in strength to steel and up to 40% lighter. Our corrosion-resistant components never need painting. That means minimum maintenance, improved appearance and higher resale value.

Eby products have superior standard features. And we offer customer options for virtually any application. Agriculture is your business - building bodies to haul it is ours.

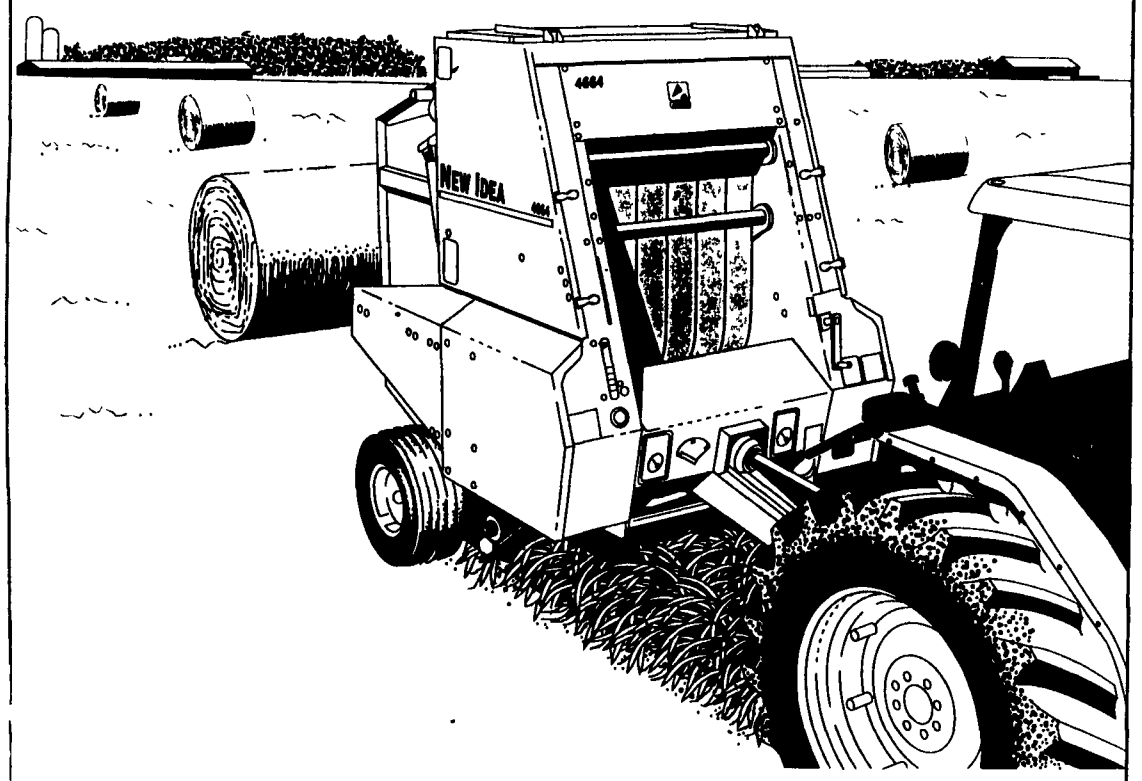
Total Baling Flexibility



Variable chamber balers give you the control to customize your baling.

- Bale size indicators are easy-to-read and allow you to fit your bales to your handling and feeding requirements.
- Adjustable density control allows you to control the density according to your crop. Bales store longer when baled at the correct density.
- Low-profile, floating pickup on all four models improves bale starts and ensures gentle crop handling.
- Sure-Trac crowned drive roller positively drives forming belts with a crowned traction surface.
- The wide pickup and vertical bale chamber of the 4600 Series move crop in one direction to reduce leaf loss and improve the quality of your bale.
- Ask about competitive financing plans through Agricredit Acceptance Company.

HAPPENINGS

Mercer County 4-H Team Places In Contest

Mercer County 4-H members made their presence known at the Penn State Spring Livestock judging contest held recently at the Penn State Main Campus.

Approximately 268 youths from 10 FFA chapters and 19 counties competted in the different divisions. These youths tested their knowledge of beef, sheep and swine, decision making, and public speaking skills. During the contest these youths judged six to nine classes, depending on their division.

The Mercer County Junior Advanced Team placed sixth in the state for beef cattle, tenth in the state for swine, ninth in the state for sheep, and eighth in the overall contest. This team consisted of Nikki Hancox, Amber Amon, Dan Quirk, and Jessica Williams. This team of 4-H members from various livestock clubs in the county come together to form a livestock judging club.

Mercer County had two junior beginner teams, youths that ranged in age from eight to 13. The first team was made up of Dustin Douglas, Janice Barbour, Alex Barbour, and Jason McGhee. Dustin Douglas, an 8-yera-old 4-H'er who judged for the first time in his career, was the fourth highest individual in the state for swine judging. The other group from Mercer who also did a great job at the contest consisted of Christy Williams, Danny Williams, and Mike Bronley.

4-H Members Score In Dairy Judging Contest

Mercer County 4-H members made their presence known at the Penn State Spring Dairy judging contest recently at the Main Campus of Penn State University.

Approximately 180 youth from 10 FFA chapters and 19 counties competed in the different divisions. These youths tested their knowledge of dairy cattle, decision making, and public speaking skills. During the contest these youths judged nine to 10 classes, depending on their division.

Mercer County Team A, which consisted of Randy Henry, Sam Huff, Kim Voorhies and Bobby Scaland, came in seventh highest team overall in the junior division. Team member Randy Henry placed 9th highest individual overall in the state in the junior division. Also participating as an individual was Andrew Blake, who defended himself well and came out as the 5th highest individual in the state.

The senior division team consisted of Tom Uber, Tammi Menke, and Ginny Morningstar. This team won the number 10 senior team in the state. Also, an individual in the senior division was Chris Connelly, who came in as the eighth highest individual senior in the state.

4-H Junior Gardeners Program To Begin

The York County 4-H program has announced the start of the 1996 Penn State Junior Gardener Program for youth between the ages of 8-14.

Members will have hands-on experiences to learn how to raise their favorite flowers and vegetables. The Junior Gardeners work under the guidance of the Penn State Master Gardeners at the York Agriculture Museum, York.

The members till, plant, weed, tend, and harvest their own fruits and vegetables at the site. They also are able to go on field trips and are given seedlings to raise on their own at home.

Junior Gardeneres participate in the York County 4-H Fair in August and enter their flowers and vegetables at the York Fair. This is an exciting, fun-filled activity and children may register by calling Mary Jo Kraft at (717) 840-7408, or just come to the Agriculture Museum on any Monday in May. The program starts on May 6, from 6:30 p.m.-7:30 p.m.

Ecosyl Becomes First Silage Inoculant Accepted By FDA

WILMINGTON, Del. — Ecosyl is the first silage inoculant to achieve acceptance from the Food and Drug Administration (FDA) for improving silage fermentation, according to its manufacturer.

Produced by Zeneca Bio Products, Ecosyl is applied either in granular form or as a liquid spray to grass, alfalfa, or corn forages during the chopping process. It increases the efficiency of the fermentations by producing increased levels of lactic acid, with less of the undesirable fermentation acids.

"This leads to a lower final pH value and less breakdown of nutrients such as proteins. Improved silage fermentation saves nutrients and creates a higher quality silage," said Andy Beardsmore, business manager for Zeneca Inoculants Business.

Hernley Attends Dealer Panel

ATLANTA, Ga. — Duane Hernley of Hernley's Farm Equipment in Elizabethtown, Pa. recently attended the AGCO Allis North American Dealer Panel meeting held in Atlanta, according to Jim Seaver, executive vice president of sales and marketing for AGCO.

The AGCO Allis dealer panel meets twice yearly to discuss dealer concerns and ideas with AGCO management and provide input in the implementation of new programs and resolve mutual issues. The 12 panel members — one from each of AGCO's U.S. and Canadian sales region — are chosen by their peers to serve a two-year term as their region's representative.

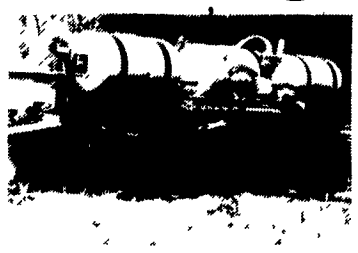
"Our dealers are the foundation of this company and it's important that we maintain a close relationship with them," said Seaver. The members of the dealer panel not only represent more than 570 AGCO Allis dealers on company issues, but are a valuable source of information on products, trends in the marketplace and customer relations.

Attachment Makes Converting To Zone Tillage Easy

KALIDA, Ohio — Unverferth Manufacturing announces the availability of the Zone-Tiller (R) Attachment for easy conversion of JD 7000 and 7200 series 6-row 30-inch planters to one-pass zone-tillage planting.

The Zone-Tiller Attachment's three patented coultres per planter row prepare a seedbed with the same characteristics as conventional tillage. The result id faster soil warm-up, more uniform germination and rapid, early plant growth. The Aone-Tiller Attachment's heavy-duty steel frame mounts directly to the planter mainframe for a compact configuration which has maximum durability and maneuverability.

The parallel link, independent hydraulic, on-the-go coultre depth control system ensures uniform soil penetration. The coulters have up to 1000 pounds of vertical blade-load pressure and are adjustable for optimum penetration in the heaviest soils and residue.



Unverferth Manufacturing announces the availability of the Zone-Tiller (r) Attachment for easy conversion of JD 7000 and 7200 series 6-row 30-inch planters to one-pass zone-tillage planting.

The patented coulters feature six-bolt hubs with a large attachment circle, recessed end caps, triple-lip seals, O-rings and two tapered roller bearings. All joints are also double-welded for even greater strength.

The lead coulter is equipped with a one-inch, 13-wave blade. The side coulters are equipped with two-inch, eight-wave blades for thorough tillage. All standard equipment blades are 17½ inches in diameter. A wide variety of other blade designs and sizes to match individual soil and residue conditions are also available.

Till And Drill Provides Consistent Seed Placement

KALIDA, Ohio — Unverferth Manufacturing Company has announced the availability of the Till & Drill (TM) for the 15-foot JD 750 drill.

The Till & Drill attaches to the 750 without modification and helps assure solid stands through improved seed placement and elimination of the yield-limiting factors of sidewall compaction, residue hairpinning and poor seed-to-soil contact.

The Till & Drill features patented, heavy-duty coulters with one-inch, 13-wave blades that till a "seedbed" directly in front of each drill opener. The coulters are offset on a dual toolbar for optimum residue flow and penetration.

The tilled area creates an improved seed placement environment which results in quicker, more consistent germination and uniform stands.

The Till & Drill mainframe is primed and painted to match the drill and is constructed of heavy-duty tubular steel with double 1¼ " x 5" solid steel coulter bars. Independent hydraulics and parallel linkage allow on-the-go coulter depth-adjustment.

Unverferth Manufacturing Company has announced the availability of the Till & Drill (TM) for the 15-foot JD 750 drill.

Additional coulter features include:

* Six-inch vertical travel for maximum maneuverability over rough terrain and obstacles
* Adjustable vcertical blade load pressure up to 1,000 pounds for optimum soil penetration, even in the toughest conditions
* Six-bolt hubs with recessed dust caps and triple-lip seals for long life.

Combines Factory Equipped With Site-Specific Systems

RACINE, Wis. — Case Corporation recently announced it is offering factory-installed, fully integrated site-specific farming equipment that puts global positioning satellite technology to work on its Axial-Flow(R) combines.

Starting in April, Case will be offering its new advanced farming systems combines throughout North America, making it the first agricultural equipment manufacturer ever to offer combines factory-equipped with this technology. The AFS system comes with yield monitor, differential GPS antenna, differential GPS receiver, moisture sensor, grain-flow sensor, data cards, and accompanying AFS mapping software.

Available this April, new Case IH Advanced Farming Systems Axial-Flow(R) combines feature complete, factory-installed equipment that puts global positioning satellite technology to work.

"Case is leading the industry by offering factory availability of combines that interface with the global positioning satellite network," said Kelly Kravig, Case product manager, ag application systems. "These combines will be sold with everything farmers need to make site-specific farming a reality for them."

Kravig added that Case was also first to make a fully integrated mapping, yield monitoring, and moisture sensing system commercially available to farmers. Case IH Advanced Farming Systems were available for field installation on combines in 12 states in the U.S. Midwest in 1995. He said the combines were operated in a variety of crop types and over thousands of acres.

Vertical Pumps Agitate, Transfer, Load Fast

POUND, Wis. — The new Patz Model 6000 and Model 8000 vertical pit pumps are custom built to customers' needs.

Benefits include:

• Save time with dual-level agitation for surface crust and bottom of pit.

• Match your operation with 6 or 8-inch pump (up to 3,500 gallons per minute).

• Match your pit depth: 6, 8, 10 and 12-foot pump length.

• Get better pit cleanout from two nozzles that agitate corners by rotating horizontally and vertically.

• Enjoy all-hydraulic controls, or choose manual controls.

• Get long service life from tapered roller bearings in oil bath chamber protected by three seals.

• Insert pump into pit easily because it's articulated on 2-point hitch, or choose stationary base.

Power Pro Gives Tips About Batteries

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — Farmers make use of many pieces of equipment which require one or more batteries. But if the equipment is used seasonally and the batteries aren't kept charged, they'll sulfate.

Between 20-25 percent of farm batteries fail because of the process known as "sulfation." Sulfation is a buildup of corrosion on the lead plates which occurs during the discharging cycle.

As long as there's nothing broken within a battery's case, a sulfated battery can be reconditioned. Reconditioning a battery reverses sulfation and restores it to a "like-new" condition.

Most Amish need two categories of batteries: starting battery and deep cycle. The starting battery is used to start the diesel engine or other engines equipped with a an alternator. A deep cycle battery is used to operate items such as a buggy's lights, or fans, fencers, and other items.

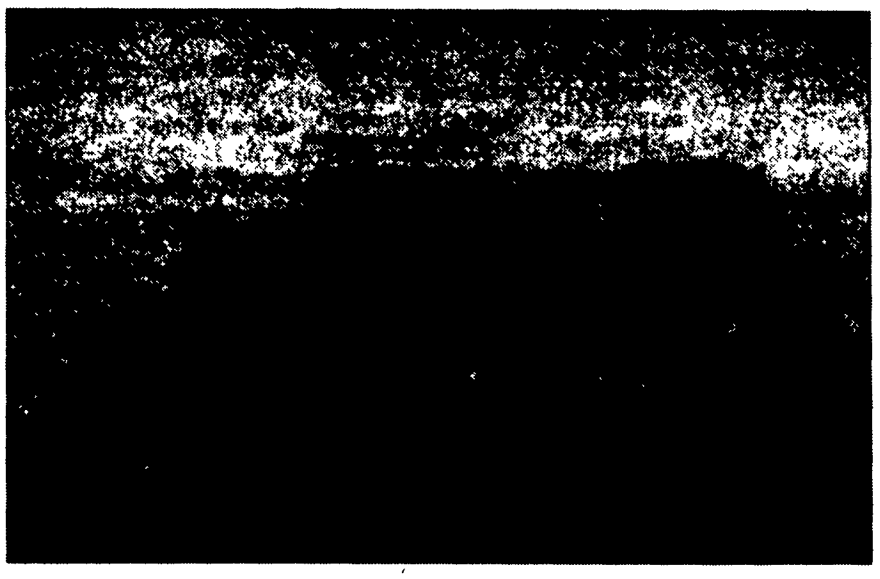
A starting battery's alternator keeps the battery in a fully charged state. A starting battery should not be deeply discharged because it will greatly shorten its life. If a starting battery needs to be recharged, the heat created can deteriorate the thin plate construction.

A deep cycle battery's thicker plate construction is designed for virgorus cycling duties, such as repeated long continuous discharging. Completely discharging and slowly recharding a deep cycle battery will prolong its life.

A battery hydrometer may be a good investment. It displays the percentage of charge remaining, will assist in preventing overcharging, and will identify a weak or dead cell.

- Power Pro Battery Company has been reconditioning batteries since 1991. Since then, they have reconditioned thousands of farm equipment batteries.

We hear you.



Like most aspects of farming, baling has changed dramatically over the last 20 years. Once it involved rounding up a bunch of kids to load wagons; slowly, it has evolved into the era of one man and big round bales. And now, in response to your requests, this evolution continues.

With continued improvements, the Case International 8570 mid-sized rectangular baler and its big brother, the 8580 large rectangular baler, make baling more convenient than ever. Both are proof that we do indeed hear you.

These machines produce a bale size and weight up to 1,000 lbs. for the 8570 and 2,200 lbs. for the 8580 that's easy to stack, store, transport and feed.

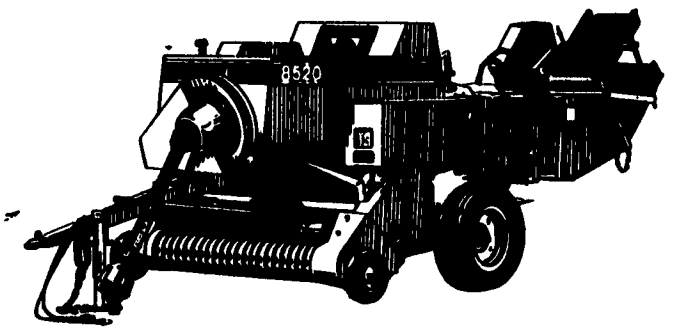
Formed with easy-separating flakes, these bales can be fed by hand, processed, or pulled apart by livestock. They're tight and dense for handling and shipping ease. And thanks to the design of the 8500 Series balers, they're packed with nutrition.

A wide, low-profile pickup reduces the loss of valuable leaves, while the pre-packer chamber keeps nutrients contained within the bale. And each pre-formed flake is exceptionally uniform in size and weight.

The Case International 8570 and 8580 rectangular balers. You asked for an evolution in baling, and we heard you. Find out more from your Case IH dealer today.

And ask about Total Produce Support. It's the commitment that ensures the performance and overall value of every Case International produce.

OUTSTANDING BALER PERFORMANCE MEANS GREATER NUTRITION AT AN ECONOMICAL PRICE



Case International 8520/8530 Rectangular Balers

These two balers both feature the Case IH center line design. Eliminates turning corners with the crop to get it into the bale chamber, as is common with conventional designs. This saves valuable protein-rich leaves. Also saves time because you don't have to change from field to road position for transport.

Other outstanding features are:

- Low-profile baler design provides excellent visibility to the rear of the baler.
- Low profile pickup... reduces crop lifting height, saving nutritious leaves.
- Hay goes straight into the unique prepacker chamber... regardless of windrow size... for uniform flake and bale density.

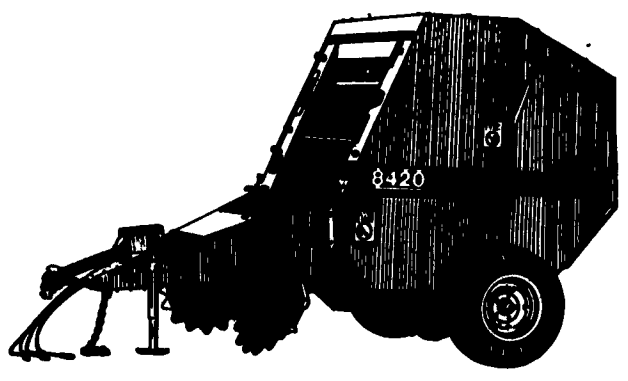
THE COMPACT BALER WITH BIG-BALER FEATURES



Case International 8420 Round Baler

Produce consistent 39x54-inch bales using only a 30-PTO horsepower tractor. Yet reap the advantage of direct feed, open-throat chamber design so bales build fast, sure and tight. Other big-baler features:

- Aggressive starter roll so each bale starts right.
- Audible signal when bales are done and ready for wrapping.
- Cam-actuated low-profile pickup, close tine spacing for clean sweeping of heavy windrows.
- Optional hydraulic twine wrapping system.

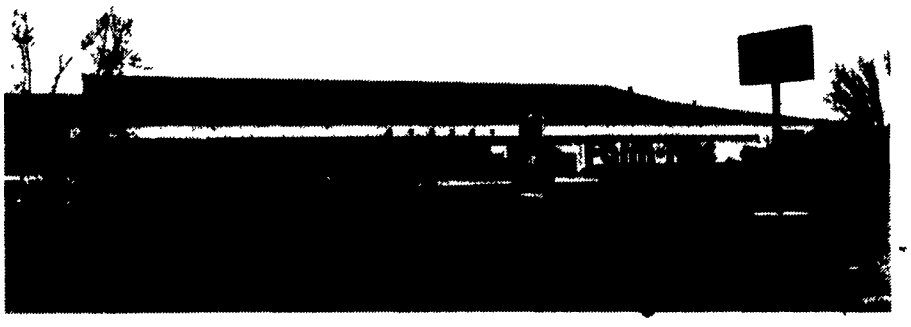
What started as a small farm equipment dealership in Shiloh, New Jersey, has become the only full-line Case IH dealership in the state. Since Donald Strang started Farm-Rite in 1966, the business expanded and was moved in 1978 to its present, modern facilities northwest of town on 14 acres just off of Route 49.

Farm-Rite is looking to the future. Dealership personnel include experienced veterans as well as a talented group of young people, including Strang's son Don, who are committed to maintaining the level of service customers expect from Farm-Rite.

Farm-Rite provides a complete line of Case IH tractors, combines, tillage and forage equipment. In addition, they also offer a full service irrigation department, lime and fertilizer sales and application, and a grain brokerage service.



"We do the best we can to take care of our customers." says Strang. "We offer everything from combines to sprayers to center pivot irrigation systems to provide equipment and service for our customers." Farm-Rite maintains extensive parts and service departments to support the products they sell. Strang believes that the Case IH Magnum tractors and Axial Flow combines have proven themselves to be leaders in the field and looks forward to new innovations and product introductions by Case IH.

Handicapped Riders Event At Devon Horse Show

MALVERN (Chester Co.) — On Saturday, May 25, Thorncroft Equestrian Center in conjunction with Bryn Mawr Rehab will again be host to more than 150 riders and drivers who gather here to compete in one of the largest handicapped horse shows in the country, The Handicapped Riders Event of the Devon Horse Show.

Riders will compete in equitation classes on the flat and over fences, trail, dressage, and costume. Several entries will also participate in the driving division which consists of a dressage test, obstacle course, and cross country marathon.

This year is the 17th year of the event, which has become more and more popular with equestrians not only in near by Chester County, but as far away as Massachusetts, Maryland, and Ohio.

Thorncroft's drill team "The Mainstreamers" perform and local associations and pony clubs will present their products in booths provided on the property. Friends come from near and far to watch their equestrians ride, and cheer them on. Bryn Mawr Rehab will sponsor a handsome horticulture booth, a luscious lunch, and the endless volunteers necessary to insure the day is again a success.

On Sunday, May 26 the excitement moves up the Main Line to the Devon Horse Show Grounds in nearby Devon. Here winners of the individual divisions from Saturday gather to compete for the final time for the much coveted grand champion award. The trophy for this class was donated by the late Hope Montgomery Scott, who herself won the trophy competing in 1930.

The Brushwood Challenge Trophy, donated by Mrs. J. Maxwell Moran of Brushwood Stables in Malvern, is also presented at this time. The prestigious Dixon Oval, the spotlight of the Devon Horse Show, is the site of the grand champion class and presentation of the championship awards.

76 Cow Total Ventilation System - Denver, PA
Lapp's Barn Equipment can install a high-performance/high efficiency tunnel ventilation system in your barn. A tunnel ventilation system will give you an even air flow throughout your barn of 2-5 mph. This gives you the advantage of better controlling temperature to give your cows more comfort which means more milk!! Also, a tunnel ventilation system eliminates circulating fans, provides summer and winter ventilation and controls fly problems! An optional unit can even automate your ventilation so you will never even have to worry about it when you're not there, so you can concentrate on other things!
At Lapp's, we sell high quality ventilation systems manufactured by Acme Engineering, Acme products feature such things as:

- Galvanized Construction
- Wide Cambered Propeller
- Rivited Blades
- Unique Captured Bearings
- Vertical Support Frame
- Screens Pre-cut
- Totally Enclosed Motors
- Optional Discharge Diffuser Cone

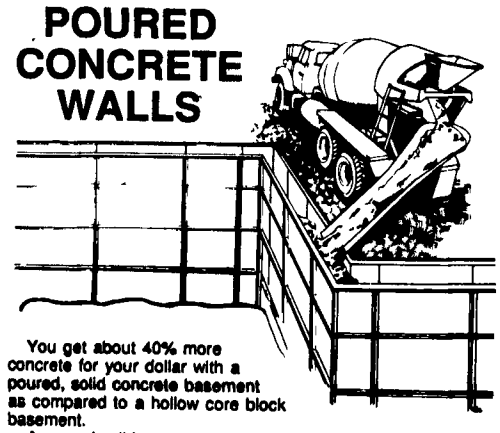
POURED CONCRETE WALLS



You get about 40% more concrete for your dollar with a poured, solid concrete basement as compared to a hollow core block basement.

A poured solid concrete basement weighs about 50 lbs. more per cubic foot! Far denser. What's more, poured solid concrete walls are monolithic ... there are no joints!

This is why laboratory tests show poured, solid concrete basements have many times the flexural and compressive strength to withstand the side and down pressures caused by earth, wind, water and building loads and the material density to resist water penetration.

Best of all, thanks to modern and efficient construction techniques, poured, solid concrete basements are competitively priced

Coronation, Awards Highlight State Guernsey Convention

LINDA WILLIAMS
Bedford Co. Correspondent

BEDFORD (Bedford Co.) — A tearful Melissa Morrow, Pennsylvania Guernsey Queen, told her audience that she had learned so very much during the past year. "My advice to the youth," she continued, "is to take advantage of every opportunity."

Melissa expressed gratitude to Jim and Mary Lou Trotter who chair the State Guernsey Convention held annually in Bedford County. She also thanked her very good friend and past Guernsey Dairy Queen, Beth Clark; her friend, Patty McMurray, and her parents for her success as the Guernsey Queen.

Accepting the crown for 1996-97 was Vickie Ansell of Scottdale in Westmoreland County.

The crowning ceremony took place at the annual Pennsylvania Junior Guernsey Breeders' Association Awards Breakfast held on Saturday, April 17, at the Arena Restaurant in Bedford.

Amber Clark, daughter of Beth and Richard Clark, of Morrison's Cove was named the outstanding girl.

Outstanding boy was Eric Poole, son of Chuck and Peggy Poole.

Other awards included Junior Production presented by Julie Sollenberger and Andy Ebersole.

High Two-Year-Old Milk-Fat-Protein: Amy Liggett, Enon Valley.
High Three-Year-Old Milk-Fat-Protein: Justin McMurray, Eighty Four.
High Four-Year-Old Milk: Amber Clark.
High Four-Year-Old Fat-Protein: Jan Snider.
High Five-Year-Old & Over Milk-Fat-Protein: Aaron Gable.

Jessica Kunz and Aaron Gable presented the Junior All-Pennsylvania Awards which went to the following:

Junior Heifer Calf: Amy Guyer, Derry.
Intermediate Heifer Calf: Kristy Guyer, Derry.
Senior Heifer Calf: Jason Henisee, Columbia.
Summer Yearling Heifer: Jan Snider.
Junior Yearling Heifer: Amber Clark, New Enterprise.
Intermediate Yearling Heifer: Holly Liggett, Enon Valley.
Senior Yearling Heifer: Justin McMurray, Eighty Four.
Junior Two-Year-Old Cow: Eric Poole, Tarrs.
Senior Two-Year-Old Cow: Amber Clark, New Enterprise.
Junior Three-Year-Old Cow: Paula Guyer, Derry.
Senior Three-Year-Old Cow: Andy Ebersole, Annville.
Four-Year-Old Cow: Aaron Gable, New Enterprise.
Five-Year-Old & Over Cow: Aaron Gable.
Dry Cow Four-Years & Under: Aaron Gable.
Dry Cow Five-years & Over: Jonathan McMurray, Eighty Four.

Mary Morrow announced a craft auction held at the Friday evening banquet gave the Junior Guernsey Breeders a total of $3,673.

David and Jill Trotter presented a slide show of their recent trip to South America sponsored by the Guernsey Association.

Amy Ligget wins the t-shirt design contest for the Guernsey industry.

Dekalb's Seed Products Available

DEKALB, Ill. — Dekalb Genetics Corporation has introduced 23 new seed products to its product lineup for this spring's planting. Among these new seed products are 12 new corn hybrids, eight new soybean varieties, and three sorghum hybrids.

Three of these new corn hybrids offer growers the value-added feature of herbicide tolerance. Two of these new hybrids have been bred with tolerance to sethoxydim, a grass herbicide sold under the brand name Poast(R).

Dekalb has also received USDA approval to market a new hybrid that's tolerant to glufosinate, a broad spectrum post-emergence herbicide.

Dekalb is also releasing another new soybean variety that provides enhanced tolerance to DuPont(R) soybean sulfonylurea herbicides for additional pest management options.

A summary of the key features and Relative Maturities (RM) of these new products includes:

Corn

• DK430SR is the first hybrid with 93 RM (95 RM in MN) specifically developed with tolerance to the herbicide Poast(R). This hybrid offers very good plant health, along with eyespot resistance, strong stalks and consistent performance across varied soil conditions.

• DK477 is a 97 RM hybrid (100 RM in MN) with outstanding yield and drydown. Excellent stalks, roots and ear retention at harvest allow it to be used as an early corn south of its primary zone of adaptation.

• DK483 is a 98 RM hybrid (100 RM in MN) with excellent test weight and consistent yields for high grain quality markets. The hybrid works well in a wide range of soils, including cooler, poorer drained soils.

• DK559 is a fast drying 105 RM hybrid with excellent yield for its maturity, very good emergence and seedling vigor. Ideally suited for the central Corn Belt, this hybrid out yields leading competition and expands our package of hybrids for this market.

• DK561SR is a high yielding 106 RM hybrid (110 RM in MN) specifically developed for tolerance to the herbicide Poast(R). This hybrid exhibits an excellent total package of desirable offensive and defensive traits including plant health and stalk strength.

• DK574GR is a widely adapted 107 RM hybrid specifically developed for tolerance to the new herbicide glufosinate. It offers excellent yield and drydown, and is adaptable to all soil types and crop rotations.

• DK586 is a high yielding 108 RM hybrid adapted to the western Corn Belt. This hybrid exhibits very good performance under dryland conditions yet takes advantage of irrigation. It emerges quickly with strong seedling vigor and will expand our hybrid package for this market.

• DK618 is a widely adapted, early flowering 111 RM hybrid that delivers excellent yields even with severe disease pressure. It possesses good staygreen and offers much better gray leaf spot resistance than most hybrids presently being marketed in its area of adaptation.

• DK631W is a widely adapated 113 RM white grain hybrid with good grain quality and test weight. Excellent emergence and seedling vigor make it a good choice for a wide range of soil conditions. It offers growers in white corn markets with a higher yielding hybrid.

• DK641 is a high yielding 114 RM hybrid adapted to both dryland and irrigation. This hybrid has a large, flexing ear with good grain quality and high test weight. Its grain dries faster and is higher yielding than many competitors.

• DK658 is a high yielding 115 RM hybrid with good grain quality and test weight. It has much better resistance to gray leaf spot than most hybrids presently being marketed in its area of adaptation. In addition, it exhibits better seedling vigor and higher yields.

• DK687 is a 118 RM hybrid with high yields and resistance to the Southern rust, Southern virus complex and gray leaf spot. The hybrid produces high-quality grain and provides reliable performance under both optimum and tough conditions.

Soybeans

• CX025 becomes our earliest soybean variety. This early Group O variety features excellent emergence and standability. Its defensive package includes irion chlorosis tolerance and the Rps1a gene for phytophthora root rot resistance.

• CX197 is a late Group I variety with excellent standability, emergence, and seedling vigor. It has the Rps1k gene for phytophthora resistance. The combination of traits makes this variety an excellent choice for no-till and narrower row widths.

• CX229 is an early Group II variety with excellent standability and a strong package of defensive traits. It has the Rps1c gene for resistance to phytophthora root rot. Emergence and seedling vigor make this variety an excellent choice for no-till.

• CX297 is a late Group II STS(TM) variety with enhanced tolerance to DuPont(R) soybean sulfonylurea herbicides. STS provides growers additional pest management options.

• CX375 is a mid-to-late Group III variety iwth phytophthora (Rps1k) and brown stem rot resistance. Its standability, plant height and medium plant type allow it to be used in no-till and solid seeded planting.

• CX450C is a mid Group IV variety with resistance to race 3 soybean cyst nematode. Excellent emergence and seedling vigor make this a widely adapted variety. This variety is recommended where SCN and sudden death syndrome are prevalent.

• CX494 is a late Group IV variety adapted to non-cyst growing areas. Its quick emergence and good disease tolerance make it adapted to conventional and no-till planting. The bushy plant type helps fill wider rows quickly.

• CX510C, an early Group V variety, is our first variety in this group. It offers resistance to soybean cyst nematode race 3, excellent standability and good tolerance to phythophthora. A determinate variety which is well adapted to drilled planting.

Sorghum

• DK35 is a medium-early bronze grain hydrid with excellent yield for its maturity. This new hybrid is uniquely adapted to the Eastern Great Plains, where sorghum acres are expanding. It offers broad adaptation to most soil types and tillage practices.

• DK44 is a medium maturity bronze grain hybrid with outstanding drought stress tolerance with consistent high yields over various environments. If offers a package of disease resistance, seedling vigor and stand establishment needed in its broad market.

• DK47 is a consistent high yielding hybrid with above average seed size and excellent seedling vigor for fast emergence. A medium maturity bronze grain hybrid, DK47 offers better standability, Greenbug resistance, and excellent yields.

Farm Bureau Urges Favorable Vote On Property Rights Measure

ALBANY, N.Y. — The 25,700-member New York Farm Bureau is calling on Senators D'Amato and Moynihan to support legislation S.605 to protect the rights of private property owners as provided for in the Fifth Amendment to the U.S. Constitution.

According to NYFB President John Lincoln, "Property rights legislation is needed to define the limits of government 'takings' and to help balance individual rights with legitimate public goals. We believe it is appropriate for society to bear the costs of protecting this nation's environmental resources. As it stands today, society forces farmers and other private landowners to foot the bill for that protection. The Omnibus Property Rights Act would correct the situation."

Lincoln said, "This legislation not only would provide for compensation for the value of land taken, it would require government agencies to assess the effects of their actions through a private property rights impact analysis that spells out the reason for the taking and the expected cost."

He noted, "The federal government actions that hit farmers and private landowners the most often involve wetlands and the habitats of endangered species."

The Farm Bureau leader went on to urge farmers and other landowners in the state to call Senators D'Amato and Moynihan before the upcoming vote in early May. Their numbers are Sen. Alfonse D'Amato, (202) 224-6542 and Sen. Daniel Patrick Moynihan, (202) 224-4451.

MIDNIGHT FEEDING OF COMMERCIAL LAYING HENS EVALUATED FOR EGG SHELL QUALITY

Paul H. Patterson
Assistant Professor Department of
Poultry Science

Economic losses from cracked and broken eggs continues to be a major problem facing the commercial egg industry. Reports from the United States and Europe would suggest that between 6.4 and 6.7 percent of eggs produced are either lost or not collected because of poor shell quality.

A recent study conducted by researchers at the University of Florida attempted to determine whether hens would consume feed and improve egg shell quality when lights and feeders were allowed to run for 45 minutes at midnight. (Harms, Douglas and Sloan, 1996, Journal of Applied Poultry Research, vol. 5 pp. 1-5).

The premise of their study was to provide calcium from the feed for egg shell formation after midnight when most of the shell is being formed. Previous work had determined that 87 percent of the dietary calcium carbonate was metered out of the hen's gizzard between 8 a.m. and 8 p.m. with very little available at night.

Three field experiments were conducted to determine the influence of midnight feeding on egg shell quality of commercial hens. Experiment 1 consisted of four houses containing 90,000 hens each which received feed at midnight. Four other houses served as control houses. Specific gravity (which indicates shell density and strenght with higher values) increase on eggs collected at 9 a.m. from hens fed at midnight in all four comparisons but only one was significantly improved (Table 1). Specific gravity of eggs collected at 3 p.m. were significantly improved in three of the four comparisons.

Hen age (wk)	Midnight feeding[A]	Specific gravity[B] 9 am eggs	Specific gravity 3 pm eggs
40	Yes	849*	857*
36	No	830	832
56	Yes	839	874*
52	No	834	859
62	Yes	833	829
58	No	823	864
65	Yes	828	815
61	No	824	827

[A]Yes indicates hens were fed at midnight and specific gravity was measured 4 days later.
[B]Specific gravity units coded 1.0xxx.
*Indicates measurements differ significantly (P<0.05) from day 1.

In Experiment 2, egg shell quality was measured before initiating the midnight feeding program in two cool-cell pad houses (containing 71,000 hens each). There was an improvement in shell weight, percent shell weight per unit surface area (SWUSA) in the cool end of both houses. However, shell weight was not affected in the warm end of the houses (Table 2).

Table 2. Egg weight and quality from two flocks fed at midnight. (Experiment 2)

The authors concluded that midnight feeding can improve egg shell quality. They felt it is necessary to both turn on the lights and run the automatic feeder in order to stimulate the hens to consume feed. Prior attempts to stimulate feed intake with laying hens maintained in open houses and fed by hand were found to be of no benefit because the hens were not stimulated to eat just by hand feeding. Midnight feeding apparently can be more beneficial for improving egg shell quality of eggs laid in the morning than for eggs laid in the afternoon.

While the results are plausible in terms of coordinating shell formation with feeding calcium, are encouraging and suggest a positive response for shell quality, I would caution anyone that these were only short term evaluations e.g. impact all within one week's time. What the long term impact of these programs is remains to be seen.

HAPPENINGS

West Friendship 4-H

On March 20, the West Friendship 4-H Livestock Club held its monthly meeting.

Anthony Fleg have an interesting and informative project talk on beekeeping. This demonstration included the habits, use, and necessity of honey bees.

Anthony also brought a hive for the members to examine.

Another highly commendable demonstration was given by Steve Allison, Lauren Paper, and Rachel Reinhardt on the selection of market lambs. They explained what to look for when selecting a project animal, such as a long thick loin and a well-muscled leg.

Before the meeting, many members attended a workshop to learn how to complete their project workbooks. The workbooks are new in the livestock area and are a fun and enjoyable way to learn about the many aspects of raising livestock.

On April 17, the West Friendship 4-H Livestock Club held its monthly meeting. Before the business meeting, the members gathered outdoors and were treated to an excellent program on sheep showmanship given by Mary Reinhardt and Lyndasy Glasscock. Lyndasy brought one of her sheep, and demonstrated the proper way to hold and brace the animal. Mary discussed show ring etiquette and what to expect in the show ring.

After the meeting, Cortney Hill-Dukehart gave a very informative project talk on beef cattle. Cortney explained how to halter brake a steer, and prepare him for a show, while blending in a wonderful sense of humor.

Adult Volunteer and Swine Project Leader J.G. Warfield held a Swine Selection Workshop for the West Friendship 4-H Livestock Club on Sunday, April 21. He has been breeding and raising pigs for many years, and gave a very interesting and informative workshop. His daughter Andrea and his son Ben are members of the West Friendship 4-H Livestock Club, and both are involved in swine. Several members were present, and the many aspects of swine selection were discussed.

The West Friendship 4-H Livestock Club, and the West Friendship Always in Action 4-H Club will have a food booth at the CB Rally on May 26. They will be serving a full array of food and beverages. The two clubs would like to thank the Glennwood Lions Club for allowing them the use of their facilities during the CB Rally.

The West Friendship 4-H Livestock Club will also be selling tickets for a 50/50 raffle throughout the year, prior to the drawing at the Howard county Fair. Half of the proceeds go to the club, and the other half goes to the winner of the drawing.

The proceeds from these fundraisers benefit the West Friendship 4-H Livestock Club and the West Friendship Always in Action 4-H Club. This support enables them to make donations to 4-H related causes, continue doing community service, and "Make the Best Better!"

The West Friendship 4-H Livestock Club is being recognized as an outstanding 4-H club by the University of Md. Cooperative Extension Service. The West Friendship 4-H Livestock Club will receive their plaque at the state 4-H recognition program held at the Maryland State Fairgrounds, Timonium, Md., in the Horse Sales Pavilion, on June 30.

York County 4-H Members Participate In State Rabbit Convention

Three members of the York County 4-H Rabbit and Small Animal Club participated in the youth royalty and educational contests and the rabbit show on April 27-28 at the State Rabbit Convention held at the Clinton County Fairgrounds.

Rijelle Kraft, Manchester, was first runner-up in the state duchess contest. She also was awarded second place in the state for her educational display on 'The Ten Top Reasons To Buy A Rabbit.'

Rijelle also showed a best of variety French Lop in the rabbit show. Melissa Stough, Glen Rock, also participated in the duchess contest and showed the best of breed mini-lop in the show. Lucas Kraft, Manchester, showed the best of variety Dutch Rabbit.

Conodoguinet Sheep Club

The third meeting of the Conodoguinet Sheep Club was held on April 17 at Francine Martin's house.

A video entitled, "Harvesting Your Wool Crop" was watched, and Mrs. Witter gave a program called, "Are EWE Ready For Spring."

The benefit auction was discussed, and items were turned in. If you still have items to be turned in, call Mrs. Witter. The cookie and candy orders were also turned in to Mrs. Myers.

Speeches were given by Linnea Hoover and Sonya Rinker. There will be a Quiz Bowl in October with the Livestock Club.

The next meeting will be held at Zach Reed's house on May 15.

Pig Feeding Management May Cut Reproductive Problems

DES MOINES, Iowa — Strategies to improve feed intake by sows in early weaning systems may help them avoid reproduction problems, according to University of Minnesota research.

"In an effort to become more productive, U.S. pork producers have been using early weaning systems to eliminate some diseases and improve breeding productivity," said University of Minnesota animal scientist Yuzo Koketsu. "But as producers have moved to shorter lactation times for their sows, they're seeing a reduction in reproductive performance."

Koketsu explained that many pork producers now wean piglets when they are 14 to 19 days old. Traditionally, producers wean piglets when they are 21 to 28 days old. In a study of more than 10,000 sows from 16 commercial hog farms, Koketsu found that as producers weaned piglets at a younger age, sows took longer to become pregnant again and produced smaller litters. The study also showed that when producers managed their pigs to maximize feed intake, the effect of early weaning on reproduction nearly disappeared.

He presented results of the research to more than 1,000 researchers and extension specialists gathered for the joint Midwest meeting of the American Dairy Science Association and the American Society of Animal Science in Des Moines. The research was recognized at the meeting with a National Pork Producers Council Innovation Award for applied research.

"Age of the sow, time of year, genetics, litter size and number of previous litters all have an impact on reproductive performance in early weaning systems," Koketsu noted. "But the results of this study indicate that optimizing feed intake is the most significant management step producers can take to alleviate, at least in part, the negative effects of weaning age on subsequent farrowing rates."

He explained that sows often reduce feed intake at weaning in response to the reduced demand for energy that milk production requires.

To improve feed and energy intake during and after lactation, Koketsu recommends keeping room temperature at about 66 degrees beginning a week after birth and avoiding overfeeding of pregnant sows. He suggests that fat should be added to feed for lactating sows to increase energy density during hot weather. Also, drip coolers and metal or concrete floors will help keep sows comfortable in warm weather.

Koketsu also notes that to maximize a sow's reproductive performance, piglets should not be weaned until they are at least 14 days old, especially in the spring and summer. "Also, the sow herd should be dominated by stable and mature sows because first-litters sows have a higher risk of having reduced farrowing rates," he said.

Dekalb Genetics

DEKALB, Ill. — Access to timely information is critical to any grower's bottom line. That's why Dekalb now has a wide variety of information right where today's farmers need it most — at their fingertips.

Dekalb has gone online with a new "farmer friendly" Internet website located at http://www.dekalb.com. Dekalb's new site features in-depth agronomic and product information and much more for farmers, researchers, and agribusiness professionals.

Among the subjects found on Dekalb's Website are "Agronomic Strategies" that provide region-specific agronomic tips and scouting information from Dekalb's field agronomists throughout the U.S. For "Net surfers" who want to learn more about Dekalb's seed and swine business operations, this website includes an abbreviated version of their annual report plus a company news section to keep informed about Dekalb's latest product and research news.

"We continually look for opportunities to make the site more useful by adding product information, links to other important agricultural sites and direct E-mail access to allow farmers to ask questions directly to our agronomists and other employees," said Jim Nesmith, Dekalb's vice president of information technology. "Our major objective is to provide more information regarding our products. Dekalb offers some of the most technologically advanced seed and swine genetics products in the industry, so it's appropriate to inform customers and prospects via a technology-based medium like the Internet."

Spurge Scourge To Cattle Feed

DES MOINES, Iowa — Researchers at South Dakota State University want to turn range-ruining weed into cow feed.

The researchers are testing silage made from leafy spurge, a noxious weed that costs ranchers millions of dollars each year because it crowds out other range plants and cattle refuse to eat it.

"We thought that making silage out of it might make it more acceptable to the cattle," noted Jill Heemstra, the SDSU graduate research assistant who conducted the study. The researchers theorized that the microbes that cause chopped forage to ferment into silage might also break down the components of spurge that are so repugnant to livestock.

Heemstra found that when enzymes were added to the silage to enhance breakdown of cellulose in the forage, cattle preferred that spurge silage over any other spurge silage made with other additives. Spurge silage was ignored by the cattle except when mixed with silage made from other plants. When mixed at a rate of 20 percent with oat silage, cattle ate enough of the mix to maintain their body weight.

"We're not sure yet why the cattle had such a strong preference for the silage made with enzymes," Heemstra said. A chemical analysis of spurge is planned to try to identify the compounds that cause cattle to avoid leafy spurge. "Those compounds may be hidden in some fraction of the plant. By enhancing the breakdown of the plant material, we may be releasing those compounds and allowing them to break down," she said.

Although cattle fed the spurge silage suffered from scours, tissue and blood tests and an examination of the digestive tract revealed no toxins or damage that could be attributed to spurge. That seems to contradict a suspicion that cattle avoid the plant because it irritates their digestive systems, Heemstra said. Scours could be attributed to components in spurge that disrupt the digestive microbes located in a cow's first and largeststomach, the rumen.

"Cattle appear to avoid spurge because of a learned, aversive behavior, not because the plant is toxic," she said.

Heemstra says the results of the research are preliminary, but encouraging. "The research suggests that we could make leafy spurge much more palatable for cattle and eliminate many of problems," she said.

She presented the results of the research at the joint Midwestern meeting of the American Society of Animal Science and the American Dairy Science Association in Des Moines.

Eddy Elected Co-Chair

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Penny Eddy of Smethport has been elected co-chairman of the Pennsylvania Rural Development Council (PRDC), a statewide organization which seeks to expand economic opportunities for the commonwealth's rural residents.

Eddy has served on the Council since 1992 and became a member of the organization's executive committee a year ago. The organization is one of a number of boards, commissions, and other bodies under the jurisdiction of the executive offices of the governor.

"I know that Penny will make a significant contribution to the Rural Development Council and Pennsylvania's 3.7 million rural residents," said Governor Tom Ridge after Eddy's election. "The Rural Development Council provides my Administration with valuable advice and guidance as we seek to develop policies to advance the well being of our rural citizens."

PRDC is a collaborative partnership among private and nonprofit sector representatives and local, state, and federal government agencies. Although its principal focus is on economic development, the Council pursues its work in a holistic fashion, seeking to build communities as well as economic opportunities.

As co-chairman of the Council, Eddy will help guide projects which include increasing value-added processing and manufacturing using Pennsylvania-produced agricultural and forest products, assuring that rural areas have full access to evolving telecommunications and information technology applications, and providing adequate levels of investment capital to rural businesses.

Eddy serves as executive director of the McKean County Housing and Redevelopment authorities. She joined the agencies in 1973 and was elevated to the position of executive director in 1980. She also serves on Pennsylvania's Community Development Block Grant Advisory Board, the board of directors of the Pennsylvania Association of Housing and Redevelopment Authorities, the executive committee of the McKean County Cooperative Extension Advisory Committee, and numerous other organizations.

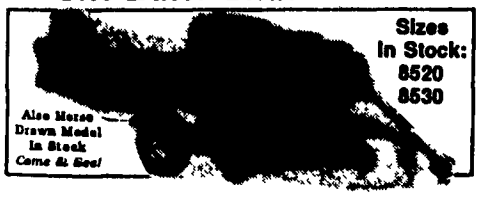
This Baler Can Save Thousands Of Dollars With Increased Milk Production In Greatly Reduced Leaf Loss Obtained With Our Direct Feed Crop Flow System (Unbiased Testing Has Proven The Facts)

Your Best Buy in Balers is from Binkley & Hurst Bros., Inc.

The Baler That Works!



WHY STRAIGHT IS BETTER THAN SIDEWAYS...

Reason #1 Transport width ranges from 7'11" to only 8'88" on our 8550 Model. Conventional balers are generally 1-foot wider in transport.

Reason #2 No need to widen our baler out once you're in the field or narrowing when leaving the field. The conventional baler must be narrowed and widened. Reduced time and effort means money.

Reason #3 Never a need to pick up bales when opening a field and dropping them on the ground—you can even leave the bale thrower on and drop the back chute. Since the baler and tractor straddles the windrow, the bales dropped on the ground from previous rounds never interferes with the operation.

Reason #4 Gauge wheels are mounted on both sides for better performance. Not so with conventional balers.

Reason #5 Our pickup is half the height of conventional balers. This means less leaves are lost because less travel distance up and over the pickup is required. An optional hydraulic pickup lift is even available.

Reason #6 Conventional balers are high maintenance cross feeders or sweep arms to move hay to the chamber. Our baler feeds hay from the pickup straight into the chamber by the use of a simple stuffer mechanism. Leaves don't fall to the bottom of the chamber and later fall out the back. Due to our design, leaves are placed evenly throughout the bale — the leaves are not given time to settle to the bottom.

Reason #7 Due to our design, our plunger stroke distance is 25-30% less than conventional balers. Example: John Deere 327, 337, 347 and 467 Models = 30" stroke; Case IH 8520 = 21.6" stroke and a high of 23" on our 8550. The result: Less wear, less side to side stress force and less repairs!

Reason #8 The clearance of our needles from the ground far exceeds conventional balers due to the high position of our chamber. This translates to less breakage and bending of the needles due to hitting high places in the field, etc.

Reason #9 We have equal baler weight distribution on both carrying wheels for easier handling and less side pull on hills.

Reason #10 The distance from the end of our bale chamber to the thrower belts is enough so that the thrower doesn't fight the bale; i.e., the bale is not still wedged in the chamber when the thrower first contacts the bale.

Reason #11 Our bale edges are sharp and corners are square on all types of hay - excellent when stackers are used or hay is hauled by truck.

Reason #12 Proven and reliable Deering type knotters on all center line balers.

If Your Haymaking Operation Could Use More Speed Count On Binkley & Hurst Bros. For Spring Delivery On The Latest In High Speed Mowing Technology The NEW Proven Model 8550 Case IH Self Propelled 15 Foot Disc Mower Conditioner

Double productivity with this new windrower from Case IH. This 8850 High Performance Self-propelled Windrower is the first of its kind to incorporate disc mower technology, which can more than double productivity compared to traditional sickle-bar machines.

Features include:
- turbocharged six-cylinder, 5.9 liter Case engine
- entire header, including disc cutting mechanism and hay conditioner, is driven by two separate hydraulic motors
- cuts to 15 feet three inches

Full protection of the 8850 will begin next year.

THE TRACTOR LOADER FOR ANY SEASON

There's no job too tough for the Ford 545D tractor loader from New Holland It's filled with power and ready to perform It's perfect for landscaping, construction... you name it.

The "545D" has a 62-horsepower diesel and a 4x4 or 8x8 transmission. The loader has a 5,000 lb lift capacity and 8 500 lbs of breakout force. The three-point hitch system with open-center hydraulics gives you precise control and raw power for a variety of applications It's available with a cab so you can stay out of the elements while you work. And, you can get it without a loader so you can pick the model that suits your needs.

2500 SERIES

AFFORDABLE, DURABLE, DEPENDABLE... YOUR BEST CHOICE IN IMPLEMENTS FOR MAINTAINING LARGER FIELDS AND PASTURES.

Bush Hog's 2500 Series Rotary Cutters are recommended for general pasture mowing requirements. Model 2510 has a 9-foot, 9-inch cutting width.

High blade tip speeds and a 3-inch blade overlap assure a thorough cut and uplift blades help raise grass for cleaner mowing. A flexible top link on lift models assists in closer cutting on uneven terrain.

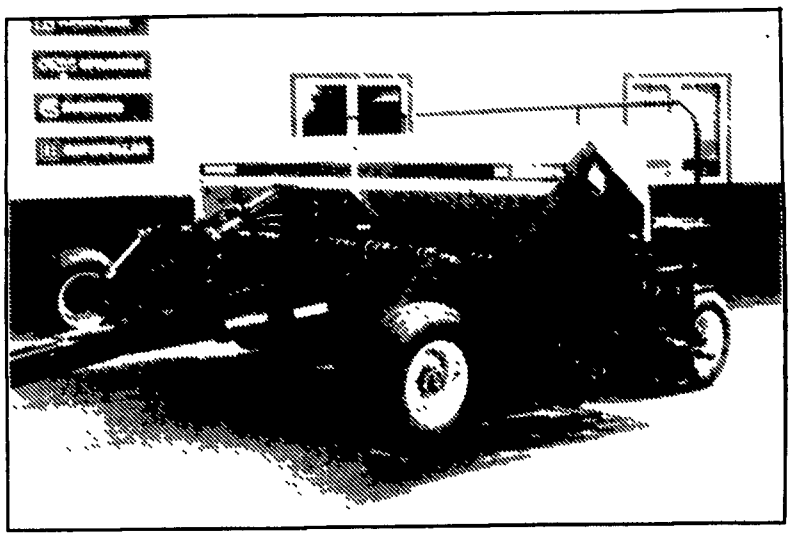
KRAUSE 5200 SERIES NO TIL DRILLS

WORK ANYTIME, ANYWHERE



Some No Til drills work best when its wet and soft; some work best when its dry and hard. Krause 5200 Series No Til drills seed at the proper depth when the ground is soft and they will penetrate in the tough, heat-baked soil of mid-summer. And Krause's use of precision seed cups and smooth seed tubes place the seed evenly in the row for ideal growth and yield.

Compare with the Competition:

- 13' and 15' Seeding Widths
- Excellent Side Hill Stability
- Narrow Transport - No Wider than it Seeds
- Excellent Road Clearance
- No Wheel Tracks
- Very Competitive PRICE

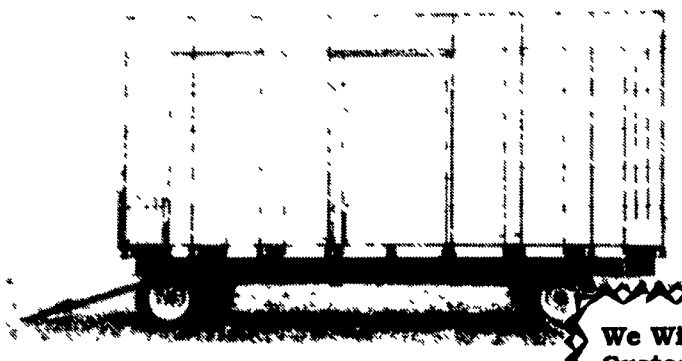
WELL BUILT Rack Wagons



We Will Custom Build Your Wagon

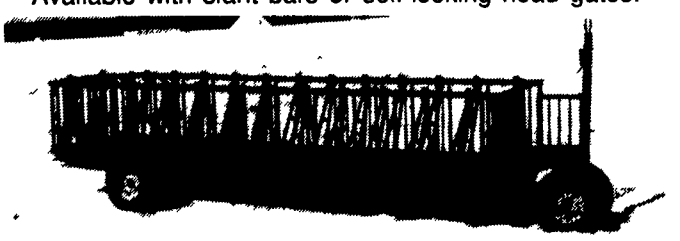
8' wide; 8' high; 16', 18' & 20' lengths
9' wide; 8' high; 16', 18' & 20' lengths

Description & Material Used:

- Two 4x8 fir stringers
- 3x4x8' oak cross members bolted to the fir stringers
- 18 ft. wagons have 9 cross members and 20 ft. wagons have 10 cross members
- Oak flooring nailed to the cross members with screw nails
- Racks are made out of 2" square tubing - 14' gauge - 1" square tubing between the uprights
- Swinging door at the back of the wagon; has quick release and swings 270 degrees one way
- Two 4' side openings with quick chain release
- Racks can be easily dismounted
- Painted John Deere Green or New Holland Red

FEEDER WAGONS

16', 21' and 27' lengths
Available with slant bars or self-locking head gates.



A great feature for feeding cattle in meadows or in feed lots. These wagons can be used to feed round hay bales, square bales or silage out of Ag bags or silos, etc.

The added feature of having the head locks make it nice for quick vet checks, etc.

16' has 20 head locks
21' has 26 head locks
27' has 32 head locks

- Feeder bottoms are sand blasted to remove rust & lead

ZETOR ZETOR

MORE TRACTOR . . . LESS MONEY!
- A Large Roomy Platform
- A Large Full View Cab
- Standard or Reverser Transmission
- 25 HP to 103 HP

ZETOR'S MATCHED IMPLEMENTS MAKE ZETOR TRACTORS BETTER

Zetor's Model RUR55 spreads lime, manure and chicken litter in either solid or semi-liquid. Carrying capacity 400 bushels with maximum spreading width of 30 ft. A. carries lightweight price tag.

Zetor's Disc Mower Model 240D, cuts everything from heavy tangled crops to time in the field. Its shaft-driven, six spinning discs cut an 8-foot swath.

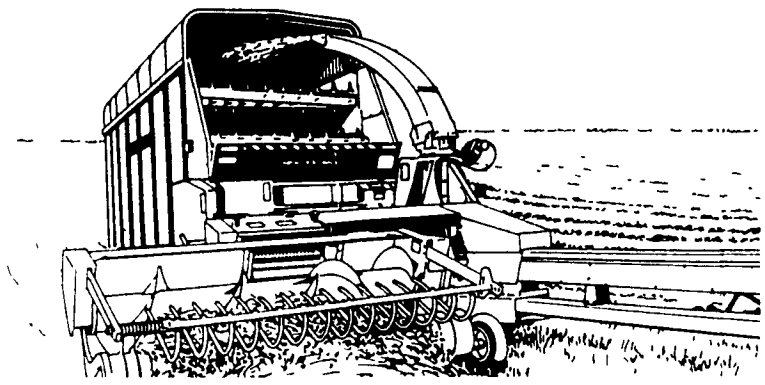
FINALLY...



YOU'RE IN CONTROL

The Model 900 forage harvester puts you in control of your harvest

- Rugged 21-inch, 12-knife cutterhead for a uniform chop.
- Exclusive flip-up feedrolls provide convenient access to the shearbar and smooth roll scraper.
- Electromagnetic clutches provide instant response in controlling feedroll and attachment drives
- Optional Metalert® II metal detector protects cutterhead and your valuable animals.

The NEW LEADER L3020

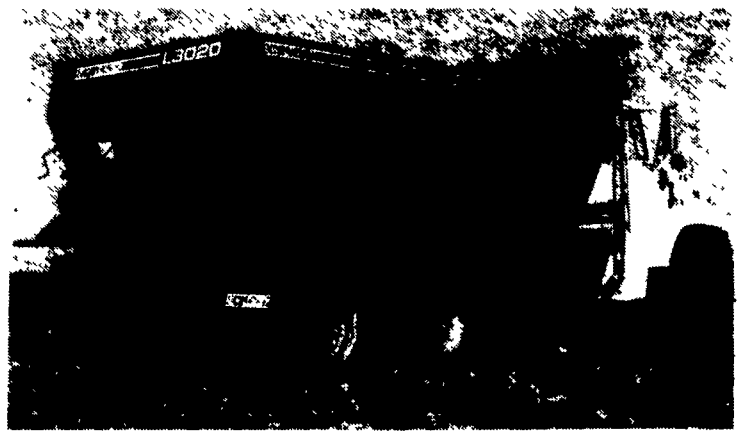
Heavy Duty LIME SPREADER



For more than 50 years, New Leader has aggressively met and exceeded market demand by producing the most dependable, adaptable and durable spreaders in the industry. The heavy-duty L-3020 spreader is a direct result of New Leader's unmatched experience in the agricultural equipment field.

Designed for high-volume applications of ag-lime and gypsum, the rugged and resilient L-3020 is also suitable for spreading fertilizer and hauling aggregate material. Equipped with an optional swinging rear endgate, the L-3020 can be quickly and efficiently converted into a controlled discharge, no-hoist dump system for stockpiling. The L-3020's standard 30-inch-wide conveyor system virtually eliminates the material bridging that's common with narrower conveyor spreaders. The versatile L-3020 broadcasts ag-lime at rates up to six tons per acre and fertilizer at rates as low as 150 pounds per acre.

Other Available Features:

- Complete body in 304 or 409 stainless steel
- Mounts on vehicles equipped with highway, semi or full flotation tires
- An optional ladder that attaches to either the left-or right-hand-side of the unit
- Optional heat-and petroleum - resistant conveyor belting available for transport and application of hot asphalt.

EXPERIENCE

Put it to work for you.

Get your hay in ontime with the proven reliability and performance of MF 300 Series utility tractors.

Cool-running Perkins diesel engines deliver high torque at low engine rpm for efficient mowing, raking and baling.

Choose footstep or comfortable HiLine+ cab and 2WD or 4WD on most models. Add an MF loader to move bales. We've got what you need to make hay.

Stop in and let us show you why Massey Ferguson has been the world's best selling brand of tractors for 32 straight years.

With the ROLLANT 46 ROTO CUT, the incoming crop is sliced by the 14 serrated knives, spaced 2.75" apart across the width of the intake. The resulting sliced material can be compressed toa higher density and is much easier to feed out to livestock. CLASS ROLLANT round balers are a cost effective investment thanks to their output, reliability and ease of maintenance. Their versatility also helps to keep them in action for many months of the year.
